DEALING WITH HORSES

What to Do When Your Horses Are Broken-winded

Heaves and Its Symptoms.—Treatment Recommended.—There Are Two Species of Tapeworms.—Preventive Measures Suggested.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

The term Heaves or Broken-Wind, is applied to a condition affecting horses which is manifested by shortness of breath due to the air cells of the lungs becoming over-distended. It is caused in many cases by feeding horses dusty hay, particularly timothy and clover hay. Allowing horses to drink an excessive amount of water after feeding, and just before going to work, and also overloading the stomach with bulky food, always predisposes to the development of heaves; hence the condition is met with most frequently in horses which are greedy feeders. Over exertion when the stomach is full is always liable to produce heaves.

Horses which are affected with heaves usually keep the nostrils dilated or wide open, and have a hurried, wheezing breathing accompanied by a double lifting or pumping of the flanks which becomes intensified and more noticeable by exertion. The peculiar heaving of the flanks causes a ridge to appear along the lower end of the ribs, which is known as the "heave" line. Another symptom is the presence of a chronic cough, which is more pronounced after feeding or drinking. Broken-winded horses keep the anus relaxed and pass much flatus, or wind, at times.

The essential feature in the treatment of heaves is to alleviate the condition by careful dieting. By reducing the amount of hay or roughage, and feeding chiefly on grain and mashes and regulating the supply of water to the minimum, many badly broken-winded horses may be enabled to do ordinary work. Dusty hay of any kind should not be fed to broken-winded horses, as it will aggravate the symptoms, and to obviate such tendencies the hay should be dampened. The bowels should be kept regulated by feeding bran mashes, to which may be added a handful of glauber salts, or flax seed meal. Heaves is usually benefited also by giving from one to two tablespoons of Fowler's Solution of Arsenic in the food, or drinking water each morning and evening for a period of two weeks from time to time. In many cases broken-winded horses become more serviceable when moved from a damp, muggy climate to a dry one.—Department of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

TAPE WORMS.

How to Deal With These Pests When Attacking Horses.

Horses are frequently seen that give little response to liberal feeding and care, continuing unthrifty due to the presence of intestinal parasites, a point often overlooked in the care of animals.

Two Species of Tape Worms. Variable appetite, unthriftiness and poor condition, indigestion with periodic attacks of colic, are the common indications of the presence of cestodes, or tape worms. Two species of tape worm infest the intestines of the horse; one, the Tenia Plicata, ranges from six inches to thirty inches in length; the other, Tenia Perfoliata, is from one to two inches long. Both have comparatively large, four-sided heads in which are fashioned four round cup-shaped suckers. Their bodies consist of a number of overlapping segments. The tape worm segment, or joint, is a complete reproductive organization. When ripe, detached and expelled with the contents of the bowels it can be described as a small rectangular body containing eggs. After breakaway the eggs may be drifted or carried from place to place by various agents. Many perish, but a few are able to continue the species by being taken up in food or water by other animals, in the intestines of which, they go through their life cycle and provide for the carrying on of the next generation.

Preventive Measures Suggested. Preventive measures consist in providing clean fodder and water; the avoidance of low, damp pasture land and ponds contaminated by the droppings of horses. If tape worm is suspected and no qualified veterinary is available to administer treatment, the following dosage can be given: creolin, one-half ounce; oil of turpentine, one and a half ounces; and raw linseed oil, one pint; to be given at one dose as a drench, on an empty stomach. The treatment may be repeated at intervals of several days, if necessary. Clean fodder and clean drinking water are highly important in keeping live stock healthy and free from intestinal parasites. Drinking from filthy, shallow pools or ponds in which hogs wallow and cattle and horses wade is responsible for considerable trouble, and this trouble does not usually show up until late winter or early spring. A cement water trough, well supplied with clean, cold water, is the best insurance against tape worm in horses.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O. A. College, Guelph.

Have a Good Ram.

None of the domestic animals respond to skillful breeding and good care more readily than sheep. It is seldom that a man pays too much for a ram. If not a good judge of sheep, take a good sheepman with you and trust to his judgment, and don't be afraid to pay a good price. When through with the ram he can be more readily sold than a scrub, besides the increased value of two or three crops of lambs.

Problems of the Farm

CO-OPERATIVE SEED MARKETING

The Peel County Alfalfa Seed Producers Association have sold their entire crop of seed which was pooled last autumn. Over 4800 bushels realizing a sum of over $60,000.00 were handled. The seed was distributed in Canada, Holland, Denmark, Sweden, and New Zealand.

Grey County farmers are producing as good alfalfa seed as is grown in Peel County, yet nothing has been done to popularize Grey County Alfalfa Seed. Why not? In 1920, the Department of Agriculture, Markdale, drafted rules and regulations for a Grey County Sweet Clover Growers Association. The powers were enlarged to embrace any other seed produced. Yet nothing was done. Why not now consider the proposition so that before autumn the machinery necessary for a Co-operative Association will be in operation. Grey County farmers must boost their own products if they would realize the most out of them.

The following is a letter recently received from the Department of Chemistry. As it is self explanatory no comment is necessary except to request applications at the Department of Agriculture, Markdale, not later than August 1.

"You are no doubt aware that we have obtained exceptionally good results from lime phosphate experiments as laid down in eight Counties in 1922, and promises of equally good results in a similar number begun in 1923. With your co-operation we intend to go into the Counties of Perth, Waterloo, Huron, Bruce, Dufferin, Grey, Wellington, and North and South Simcoe.

We propose to have three half acre plots. To one of these we would apply ground limestone at the rate of not less than two tons per acre; to the second we apply limestone at the same rate, and acid phosphate 400 pounds per acre. The third will be a check plot. We do not know yet whether the fertilizer people wish to supply the complete fertilizer for comparison or not but this point can be settled later. This gives us an opportunity to observe and demonstrate the effect of phosphorus on the cereal, and the effect of both lime and phosphorus on the succeeding clover crop. We would like to have three of these experiments in your county. It would be well to have the plots along some main road, and upon soils that are characteristic of the county. It is also necessary to have a location where the man seeds his clover in the spring with the fall wheat. In this connection I would advise persuading a man to grow fall wheat for this purpose as was done in one case last year. If it be the custom to seed down with the spring crop we can arrange to supply the materials in the spring instead of in the fall but, at the same time, we prefer to keep all the work on wheat. If you desire to co-operate in those experiments will you please let me will make the season of 1924 as follows, health and weather permitting: MONDAY will leave his own stable. Lot 5, Con. 15, Proton, at 12 o'clock noon and proceed by way of Hopeville to the Grand Central Hotel, Dundalk, where he will remain until noon on Tuesday.

TUESDAY, will proceed along the Toronto and Sydenham Road to Fisherton for night.

WEDNESDAY, will proceed to Markdale for noon, where he will remain until Thursday morning.

THURSDAY will proceed by way of Town Line, Artemesia and Glenelg, to the Commercial Hotel, Priceville, for noon, thence along the Durham Road to the Hahn House Stables, Durham, where he will remain until Friday noon.

FRIDAY, proceeds south along the Provincial Highway to Varney; then East by way of Pollock's Corners to John Nelson's, on the 18th Con. Egmont, for night.

SATURDAY, proceeds by way of Dromore to his own stable for noon where he remains until the following Monday noon.

Old Koenig is bay in color and a grand big horse throughout. He stands 16 hands on best of legs and feet. He is a capital race horse, and won upwards of $18,000 during his racing career from 3 to 7 years of age, thus proving his soundness and stamina. There has been a great demand on the Jockey Club for suitable sires. The horse is given free, but a nominal fee of $10.00 is charged to cover expenses. The fee for Old Koenig has never been less than $50.

We are supplying all the acid phosphate ourselves, shipping direct from here to the farm so that there will be no opportunity for errors such as happened last year in Ontario County."

WRITIN' ON EXAMS

We're sympathizin' with you, girl and boy, in makin' up your summer plans, when first of all you've got to go and write upon your school exams.

The folks what make these papers up, to sift the wheat and leave the cull, they want to know just how much stuff is crammed beneath your little skull.

Of course, they'll tell you of a man who bought ten hundred little calves, and how they fed 'em sixteen days, worked out in quarters and in halves, and how they traded forty off, and sold the rest for rent and shoes, they'll ask you for to trace it out and tell if he would make or lose.

They're sure to ask of Chris Columbus, who got a boat and grub for two, and had to keep a-sailin' on because there wasn't else to do.

And of King John at Runnymede and of Napoleon and his wars, and perhaps about the motor cars, and why the sixes beat the fours.

And then you'll stop some time and think who fought the fight at Waterloo, and what it really has to do with little troubled folks like you.

No doubt they'll make you read a spell, some verses or two yards of prose, and when you do this thing, my child, get right up straight upon your toes, and sing it out, then soft and low, and show 'em that your little soul it knows how readin' ought to go.

You'll face a paper, too, what asks for all you know of English speech, and telling for to name ten nouns, and how to make good use of each—remember that there's lots of folks what's members of this human race, who wouldn't know a noun at all if it came lookin' in their face.

Ab, yes, it's trivin' times for you a-jumpin' over hurdles now, a-tig-

BACK ACHED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMabon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, net fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. I feel much better now and am not ashamed to say what it has done for me. I recommend it to any woman I think feels as I do."

—Mrs. J. R. McMABON, 163 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring sick, ailing women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. McMabon writes, as well as by one woman telling another. These women know, and are willing to tell others, what it did for them; therefore, it is surely worth your trial.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women."

Writin' out just how 'tis best to buy or sell a brindle cow. We're sympathizin' with you child, in drawin' charts and diagrams, we're heavin' up a little prayer while you are passin' them exams.

It is a hard world and the dainty shoes never seem to fit anything but the pedestals in the show window.

Given a fair chance any good man can hear money talking and make himself believe it is the call of duty.
