FISHING AND FISHING
(Flesherton Advance)

An week ago last Sunday an Owen Sound lady caught a monster salmon off Meaford harbor. The fish weighed twenty pounds and one ounce.

As it is illegal to fish on Sunday the Game and Fisheries Department should find no difficulty in making a conviction there. Probably the lady would even be willing to pay a handsome fine for the privilege of making such a record.

Up here in Artemesia the Department simply confiscates the ladies' poles when they are found walking along the highway in disputed territory.

[Is The Advance man somewhat under a delusion in his statement that Sunday fishing is illegal? So far as we can find, there is no regulation in the Game and Fisheries Act against fishing on the Sabbath. While the Lord's Day Alliance is authority for the statement that fishing on Sunday is illegal, we know of no instance when they have secured a conviction, though several cases have been before the courts in the past few years.—Editor Chronicle.]

(Our own correspondent.)
Rev. John Dickson of St. David's, formerly of this village, was in the village for a day last week and called on a number of friends.
Mrs. George McColl left last Friday for a few days in Toronto with her sister.
Mrs. R. Irvin and family are spending a week in Guelph and Ferguson with relatives.
W. J. Sharpe, wife and daughter, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Morrison, near Varney, on Sunday.
Mr. George Bye, butcher, has moved to Mrs. Hoy's shop. He has occupied Mr. Fenton's basement since opening up last spring.
Mr. Joseph Ellis, about three miles north of the village, keeps about 200 hives of bees. On Friday of last week Messrs. Robert Webber and William Ellis were assisting him in cutting a field of oats near where the bees are located. All of a sudden they were surrounded and attacked by thousands of bees. The men were badly stung, as were also the horses. Mr. Webber and Mr. Ellis were badly stung about the head and face. William Ellis fared better, with only a few stings. One of the horses was so badly injured that it died shortly afterward.

Max Brown of Detroit is spending a day or so in the village visiting the scenes of his childhood.
Messrs. Dan Eccles of Conn. and Adam Eccles of Galt, visited their mother here recently.

EIGHT THOUSAND HEARD MEIGHEN
hope for Canada, while Mr. MacNicol declared that the fine spirit of Conservative activity which he had found in and around Eugenia Falls was reflected all over the West. It pervaded the Dominion to the Pacific Coast, he declared, for the people were sick and tired of the results of the King Government maladministration which they found on every side of them.

Mr. Henry.
In presenting a general sketch of progress during the past year since the election of the Conservative Government in Ontario, Hon. George S. Henry, Ontario minister of public works and highways, pointed out that Hon. Howard Ferguson is a prime minister, who, contrary to his predecessor, is not afraid to assume the responsibility for the actions of all his ministers. Touching on the O.T.A. plebiscite, the speaker recalled that in his pre-election speeches the premier had promised a vote when the time seemed ripe and now that the time appears ripe the Government is ready to accept full responsibility. It will trust the people and it realizes that the people have confidence in themselves to express what they desire. The Government, he added, will carry out to the uttermost the views of the majority.

Hon. Mr. Henry pointed to Hon. Mr. Ferguson's personal interest in the affairs of the department of education. He is studying the problem with a view to extending greater assistance where it is most needed. He is also developing a farm for the correction of boys who have slipped, with the idea of giving them a chance to get back into more normal conditions and become better citizens. With that in view he is providing for an advisory committee from among the philanthropic organizations, and Mr. Henry was confident that the expense would justify itself.

Referring to his own department, the minister told of the cutting down of the staff on the highways, which has resulted in considerable saving. In the solicitor's end of the highway department, as he put it, one woman now does the work which was formerly carried on by eight legal gentlemen. Another economy was to be found in the fact that stone from the quarries is now being purchased at from 65 to 80 cents, where the former price was $1. There are many such economies which will be apparent when the next provincial budget is brought down.
