It is an important amendment and makes it possible for congregations to begin at once active, aggressive work for the kingdom of God.

"In reply to another question, the non-democratic nature of the United Church was pointed out. The Presbyterian Church is thoroughly democratic with power in the hands of the people. In the United Church, all power and authority are in the General Council, an autocratic body, in the selection of which the window, on greenbouse they one of the comes during the lizard family. Although known. the people have comparatively little voice. In the United Church, power passes forever from the hands of the people.

"The United Church retains many familiar terms, but it was pointed out that the dangerous thing was that it gives these familiar terms a new content and meaning. Examples of this were in the words, "Session," "Presbytery" and "Call." None of these mean what they now mean to Presbyterians. In the Presbyterian Church, the Call lies at the very foundation. No man is orfrom the people. the church was absolutely refuted. The assembly was the creation of the church and therefore could not possibly destroy that which created it. The church is composed of the body of believers and the voice of the church can never be obtained without giving to the believers who compose the church, the opportunity to speak. This the Unionists have absolutely refused. This right was asked for in the 1923 assembly on motion of Judge McKay and Dr. Banks Nelson, but was voted down, It was asked for in the Assembly of 1924 but again voted down. In the latter part of 1923, a pamphlet was issued by the Union Bureau of Information giving ten reasons why there was no intention of giving the people another vote. In the light of the absurd claim that is now frequently made that the non-unionists never asked for another vote. this now makes very interesting
