LIUT.-COL. RUTHERFORD O. C. GREY REGIMENT

Has Been Member of the Regiment From a Private Up—Rendered Great Service as Officer of the 4th C. M. R. Overseas.

Important changes among the officers of the Grey Regiment are announced in the daily orders under date of September 1, Military District, No. 2, Toronto. The most important announcement is in connection with the command of the Regiment, the order reading as follows: To be Lieutenant-Colonel and to command the Regiment, Major Thomas J. Rutherford, vice Lieut.-Col. H. E. Pembroke, who is appointed to command the 2nd Reserve Battalion. The appointment dates from the 4th of June, 1925.

The orders also contain the appointment of Captain H. I. Price as Major in the Grey Regiment, being promoted from Captain. It is not improbable that there will be other promotions in the near future.

The promotion of Col. Rutherford will be a popular one throughout the whole county of Grey, as perhaps there are few military men who are better or more favorably known than he, and his hosts of friends will extend to him their hearty congratulations on this recognition of his ability and services.

He comes from the ranks and has earned his laurels. He first enlisted as a private, was later promoted to sergeant and after taking a qualifying course, was given his commission as a lieutenant. This was previous to the outbreak of the war. When the call came for men in the early stages of the war, he was one of those to respond and enlisted in the 147th Grey County Battalion, with which unit he went overseas.

He went to France as a lieutenant in the 4th Canadian Mounted Rifles, and it was while he was a member of this famous unit that he rendered distinguished services to his country. He was promoted to a captain on the field, and served until the termination of the war in that capacity. He was mentioned in despatches in connection with his work as a patrol officer in land, and it was while engaged in this kind of warfare that he was at his best and rendered most valuable service.

When the Grey Regiment was reorganized in 1920, he was appointed as a major and has acted in that capacity up to the time of his appointment as commander of the regiment. Under his able guidance, the high esteem in which it is now held by the officers of Grey county. Colonel Rutherford is not only a military man, but he has also aspired to political honor, and at the last Federal election, was the candidate of the Progressive Party, and polled a very strong vote. He is Registrar for Owen Sound and Clerk of the Court for Grey County.

Major Harry Price is also well known in Owen Sound and Grey County. He was here in the days of the D.S.C.R. and took an active part in the affairs of the Grey Regiment. He was also for a time at the Speedwell Military Hospital, Guelph, and is at the present time, a member of the Ontario Athletic Commission. He is in the coal business in Toronto.

LAYS BRICKS—TWO A SECOND

More than two bricks a second is the record of James G. Brown, Oneida Indian Bricklayer working on the Kansas City-Olathe, Kansas, Highway. Brown's speed was determined in official tests.

On the first test, Brown laid a strip four bricks wide, 84 bricks in all, in 36 seconds, considerably more than two a second. He then laid 987 bricks, at an average of two a second.

In eight and a half hours, the Indian placed 1187 feet of roadway, 73,815 bricks. This is more than two a second. He receives $2 an hour, compared with a maximum of $1 paid other bricklayers.

ACCIDENT NEARLY FATAL

Councillor Robert Bowman of Brussels narrowly escaped death last Thursday when as he was working in the flume at the chopping mill, a large crowbar fell from about 13 feet overhead, the point just missing his body, but striking his foot. The point went almost through the foot just back of the toes, a couple of bones being badly smashed and the joints laid bare. Several stitches were required to close the wound which was very painful.—Clifford Express.

"ZEBRUGGE" EXACTLY AS PRESENTED TO THE KING AND QUEEN

All heroes—"Zebbrugge" is, simply and in three words, a great film. The producers have splendidly refused to introduce drama; yet it is intensely inherently dramatic.

There is no handsome "naval officer" striking heroic attitudes; no round-eyed heroine. There is no sob stuff—except a sob of pride in the glory of it all.

The printed page can never give complete comprehension of what the bottling up of Zebbrugge meant. The all-seeing eye of the moving picture camera explains it all—reveals it all.

The glorious "mutiny"—First there are scenes of the havoc wrought by the German submarine pirates (actual films of the events captured during the war from a German submarine).

You should have heard the excited burst of applause on the first night at the Marble Arch Pavilion when the British destroyers dash to the scene of a torpedoing.

Then we see the planning and preparing for the attempt to bottle the pirates in their lair, the assembling of the ships, the setting out, that glorious "Mutiny," the disappearance of the surplus crews when the time came for them to return and "Miss the show," the laying of the smoke screen by the C.M.B.S. and then the assault.

More gripping than a drama—What follows is a series of scenes that will grip British audiences as no drama has ever done. You see the old Vindictive run herself against the mole, and the masses of waiting men swarm up the "brows" and down the ladders; you see the C-3 blow herself up under the Mole bridge, and finally the actual entry and sinking of the blockships in the Canal.

The order to withdraw is given, and the last you see is the fleet disappearing, its work accomplished and a white ensign fluttering in the distance, while the faint outline of Nelson pervades the screen.

"Zebbrugge" is a purifying bath of distilled patriotism, and all who experience it will be the better and stronger for it.

The film is being shown at the Veterans' Star Theater September 17, 18 and 19.

SOUNDS FISHY BUT MAY BE TRUE

In drilling for oil in Scurry County, Texas, a stream of cold air came up under pressure along with non-inflammable gas. Analysis showed the product to be 93 per cent nitrogen and commercially valueless. Inventive men in the vicinity were called in to evolve a method of utilizing the flow, which is estimated to be between 4,000,000 and 6,000,000 cubic feet daily, forced by a rock pressure of 250 pounds. Interesting and satisfactory results have been obtained in a number of experiments.

It was found that when the gas was turned into an ordinary steam boiler, the pressure was sufficient to operate the engine used in drilling adjacent wells, the power produced being even greater than that obtained with steam. As a safety measure, the boiler has been placed underground, with only the pressure gauge protruding.

A line from the cold air well also was run to the nearby shallow well which was producing a small quantity of oil on the pump. Connecting the air with a head-control device, the pressure was sent down the casing through a small pipe, and the well is now pumping itself.

Still another portion of the air is being run through a turbine which operates a generator supplying all the electricity needed on the lease. Laborers on the lease, in their idle moments, provide ice water for themselves and fellow workers by holding small cans of water in currents of the air escaping at joints in the pipes. If the current is sufficiently large, the water will freeze in a short time. Watermelons also are being chilled in the same manner.

THE UNTIDY PICNICER

The owner of a famous beauty spot in Surrey, England, which contains the site of Caesar's camp before he moved across the Thames to attack the Britons, has closed 1,200 acres to the public because the public has turned the ground into a garbage dump. Picnic parties by the hundred used the place every day; they lighted fires and neglected to put them out, and left behind them a litter of paper and remnants of feasts which became an eyesore and an expensive matter to clean up. Only the other week, the King, in opening a historic forest to the public "forever," made a personal appeal to picnickers to keep the place free of litter.

The untidy picniker seems to be a universal nuisance. People have unrivaled facilities nowadays for visiting beauty spots in their cars, and many of them, who are quite clean and tidy in their own homes, seem to think that having seen what is to be seen, they can eat and leave their debris lying about because it will be a long time before they go back, and they trust to wind and weather to remove the traces of their untidiness. It is not the one but the many that make our beauty places unsightly, and it is really deplorable in these enlightened days that so many "nice" people can behave like aboriginals when in the country. If there is no garbage receptacle handy, which it is not likely in unfrequented places, there should be no trouble about stuffing the debris in a bag until a convenient and
