

Along the Banff-Windermere Highway

This is the Banff-Windermere Highway. It really needs no introduction for it is numbered among the most famous and most perfect Motor highways in the world. Above are the latest pictures of some of the country it passes through and some of the mountain goats one is sure to encounter just outside Banff.

Here is what the "Motor News" says about it: "This wonderful highway, wide and smooth and hard and level as any the old Romans or the modern Americans ever built, is in the Canadian Rockies. For 114 miles it twines its tortuous way through unbelievably magnificent mountain scenery, from Banff, the world-famous resort in Alberta, to Lake Windermere, in British Columbia, clinging to the brim of sheer precipices, cleaving through sheer canyons, skirting giant mountains, spanning giant rivers, overlooking giant valleys and affording the most soul-shaking views of rivers and valleys and mountains stretching away and away, ever so far, ever so deep, ever so high, for ever and ever, amen."

The mountains goats and sheep, incidentally, are quite tame and little groups of the mild-mannered creatures not infrequently make themselves at home in the middle of the roadway and gaze wonderingly at the Lord of Creation who wait impatiently in their cars for permission to pass.

KILLED BY TRAIN AT INGLEWOOD

John Hooper, Old Resident in Glenelg Township, Met Death Tuesday Morning When Struck by C.P.R. Train.

Word was received here Tuesday of the death that morning at Inglewood of Mr. John Hooper, who was struck by a C. P. R. train while crossing the track at his home at Inglewood and almost instantly killed. Mr. Hooper was 78 years of age and was a brother of Messrs. Abraham and Henry Hooper of Glenelg.

Mr. Hooper was born on the Atlantic Ocean and grew up to manhood on the old homestead in Glenelg, now occupied by his brother, Mr. Abraham Hooper. When a young man, he was at one time in the employ of the late David Jackson here, but has lived many years at Inglewood, where he farmed until he retired a few years ago.

No particulars other than the above have been obtained up to time of going to press. He leaves a widow and grown-up family.

Besides his immediate family, Mr. Hooper is survived by his two brothers in Glenelg, and one sister, also a resident of the same township.

The remains are being brought to Ceylon this Thursday noon, the funeral being held from the train to Ebenezer cemetery, Glenelg, the Rev. Mr. Sutherland having charge of the services.

We extend sympathy to the bereaved brothers and sisters and to the other members of the family residing in Glenelg.

GOOD VALUES IN BLANKETS

In his advertisement in this issue, Mr. C. L. Grant calls attention to his special sale of Flannelette Blankets, which he is offering at $2.50 per pair. Fifty pairs are being put on at this price. The blankets are all first quality and would ordinarily sell at a much higher price, so it is more than likely that there will be a stiff demand for this reasonable offering when the sale opens on Friday of this week.

At any rate, no one can accuse the premier of not taking plenty of looks before deciding to leap.—Border Cities Star.

Messrs. H. Sills, E. Baxter, Donald Watson and Clark Watson are attending the C. N. E.

Although there is still considerable harvesting to be done, the hum of the thrasher is to be heard on all sides. Newell brothers are operating in this neighborhood, while Messrs. Roy and Wilfrid Lawrence each have their outfits going to the south of us. Grain in general turning out well except where it is hit by the hail.

Mr. T. J. Moore left on Friday last for a trip through the West. We hope it may be a pleasant and profitable one. Mr. Robert Moore of Arkdale is looking after his farm during his absence.

Miss Pearl Watson is on an extended visit to the Queen City. Mr. and Mrs. H. Eckhardt made a trip to Mount Forest on Wednesday. Mr. and Mrs. John Hiley of Toronto are visiting relatives in the neighborhood at present.

On Tuesday of this week Messrs. Henry and Abraham Hooper received the sad intelligence that their brother, John, of Inglewood, had been killed in a railway accident today. The remains, we understand, are awaited here, when they will be entered in Ebenezer church cemetery. We extend our sympathy to the sorrowing relatives and friends.

DURHAM

AN UP-TO-DATE HOTEL

Board, fifty cents a square foot, meals extra; breakfast at five, dinner at six and supper at seven. Guests are requested not to speak to the dumb waiters. Those wishing to get up without being called can have self-rising flour for supper. Not responsible for diamonds, bicycles or other valuables kept under pillows. They should be deposited in the safe.

Bicycle playing cards kept for sale at the office, but country visitors are requested not to play any game more exciting than Old Maid after 7 p.m., as their noise might disturb the night clerk's slumber. Guests wishing to do a little driving will find hammer and nails in the closet. If the room gets too warm, open the window and see the fire escape. If you're fond of athletics, and like to see good jumping, lift the mattress and see the bed spring. Baseballists desiring a little practice will find a pitcher on the stand. If the lamp goes out, take a feather out of your pillow; that's light enough for anyone. If troubled with nightmare, you will find a halter on the bedpost. Don't worry about paying your bills, the house is supported by its foundation.

FRIENDLY ENEMIES

The Labor leader, J. H. Thomas, M.P., and his wife, have recently been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. David Lloyd George. The famous Welshman says: "Politically, we are bitter enemies, but we have been great friends for many years."

It is one of the features of British politics that however hard the politicians fight inside or outside the House, personalities are rarely introduced. Men who strenuously oppose each other's policies are bosom friends in public and private life elsewhere, and there is scarcely a leader in British politics today who has not in speech or printed page found occasion to pay personal tribute to his severest opponent. There seems to be needless personal bitterness in Canadian politics. One cannot imagine a leader of the Opposition getting up at a non-party meeting and saying what a really fine asset to the country the Prime Minister is; or vice versa. There is a hard relentless about our politics which does not make for reasonable solutions of our problems. Stratford Beacon-Herald.

THE UNLIGHTED BUGGY

The other night another accident occurred on the Lambeth highway through an auto running into an unlighted buggy, and four people were thrown into the ditch. The menace of the unlighted buggy has been condemned in these columns before, but the buggy users seem utterly indifferent to this elementary step for their own safety.

Conditions on the road have changed since only buggy overtook buggy, but the mentality has not. In the case under notice, the bright lights of an approaching car blinded the auto driver, and he could not see the buggy. Had the latter carried a tail light, the auto driver would have had previous warning of its presence and taken precautions accordingly.—Stratford Beacon-Herald.

CAMP MUSINGS — LIGHTER VEIN

(72 hours under wet canvas)
"I am a monarch of all I survey," My word there's no wife to dispute; My linen unlaundered, my tinsure unempt, I am nearly half famished to boot.

Auto camping, see not one charm Claimed by those on camp-motoring bent; Better milk twenty cows on the farm Than sleep in a soaking wet tent.

To sleep on a heap of green boughs, In the morning, feel stiff as a stick. As for me, if I had my choice, I'd just as soon bunk with old Nick.

To fish the last crumb from the hamper, To pile on the fire soggy wood, And drying your duds, facing backward, Does not gender an angelic mood.

All troubles with that carburetor. And more with an electric wet coil, One broken spring and bent axle, Would it not make your blood fairly boil?

With Lizzie deep mired in a bog-hole, And of help you beg in despair, You are apt to give vent to some cuss words, And if not a real saint, apt to swear.

Let who will enjoy auto touring, And long on its ecstasies dwell, As for me, I shall henceforth eschew it.

As a foretaste on earth of real—well, Let me close with this homely polemic, Pleasure sought for its own sake is pain.

If I rally from this dissipation I shall never go camping again.

One thing, you may bet your last copper, If I ever get back again home They will find me more easy to manage, And more docile beneath my own dome.

Beware of all far-off enchantment, A mirage often proving a cheat, We adore things beyond the horizon But ignore the sweet flowers at our feet.

By nature we are dualistic, (And who knows but it may be as well) To appreciate aright the Elysium, Of Inferno, we must have a spell. —P. A. McEachern.

FLOWER EXHIBIT WAS EXCELLENT

Horticultural Exhibit in Middaugh House Block Last Wednesday Night Was Good Despite Weather.

Though the rainy weather on Wednesday night of last week doubtless kept many exhibitors at home, the selection of flowers on display at the Horticultural Flower exhibit was good, and many complimentary remarks were heard on every side on the excellence and quality of the flowers displayed. Amongst those on display deserving of special mention were:

Antirrhinum—Miss Effie Hunter and Mrs. S. Patterson.
Asters—Mrs. Young, Mrs. Morlock, Miss M. Hunter, Mrs. J. H. Hunter.
Dahlias—Dr. Pickering, G. Shier, W. G. Firth.
Hollyhocks (double)—Mrs. J. H. Hunter, G. Shier, Mrs. T. Young.
Phlox—Mrs. G. McKechnie, Mrs. J. S. McIlraith.
Sweat Peas—Miss E. Hunter.
Stocks—Mrs. J. H. Hunter.
Sunflowers (red)—Mrs. T. Allan.
Zinnias—W. G. Firth, W. J. Ritchie, Miss E. Hunter.

Other cut flowers noticed were cosmos, gaillardias, helianthus, larkspur, marigolds, rudbeckia. In potted plants—Hydrangea, Mrs. Morrison and Mrs. McIlraith; Gloxina, Mrs. Henderson and Mrs. T. E. Brown; Tuberosus Begonia, Mrs. McIlraith and Mrs. P. Lawrence. Collection potted plants, Mrs. T. E. Brown and Mrs. McIlraith.
