The new order of service which gives Ebenezer the first and third Sunday of each month for the evening was started last Sunday evening, and considering the weather, was very encouraging to all concerned. This order cuts out evening service in the United church in Priceville for the Sunday evenings mentioned and will be effective for the summer or fall months only, we understand.

Sunday used to be regarded as a day of rest. The careless motorist is rapidly making it a day of arrest.—Chatham News.

SCOTCH DOUBLES DREW GOOD CROWD

Local Bowling Club's Fall Tournament Last Thursday Was Most Successful Event.

Though only 24 rinks competed in the Scotch Doubles tournament held here last Thursday under the auspices of Durham Bowling Club, a most pleasant day was spent in which everyone enjoyed himself and better still, the winner was declared a goodly number of hours earlier than had the entry been larger. No doubt the holiday and the fact that many were in attendance at the Toronto Exhibition had an effect on the attendance, but even with that there were plenty of entries to ensure a good day's bowling for all. In the first event, W. Cross of Hanover won out, defeating J. H. Hunter of Durham in the finals. The Association went to L. Schilling of Hanover with W. S. Hunter, Durham, second. The prizes for these events were club bags. The special event went to an Arthur rink, the prize being boxes of cigars. Following is the score:

NELSON FAMILY PICNIC HELD AT BRAMPTON

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McLellan of Town Attended Picnic of Latter's Family at Eldorado Park.

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. McLellan returned from Brampton vicinity last week where they spent a few days visiting with Mrs. McLellan's family and other friends. Among those visited were, Mr. and Mrs. George Finney at Acton, the latter a sister of Mr. McLellan, and both well and favorably known in Durham and Glenside.

The picnic, held at Eldorado Park, Brampton, on Saturday, the 29th ult., was a big one and is reported in a dispatch from Brampton as follows: One hundred members of the Nelson family gathered at Eldorado Park, Saturday afternoon, August 29, to celebrate the centenary of the family coming to America. Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson came from Belfast to New York, where their oldest son, James, was born, but they joined the band of United Empire Loyalists, came to Canada, and settled on Lot 33, 2nd east, Chingacousy. Here their sons, William and Robert, and their daughters, Jane, Mary and Bella, were born. In giving the history of the early days in the country, William Beatty told of his grandfather fighting off a bear to get back the pig which the bear had taken, and also of the family attending prayer in a log house, the wolves snapping at their heels as they entered. The sons, Robert, William and James were all elders of Claude Presbyterian church, as they reached man's estate. R. J. Nelson was in the chair, and addresses were given by James Martin, J. Orr Little, James Gibson, William Beatty and George Beatty.

After a program of sports, supper was served, and the following officers elected: President, W. A. Nelson; Secretary, William Beatty; Committee, Alexander McFarland, Mrs. Jas. Martin, Miss Ethel Beatty, Newmarket, Port Elgin, Durham, Toronto, Mono Road, Brampton, Caledon and Orangeville were all represented, and greetings from members of the family at Winnipeg and Gravenhurst were read.

JAIL SPEED MANIACS

Leniency in dealing with habitual offenders against the speed restrictions and other safety provisions of the motor vehicle laws is obviously a mistaken policy when its fruits are seen in the week-end record of casualties in or near Montreal. A driver ignoring the regulations that motors must not pass a standing tramcar struck and instantly killed an elderly police constable who had just alighted. Another driver, who earlier in the day had had a mishap endangering members of his family, went into the ditch while racing a train, killed himself and a companion, and seriously injured two other occupants of the car. In this case, the coroner's jury, in returning a verdict of accidental death, fell short of its plain duty when it failed to add that the accident was due to criminal recklessness. A third driver in the city, after inflicting fatal injuries upon a pedestrian, drove away and was traced with difficulty by the police. The time to deal with these gentry is not when they are only potential and not actual slayers of their fellow-citizens.

Prison without the option of a fine, and cancellation of the privilege of driving a car, should be penalties possible of infliction, and the discretion of a magistrate, where the circumstances of a first or second conviction indicate criminally reckless proclivities on the part of a driver, and if the law as it stands at present does not permit such a rigorous punishment, it should be amended at the first opportunity. Murderous-minded owners or operators of automobiles regard a fine as a joke and as a virtual license to repeat their insane exploits until a life is sacrificed to their mad lust for speed.—Montreal Gazette.

THE RIGHT-OF-WAY

Numerous recent motor accidents have brought to light the fact that there is a great confusion in the minds of the travelling public as to the right-of-way. The Highway Traffic Act of Ontario clearly states as the first "rule of the road:" "Where two persons in charge of vehicles or on horseback approach a crossroad or intersection at the same time, the person to the right shall have the right-of-way." Judicial decisions, however, have been to the effect that having the right-of-way affords no justification for careless driving.

Better a roadside tent and privacy than a swell summer cottage and all your relatives.
