PROHIBIT IMPORTATION FROM EIGHT STATES

Department of Agriculture Takes Action on Account of Outbreak of Foot and Mouth Disease in Texas. Infection Said to Have Been Introduced From South America.

The importation of all animals from Texas and seven other middle-western and southern states has been forbidden by the Federal Department of Agriculture, owing to the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in Houston, Texas.

The states from which the importation is prohibited on account of this outbreak are:—Texas, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma and Indian Territory, Arkansas, Louisiana and Mississippi.

Information has been received by the Department of Agriculture that the outbreak had been confined by the United States authorities in Houston.

Indications are that the infection was introduced from South American countries, where the disease is prevalent, and it is believed that the Texas outbreak has no connection with the recent serious outbreak in California.

The Minister of Agriculture, on receipt of the advice, took immediate steps to prohibit the importation into Canada of "all live animals and poultry or parts thereof, all raw animals' products, manures and fodders that have within a period of two months prior to offer of entry, been in or through the state of Texas or any of the states contiguous."

Silver Lining

There had been a blow-out, and the father of the family was perspiring and profanely changing tires.

"I don't see why you have to talk that way," said his wife, reproachfully. "You act as if it were a total loss. You never see the good in things."

"Well, what good is there in this?"

"Why it tickled the baby so. He laughed right out loud when it went bang!"

FINDS $30, GETS 80c REWARD.

A true story of gratitude and its expression comes to light from the Fair Grounds at London. Last week a man well up in years, happened to find a purse with between $70 and $80 in it, and a gold watch. He took them to the office of the fair officials, who promised to keep them till the owner turned up. Later the old man returned to the office of the officials and was told that the owner had turned up and they gave him the man's name as he was an exhibitor. Later in the day both the men met in the office, and the man who had sustained the loss hastened to show his gratitude to the other chap. He pulled out a roll of bills, looked carefully through it and selected a $5 green-back. "I wonder if you could give me change for that," he said to the finder. The Londoner, however, had not the necessary change and watched while the first man tied up the roll with the $5 bill and pocketed it. At last he found a handful of loose change. He handed the finder the whole amount—it was 80 cents.

The Prince of Wales may be a nice visitor, but he'll never make a good American. He only stayed for three innings of a red hot ball game.—Buffalo Commercial.

HEAVY ROCK BLASTS ROCKED OWEN SOUND HOUSES

(Owen Sound Times)

There was no earthquake on Friday evening. While many of the citizens were enjoying their evening meal around 6.30 o'clock there was felt a jarring, and in some houses there was a slight rattling of the dishes, while in others it felt as though something had struck the side of the house. It was learned that several heavy blasts were set off in the Oliver-Rogers quarry at about that hour, and this was the cause of the disturbance.

The only thing like unto a summer resort at the end of the season is a cold fried egg.

When wood sheds were in vogue, youths of 16 seldom were bored by existence.
