AN IMPORTANT VERDICT

Only in very rare cases do we aim at giving publicity to disputes that are entered for action and settled before being brought into public court.

The Oranegen's parade here was very orderly and was the subject of favorable comment by many. They had been invited here by the town judge, sanctioned by the town, welcomed by Mayor Smith on behalf of the town and also by Rev. W. H. Smith on behalf of the different churches.

We do not fancy for a moment that any insult was intended, but the driver of the car being engaged in collecting the mail from the local letter boxes had the idea that as a Government official and engaged in his Majesty's service he had a right to break through the procession.

The case developed the idea that a mail courier has no right on the public highway that is not accorded to any other driver. He must give way to other drivers the same as if he were not conveying the mail and is governed by the rules of the road just the same as other people.

THE OCTOBER PLEBISCITE

A plebiscite will be taken on the liquor question on the 23rd of October, but the nature of the questions to be voted on has not yet been announced.

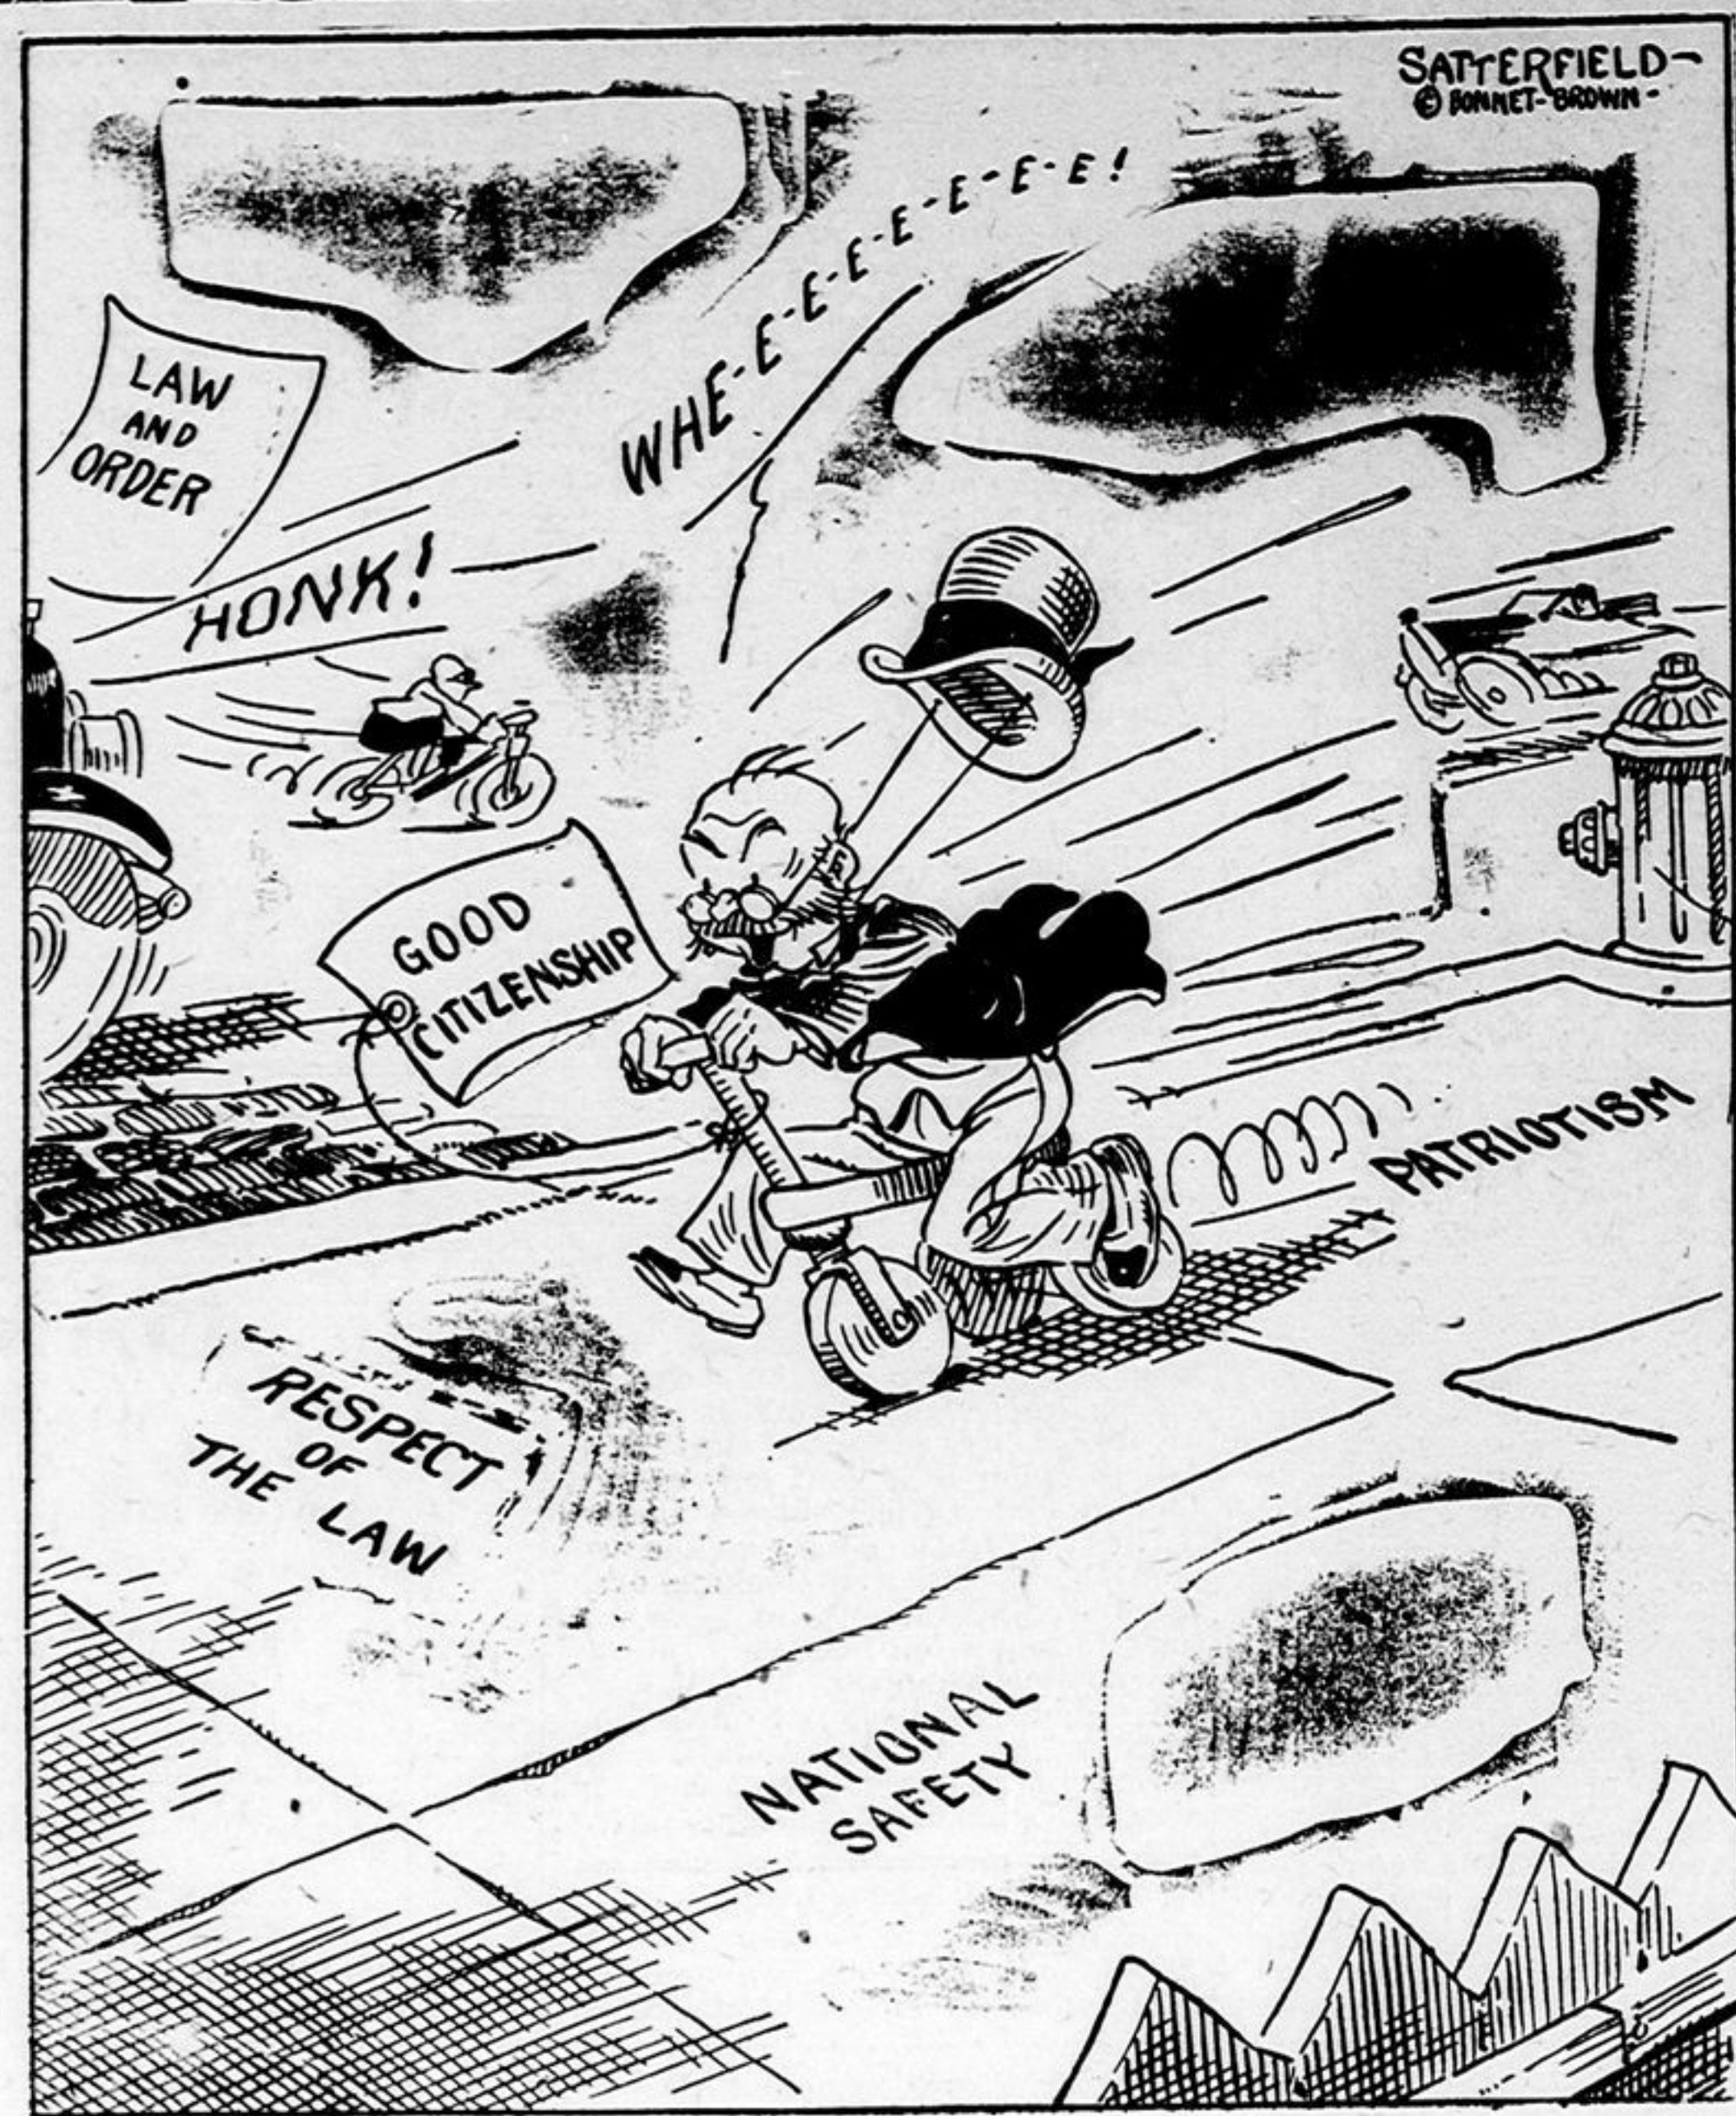

The voting day is only three months away and between now and then there will be a lining up of the forces on both sides. Much debating will be indulged in and it is also probable a great deal of newspaper space will be used by both sides.

To talk of regulating the liquor traffic by Government control or in any other way seems like a joke. The liquor traffic moves and never will be under complete control. Had the old license system been adhered to and not abused at every turn by those favored with a monopoly of the traffic, the temperance sentiment would never have assumed its present proportions.

THE EXAMINATIONS

We are in possession of information that there will be an awful slaughter amongst the candidates who wrote on the recent Departmental examinations, the papers of whom are now being examined.

DURHAM BEAT DRAYTON IN FIRST LEAGUE GAME

Only Small Crowd in Attendance Locals Won 17-12.

The first of the home and home-games for the district championship between the Durham and Drayton junior Central League teams was played on Thursday afternoon last and resulted in a win for the local nine, 17 to 12.

Though the visitors collected the most hits, they threw this advantage away by costly errors.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

To the Editor of The Chronicle:

Dear Sir.—Germany was said to have learned lessons of war from the Jesuit Order, is in summary how the Rev. W. H. Smith, as quoted in your issue of July 17, 1924, scored the time-honored, surefire hit at the 12th of July celebration in Durham.

Of course, the vilification of the Catholic Church is nothing new, but when it comes from the lips of men boasting a liberal education it makes one wonder if a theological or philosophical training tends to instill the broadmindedness it is generally supposed.

Reverting to the would-be subtle attempt of the Rev. Mr. Smith to connect the Catholic Church with the cause of Germany in the late war, I would like to draw his attention to the historical fact that Germany's methods were not Bavarian, but Prussian, that the then present-day German methods were those of a people steeped both in culture and tradition that were the direct heritage of Luther and his movement.

Perhaps it would have been as well to let the Rev. Mr. Smith's statement rest with his hearers. But when a pastor of a congregation makes an assertion that is public in utterance, it is not unfitting to correct him publicly.

Numbered in their ranks are some of Canada's heroes, men, real men, with courage that did not flinch at the torture stake, with a zeal and fervor unequalled in any annals of early Canada.

Let that spirit of goodwill and brotherhood that should prevail in Canada be furthered, not hindered, by the public utterance of our leaders, the pastors of souls, not by arousing rancour and hate in the hearts of their fellow men by restating old hackneyed charges that are palpably groundless.

BLACK MADE GOOD SHOWING AT OLYMPIC CONTESTS

Was Runner-up in Boxing Contests Last Week in France.

Local sportsmen have been following the performances of Leslie Black of Hespeler, in the squared circle at the Olympic games being held in France. He won on points against Murphy of Ireland on July 18 in the middleweight class, but was later put out of the running by Elliott of England.

Leslie Black and his opponent, Elliott of England, gave a fine exhibition of boxing in the opening round. The Englishman landed oftener, and the session ended in his favor.

Black began the final round well, but was not able to maintain his margin. Elliott rushed his opponent, driving him with his right and left, and forced Black to the ropes. The Toronto man got in a heavy blow to the jaw, but Elliott got the decision on points.

Black is a son of Dr. Black of Hespeler, and a brother of Miss Zeta Black, a former teacher in the public school here.

RENEWED SUBSCRIPTION

A renewal from Mr. W. R. Bone of Beardsley, Minn., is thankfully acknowledged. After congratulating us on our 71st birthday, he goes on to say the harvest is somewhat late, but on the whole a great deal better than last year.

Harvesters train leaving Station.

Cutting of all wheat is expected about a week, says a report of the Department of Agriculture, and wheat is looking very promising. It is also very encouraging, but just vest is expected to be will not be until representatives of the three provincial Governments and the two rail companies to discuss the labor saving means of securing a better crop there is. However, the crop report by the Agricultural Department and the Pacific Railway have been and this company is already gathering buting equipment to various points of a heavy movement of harvest wheat. The movement of harvesters has quite a department in railroad offices. As once the movement started through to completion as speedily as possible, the attention of men is concentrated for nearly a during and for some time after the bling equipment, the distribution of the country from whence the drawn, making up the special supplies for the lunch cars, and the one things which have to be looked to ensure smooth running and of which usually knows nothing and probably During the last four years the C.P. THE CHESLEY MEMORIAL

Chesley has decided on a monument to be erected in commemoration of her fallen soldiers before the first of July next year. The estimated cost is $11,500 and it will eclipse anything so far as we know in our smaller towns. It is of Gothic design. The bottom of the shaft is 16 feet square; the base of the shaft seven feet six inches square; the height thirty feet ten inches; and the figure of Justice seven feet high.

It will be a community contribution and stand as a remembrance of the young Canadians of Chesley and those of Eldersburg and soldiers who fell in the great War. The contract has been let to the McIntosh Granite Company of Toronto who have been successful competitors in War Memorials for the Imperial Graves Commission and for North Bay, Burlington, Brockville, St. Catharines, Walkerton, Paisley, Orangeville, Grand Valley, Shelburne, Meaford, Barrie, Hamilton, Stratford, Sault Ste. Marie, Gougenon, Port Dalhousie, Oshawa and other places.

Unlike the majority of Soldiers' Monuments it is not mounted by the popular figure of a soldier. It is to be built of Canadian grey granite with a fine hammered finish to the top. Following the artistic carving of Gothic architecture is an open canopy in which a light is to be installed that will burn through the darkness of the night. The lighting fixture is to be concealed in a circular bowl, carved with maple leaves, while the reflector, if adopted, will consist of a soldier's bronze helmet, on the front of the shaft will appear the figure of offended Justice grasping in her hands the symbolic sword and not wearing the traditional blindfold, but with open vision beholding the world's great wrong, and dropping the scales of justice and right. On the pedestal below will be a bronze tablet containing the words "Their Names Live! For Evermore".

PORT ELGIN'S OLD HOME WEEK

Decorations of graves at the cemetery in the afternoon and a community church service in the evening on Sunday next, July 29, opens Port Elgin's Old Home Week and Semi-centennial celebration. On Monday the biggest festive event in the history of the Lake Town will be formally opened with an address of welcome by the Reeve and short speeches by prominent speakers. The key of the town will then be thrown away and the stage set for five days and nights of solid fun and hilarity. Every day now, by rail and auto, the
