King George received Ignace Jan Paderewski, the Polish pianist, at Buckingham Palace Thursday morning and conferred upon him the honor of Knight Grand Cross of the British Empire.

Count de Civy has started another attempt before the Paris courts to upset the will of the Duke of Brunswick who, dying in 1875, left a fortune then valued at 313,000,000 francs to the City of Geneva. The count claims to be the natural heir to the duke.

Charged with plotting against the lives of Leon Trotsky, M. Stalin and other Bolshevik leaders, three Germans, Dr. Karl Kindermann, Max von Ditmar and Theodore Voigt, have been placed on trial. When arrested nine months ago, they were described as German "commercial agents" and were charged with commercial espionage.

The postmen of Paris went on strike to back a demand for payment of wages in arrears. They were promised an increase of 1,800 francs by the Herriot Government, but received only 500 francs in 1924. The strike greatly inconvenienced Canadian and United States firms as Thursday was "ocean mail day."

The declaration of Rt. Hon. Austen Chamberlain, foreign secretary, that Great Britain would join with the other great powers in further limiting naval armaments or reducing land forces, and his intimation that the initiative for the naval conference should come from the United States, were regarded as the features of his statement in the House of Commons on Wednesday, during the debate on the security pact.

Representatives of the British railways and their employees in all branches of the service met in London to discuss proposals by the companies for a rigid economy campaign. The proposals include reduction of all emoluments to the salaries of the railway workers to the wages of the humblest workers. It is said that one plan to be submitted to the conference would, if adopted, entail a saving of £353,000 weekly under this head alone.

Alexis Bego, dean of French seafarers, was decorated with the Legion of Honor in time to wear the red ribbon in his button hole on his 100th birthday Sunday.

Despatches from Bagdad report a successful attack upon Julamerk, Kurdistan, by forces operating under a son of Abdul Kadir, a former senator who in May was sentenced to death by the Angora tribunal on a charge of conspiring to effect Kurdistan independence.

A group of German industrial magnates and financiers is reported to be coming to London this week to try to raise capital for their industries, which are said to be in difficulties owing to lack of money. The industries represented it is stated, are steel, electrical and motor.

Thirty-six more Chinese have been ordered expelled from France in connection with last Sunday's raid on the Chinese legation. Those desirous of returning to China will be repatriated at the expense of the Peking Government under an agreement with the Chinese minister.

The impoverishment of some of Great Britain's old nobility is again emphasized in the announcement that the Dowager Duchess of Rutland, whose husband died on May 8, is offering for sale the mansion in Arlington Street, which has been the town residence of the Dukes of Rutland for some 200 years.

Many lives were lost, property was damaged to the extent of millions of rubles, and a panic was caused among the populace of Eriwan, by a terrific cloudburst which descended from Mount Ararat, on Friday. Several rivers in the neighborhood overflowed, inundating the country and leaving thousands homeless. The British Cabinet is understood to have decided that it cannot grant the request of the British steel industry for a preferential duty in view of the many other industries involved. The shipbuilding industry for one has informed the Government that it would strongly oppose any proposal to place a duty on imported steel.

Bulgaria's determination speedily to crush Communism in this country is shown by verdicts recently returned by three courts-martial. Two provincial courts imposed twelve penalties and five prison sentences. A tribunal in Sofia sentenced 30 to various terms of imprisonment. The prosecution had asked that seventeen of these defendants be sentenced to death.

A bandit named Ganef and several of his men were killed, one was wounded, and another captured, when soldiers surrounded the band near the village of Sosunae, Bulgaria. Former King George and Queen Elizabeth of Greece have arrived in Paris for a two weeks' stay. They took a leisurely drive about Paris apparently undisturbed by the news of the revolution in Athens.

A necklace of 134 pearls valued by experts at 800,000 francs (about $336,000) was found in a street in Paris Thursday night and promptly handed in to the police by the finder. There has been no report of its loss. French law provides that the finder in such cases becomes the legal owner if the object is unclaimed for a year and a day.

The correspondent of the London Daily Mail at Sydney, New South Wales, says the visit of the United States fleet will provide Australians as well as the United States blue-jacks with the novelty of handling British gold coins. The men of one section of the fleet, the correspondent says, are bringing to Sydney $1,200,000 which the local authorities have agreed to change into 240,000 gold sovereigns, the bulk of which will doubtless be promptly circulated.

Edgar W. McInnis, Canadian Rhodes scholar from Prince Edward Island at Oxford University, has won the Newdigate prize for the best poem on Byron. Mr. McInnis came to Oxford from the University of Toronto, where he studied history and philosophy. He served in the Canadian artillery in France in the war. The Newdigate prize of 21 guineas for English verse, is open for competition each year to the undergraduates of Oxford University.

REGISTERED PEDIGREE POULTRY

Notable progress has been made in poultry raising in Canada in recent years, to which the laying contests held in every province in the Dominion have materially contributed. A greatly increased average throughout all the contests has been reached in a few years, which is direct evidence of a remarkable improvement in the breeding work behind hundreds of entries, representing thousands of matings, says W. T. Scott.

With the advent of registration for poultry, the standard was raised 150 to 200 two-ounce eggs as a minimum for qualification, and the bird must also conform closely to certain standard characters laid down for the breed.

The standard for the male is still more severe. He must be bred from a dam and grand dam that have each laid in a contest at least 200 two-ounce eggs and be free from standard disqualifications. To breed such a male is an achievement worthy of an official record, and a number of such males will be procurable this year, with authentic pedigree and tattooed with the breeders registered mark and carrying all the identification marks guaranteeing their breeding.

The number will be limited this year, but the supply will increase as the number of daughters of registered dams that qualify in the contest increases.

In breeding up to the excellent standard demanded in registered males, there is certain to be surplus stock of lesser lineage not qualified for registration. Many of

TWENTY YEARS AGO

From The Chronicle File of July 6, 1905.

We regret to learn of the accident that befell Mr. Duncan McLean of Aberdeen. While drawing out manure last Friday, a young team he was working took fright, ran away, and Mr. McLean fell forward on the tongue and subsequently to the ground when the wagon ran over him, crushing him severely.

We regret to learn of the death of Miss Bessie Clark of Varney who died on Monday night after an operation for acute appendicitis at the age of 15 years.

Mr. Harry Burnett had the misfortune to have a horse struck by a special train on Monday morning at the town line crossing and killed. The animal, with two others, got on the track in some manner.

We congratulate Miss Maggie Caton, who was married last week to Mr. William Bailey.

The Caledonian games on July 1 were a wonderful success, thousands journeying to Durham to take in the sports.

Top Cliff correspondence—Top Cliff is the name given to our new post office with Archie McCuaig as postmaster. This is a service of great convenience to many in this section. Commissioner Neil McCannell is improving from his late illness. He was unable to attend County Council meeting last week. Crops are beginning to look well, and with an occasional shower of rain, a good harvest is looked for. The hay crop will be fairly good and will be ready for cutting in a couple of weeks. We saw Randolph Konald, son of Professor Konald, Durham Road. It is 18 years since Mr. Konald left home. He is now a prosperous business man in Utah. John Eckhardt sold nearly $600 worth of hogs during the last six months. John is a firm believer in these are of good breeding, but not tested to the same extent as registered stock. These birds are available in large numbers from breeders of registered stock.

TWO AUTO ACCIDENTS ON SUNDAY EVENING

Sedan Crashes into Coupe, Sending It Over Embankment.

Caledon mountain was the scene of another automobile accident Sunday night. A large sedan, owned and driven by a Mr. Wray of Toronto, crashed into the rear of a coupe in which were T. C. Sine, manager of the Union Bank, Caledon, his wife and two-year-old child. Sine's car was catapulted over the embankment and landed upside down with the three occupants still in it. Sine climbed through a broken window and rescued his wife and child. All were badly shaken up, and Mrs. Sine sustained a fractured shoulder, injuries to her spine and several cuts and bruises.

While returning home from church Sunday night, John White, driving a horse and buggy, and accompanied by his daughter, Bessie, was run down on east Broadway by an automobile driven by Ernest Reid, Toronto. White and his daughter were thrown out of the buggy and severely bruised. The buggy was wrecked.—Orangeville Sun.

"OR IT TURNED WHITE IN A SINGLE NIGHT!"

"About a year ago," writes a correspondent of The Scotland Farmer (Glasgow), "a pure-bred black Leg-horn hen got suddenly scared at some unknown something and made a sudden dart into a culvert. Although a search was made at once, no signs of her could be seen. Several days passed, but she did not appear and was given up as possibly drowned. Eventually, after fourteen days, she came out, very thin and emaciated and hardly able to walk.

"The extraordinary thing was that when she came out, she was speckled all over with white feathers. She was bred from purebred black stock and had no white on her prior to her disappearance. How is the change to be accounted for? One hears of people turning gray in a night with fright. Can this be a similar case?"

"With care, the hen recovered and went unto full lay, but has gradually turned almost pure white, only a few black specks remaining."

Not an Old Top Mrs. Gold (motoring): "Did you hear that fellow call to you, 'Hello, old top?'"

Hubby: "Yes. What of it?" Mrs. G.: "Well, I wouldn't permit anyone to make a remark like that. Our car-top is brand new."

A SHORT WAVE

By R. M. SHE (Radio E...)

Now that the short wavelen developed, there is much popul menting that is being done. T obtained on these waves of 100 tonishing. Trans-Atlantic traf handled around a 30 meter wav five kilowatts of power, wher wavelenghts, it is necessary to

Broadcasting too, is being devel- roped on these wavelenghts. WGY All on broadcasts around 100 meters, and KDKA broadcasts regularly at about 68 meters, the same program that is being sent out on its regular wavelenght. In addition to these two stations, many of the regular broadcasting stations may be heard on their harmonics, or sub-multiples of their fundamental wavelenghts. Thus a station broadcasting at 360 meters is likely to radiate also at wavelenghts of 180, 120, 90, 72, 60 meters and so on down the scale. These harmonics are often quite strong and may easily be picked up by the short wave receiver. In Chicago, (Ill.), WBZ of Springfield, (Mass.), is often heard on its sixth harmonic, or on about 55 meters.

It is not necessary to use a special circuit to pick up these short waves, but it is necessary to use special care in the construction and arrangement of the parts. The Reinsartz and the Tickler Regenerative are both popular circuits for this work, and other circuits may be used.

See Illustration

RADIO QUESTIONS A

Mr. Sherrill will be glad to help problems. Write him, care of T...

W. J. B. says: "I am using a single tube, 3 coil spiderweb regenerative. How can I tell when I have the right number of turns on the secondary? I am using a 24 gauge wire, would No. 20 be better? The secondary is tuned by a 23 plate condenser. What tube will give the best results?"

Ans.—You can tell when you have enough turns on your secondary by the setting of your 23 plate condenser. Tune your receiver to the station with the highest wavelenght that you want to receive and note the position of your condenser plates. Remove turns from your secondary winding until you get this station best with the rotary plates

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of Macdonald College, to Victoria, B. C., and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year, on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the Dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Fort William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Bungalow Camp, near Devil's Gap, Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Port William to Port McNicoll thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on August 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325.00 from Toronto: transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow
