amongst all classes. For the best interests of the community he said that all should pull together.

Mayor Smith was the next speaker and after congratulating the Orangemen on the size of the gathering and the fine weather, extended a hearty welcome on behalf of the town. He spoke of the good work they had done in establishing six orphanages in Canada at a cost of millions of dollars. He also touched on the patriotism in giving of their best to take part in the great war, in which twelve thousand died on the field of battle.

Rev. W. H. Smith congratulated the Order on the big turnout in which everybody seemed to be interested and extended a welcome in the name of the church. He referred to the civil and religious strife out of which Orangeism was born. Germany was said to have learned lessons of war from the Jesuit Order and the extent of war to which they allowed the spirit of war to control their impulses led to their undoing. He thought it would be well for the Roman Catholics and the French to understand the aims and objects of Orangeism and advised a propaganda that would lead to a better understanding of each other, and provide for the teaching of civil and religious liberty. We should stand behind the Bible, support colporteurs and Bible societies. Churches and Lodges should start a propaganda to disseminate their views, and all might understand them and know their position.

The Mount Forest Pipe Band followed with a lively number and were forced to respond to an encore.

Rev. W. J. Burnett of Dromore was the next speaker and introduced himself by telling the subduing effects of the pipes. Like the other speakers, he tendered his congratulations and referred to his appreciation of the honor he felt in being asked to address so large and influential a body. He looked upon the 12th of July as a solemn, sacred and holy day, and not a day for riotous celebration. It reminded us of liberty and freedom and the responsibilities they bring as well as the dangers. The obligations of Orangeism taught them to maintain the Bible and to defend the state. The liberties embodied in the Magna Charta and the Bill of Rights culminated in the accession of William and Mary to the throne of England.

Rev. Mr. Taylor referred to the bonds and principles by which Orangemen were united. All men, he said, were created free intellectually and morally, but human progress would be impossible if all thought alike. All must be free to worship God according to their conscience.

Mr. William Clarke, ex-M.P., of Palmerston, an Orangeman since he was old enough to know what Orangemen were, made a brief address in which he advised all, both young men and women, to get into the Orange Order.

Mr. Henry Irvin of Arthur started his racy remarks by asking all to stand, and he led them in singing, "Gloria Britannia." He then started by telling them that the liquor traffic was our greatest enemy and advised all to support the temperance cause in the plebiscite to be taken, but for what reason he was at a loss.

GOSHEN MAN PLEASSED WITH WELL DRILLER'S SERVICES

The following testimonial from the "Goshen Line" correspondence in a Lambton County newspaper refers to Mr. Daniel Cook, well digger, who is now operating in Bentinck Township:

"Mr. Thomas Kestle is a very pleased man over the excellent well he had sunk on his farm by Mr. Daniel Cook of Exeter. This is the eighth well that has been sunk on the farm, two rock and six ordinary, but all failed to supply water, and it would seem that it was hopeless to try again. Mr. Cook undertook the matter of finding water and on going down thirty feet struck an excellent spring and now Mr. Kestle has abundance. It is no wonder Mr. Kestle is so loud in his praise of Mr. Cook's ability as a well-digger."

The prize for the best decorated car went to Mr. William Hewitt of town.

The day, taken as a whole, was one of the best seen in Durham in a long time and will long be remembered.

The concert in the rink in the evening was, we think, without any exception, the best ever heard from a local platform and the Brunswick Trio fully lived up to all expectations and then some. They are a clever, peppy company, keep things moving from the time they come on till their act is over, and the crowd was carried along for a full forty-five minutes for the first half of their program with one of the best vaudeville offerings ever presented here. The Brunswick Trio, however, are professionals, and real ones, at that, and when it is considered that they have just returned from an eight months' tour of the big vaudeville houses of the Western United States, during which they played two weeks in San Francisco and eight weeks in Los Angeles, the wonder is that the Red Cross ladies and the Orangemen could get them up to a place the size of Durham at all.

The play, "Squaring It With the Boss," was also pronounced as one of the best local hits seen here in a long time, and furnished a lot of good humor for the big crowd. The three comedy was under the direction of Mrs. Rev. Whalen, and besides the directress, Misses Adeline Graham and Esther McComb, Messrs. Horace Elvidge and William Benson, and Master Laddie Grant, took part.

The day, taken as a whole, was one of the best seen in Durham in a long time and will long be remembered.
