The official discount rate for the Bank of France was reduced Thursday from 6 to 5 per cent.

Paul Dutasta, veteran French diplomat and general secretary of the peace conference in 1919, is dead aged fifty-two.

Old-fashioned Turks who do not want to be westernized are fighting and even dying for their fezzes, which the government has ordered to be replaced by modern hats.

Christe Meirovitz, widow of the Latin Foreign Minister who was recently killed in an automobile accident, was found dead Thursday morning in Riga. She is believed to have taken her own life.

The Mexican Government has given notice to Berlin of cancellation of the German-Mexican trade treaty of 1882, expiring next October. Mexico declares her readiness to enter immediately into negotiations for a new treaty.

The Norwegian Storting, which is authorized to award the Nobel Peace Prize, has decided that there would be no award of this prize for 1925. The Storting also decided to give no peace prize for 1924 when it was held over.

With the League of Nations Council about to name a committee of experts to prepare for an international economic conference, extraordinary interest has been created in Geneva by what is tantamount to a warning by the International Labor Bureau that the time has come to write the statutes for a world economic system.

The League of Nations Commission, which inquired into the recent Greco-Bulgarian frontier incident, finds that Greece should pay Bulgaria 20,000,000 leva for damages, (about $14,000). The commission decided to recommend to the League Council that Greece should pay Bulgaria an additional 6,000,000 leva, (about $15,000) for loss of lives.

It is announced in London that J. St. Loe Strachey has disposed of the control of The Spectator, a weekly review, to J. Evelyn Wrench and his father, Rt. Hon. Frederick Wrench. J. B. Atkins, assistant editor of The Spectator, has been appointed editor of the paper. It is stated that there will be no change in the policy of The Spectator, which will continue its independent outlook.

The German Cabinet, headed by Chancellor Luther, resigned on Saturday.

Bracelets are replacing sleeves and gloves. The bracelets are being worn right up the forearm to the elbow by women in evening dress.

Variegated colors to replace the universal black for men's umbrellas are being urged in London. The idea is to make London brighter during the dreary, rainy months of winter.

Following the lead of Roumania, Bulgaria and other Balkan countries Turkey will probably soon adopt the Christian era and the Gregorian calendar as mediums for measuring time.

Sausage muffs, long and round, have made their appearance in large numbers in the fashionable streets of London. Many of them are made of the same cloth as the costume and are banded at the ends with fur.

Emonn De Valera, the Irish Republican leader, in a statement on Saturday, scored the boundary agreement reached in London, but declared it would be respected "if submitted to an assembly of representatives elected by the Irish People."

The people of Gastamoni, a Turkish vilayet in the Black Sea region, have started a movement to make Mustapha Kemal Pasha president of the Turkish republic for life. They declare he "has liberated the country from 600 years' oppression, has destroyed our enemies and proved the right of the Turkish people to live."

More will be heard about the secret session of the British House of Commons on Thursday in connection with a notice of motion given by Sir William Roegnach, Conservative M. P., in which he raised a question of breach of privilege on the part of John Beckett, Labor member for Gateshead, who is said to have given a newspaper a two-column report of the secret debate on the tariff.

The subject of Imperial relations, which has been a prominent topic of political discussion since the ratification of the Locarno treaty, was considered at an informal conference in London between a committee of the Empire Parliamentary association and visiting Parliamentarians from Newfoundland and other Dominions. The suggestion that the Dominion High Commissioner should be accredited to the Foreign Office in a diplomatic capacity was deprecated as tending to relieve the Governor-General of each of the Dominions of the duty of being a diplomatic intermediary.

Hospital for Sick Children

67 College St., Toronto, 2, Ont.

Dear Mr. Editor:— Christmas, 1925.

This is the fiftieth year—the semi-centennial of the Hospital for Sick Children. It is the Golden Anniversary of an institution which started out in 1875 with a six-bed equipment to cure children medically of their illnesses and to rid them surgically of their disabilities. Fifty years have passed and the tiny hospital has grown into one of the greatest institutions of its kind in the whole world.

The people of this province demanded this service—and they have made it possible by their Christmas Time gifts. They are rewarded by the knowledge that thousands of Ontario children will grow up into manhood or womanhood blessing the "little blue coats" wherein they were restored and strengthened to play a full part in the battle of life.

To win back health for six thousand boys and girls was the measure of the Hospital's ward-service alone this year. Besides that there were over half a hundred thousand attendances in the Out-Patient Department, where the less serious cases are treated. All this costs a great deal of money, even though the doctors give freely of their skill and the nurses of their care. There is board and lodging and laundry to be provided, besides the best that can be procured in the way of all the medical and surgical supplies required to treat the myriad ailments and accidents to which children are subject.

In order to maintain its high standard of efficiency and also to widen the scope of its service through clinics conducted all over Ontario, the Hospital is compelled to borrow heavily during the year. On the occasion of its fiftieth Christmas an appeal is made to the public for the funds which will allow the Hospital for Sick Children to enter upon its second half-century of service with its courage renewed by a credit balance in the bank.

It is indeed a noble cause which I feel sure you will cordially commend to your readers.

Faithfully yours, IRVING E. ROBERTSON, Chairman Appeal Committee

Note—This Hospital does not receive an appropriation from the Federation for Community Service Drive.

THE LAW'S LONG ARM

Rev. R. Purdue, who as Inspector of the Bruce County Children's Aid Society, has been seeking Frank Fisher for the past three years on the ground of deserting his wife and family of young children at Kinardine, received a phone call from Ottawa on Tuesday that the wanted man had been arrested in Texas and would be deported by the United States authorities at a stated point on the Canadian border. The matter has been placed in Crown Attorney Freeborn's hands, and Provincial Constable Bone of town will doubtless be on the spot to receive the accused husband and father when he is dumped out of Uncle Sam's domain into the bosom of the Canadian authorities. A trip to the Walkerton jail and a trial for the alleged offence will follow in the happy order of sequence.—Bruce Herald and Times.

Too Much Hockey Ruined Donald's Health

It is often said that tears are just a step removed from joy. Poor Donald knows that. At the age of 16 he was attending high school, playing on a hockey team, going to parties and doing all the things that a red-blooded youth will do. When joy was at its height gloom made its appearance in the shape of consumption. There was nothing to do, the doctor said, but drop everything and go to the Muskoka Hospital for a thorough rest and skilful, constant treatment. Donald has now forgotten his resentment at fate in his happiness over the news that he is soon to be sent home—better! Contributions may be sent to Hon. W. A. Charlton, President, 223 College Street, Toronto 2, Ontario.

Libelling Canada

(Arthur Heming)

The fact that the Hudson's Bay Company has taken action against James Oliver Curwood and other authors and publishers guilty of circulating printed matter of a libellous nature is interesting news to me, for I have been wondering for over a quarter of a century what could be done to stop the vilest kind of lies about our country, from being broadcasted far and wide. Yet during all those years, I have never once been aware of the Dominion Government raising a tongue, a pen, or a telegraph key to stop it; and while censorship is sometimes a very dangerous thing, it seems to me, a far greater effort should be made to spread the truth about this country throughout the world. And why not begin at home.

Take for instance, the great annual crop of hardy perennials, such as Indians, mail-carriers, fur-trappers, pioneers, lumber-jacks and settlers who are harvested every fall by tremendous packs of giant wolves, and without even being sorted out according to their various perfumes, are ruthlessly devoured upon the very spot where found, and nothing left of them—not even a single carpel, or petal, for the benevolent ones at home to remember them by. And the worst of it is that the tommyrot is circulated throughout the whole English-speaking world. For you may read it in the press of England, the United States, South Africa and Australia, a few weeks after some of our papers have announced the open season for unrestricted hunting and devouring of perfectly good Canadians by multitudinous packs of gigantic wolves.

Think of the impression such perfectly ridiculous drivel makes upon the British farmer who has contemplated migrating to Canada. Would he believe it? Of course he would! For did he not read it in the great London Times, and moreover, was it not copied from one of Canada's leading journals? And after that, would the British be fool enough to risk his wife, his children and his stock—to say nothing of his mother-in-law—in such a wolf-ridden region? Certainly not! So he stays at home, or migrates to some other country. Then the same Canadian papers that have the habit of publishing such bally rot, have also the habit of harping about loyalty to Canada.

But the blood curdling wolf howls and bear growls that annually swell the columns of some of our press, is as nothing compared with the harm done this Dominion by those feverish, two-gun authors, born, bred and reared in the world's greatest incubator of crime, and whose only experience with wilderness life has been an occasional encounter with a wild golf links, and whose daily urge to earn a few pennies has driven them to write stories about Canada; and not knowing anything about our country, have in their weird imaginations peopled our wilderness with every scum of their own cesspool. Thus it is time something was done to give each of those wild and woolly authors the wallop they deserve.

But there is still another tidal wave, one of infinitely greater harm that should be prevented from entering this country, and that is that great flood of poisonous slime that is constantly flowing through the lowest type of American magazines and threatening to drown the youth of Canada. Yes, something should be done, and done at once, to stop that great stinking tidal wave of filth from inundating this country.

NO TIME EXTENSION

A small miss who had but recently mastered her catechism, confessed her disappointment with it thus: "Now, I obey them (the commandment and honor my papa and mamma, yet my days are not a bit longer in the land, for I'm put to bed every night at seven o'clock just the same."—Duluth Churchman.

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING CHEAPEST AND BEST

If one wanted any better evidence of the fact that newspaper advertising is the best medium of reaching the buying public, all you had to do was observe conditions in the Dunville post office last week. There passed through the mail a printed hand-bill issued by a Dunville business firm, and the desks and floors were littered with at least fifty copies of the bill tossed aside by box-holders, as they were received with the mail. The buying for the home is done in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred by the housewife. The men get the mail and are not interested in circulars, because they consign circulars to the waste basket every day, and they are all classified alike—circulars boasting gold and silver mines, oil wells, etc. and other propositions that are all the "bunk." In contrast, the weekly paper goes out through the mails and into the home, where its news service ensures its preservation until all the members of the family have read it through—ads. and all. The coming of the Home Paper is the event of the week in every home and when the roads are more welcome, as a communicating link between the town and countryside on the one hand, and the home on the other. The newspaper is read in leisure and comfort, and the business man's message gets the attention it merits, while circulars often get scant courtesy, and in a large number of cases, fail for various reasons to reach the hands for whom they are intended.—Dunville Chronicle.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

One can mince a pound of suet in a few minutes if the following method is adopted: Pick all the suet from the skin, then sprinkle with flour on a baking board and roll flat. Lift the flattened piece of suet and rub it between floured hands, and it will break down into powder. If furs get wet, hang them in a cool room and let them dry naturally. Don't brush them, but shake them out next morning after they are dry. Hang them free from anything. When shaking neckpieces, hold the head down on a table and shake the rest on the fur. Then rub the hand up and down the fur to make the hair stand up.

Use a little glycerine to lighten the task of cleaning your shoes. Brush them well and rub the glycerine into the leather with a sponge or a piece of soft rag. When they are nearly dry, brush with a soft cloth. It will give an excellent polish, and they will keep their polish for three or four days, if you give them an occasional brush. They will also keep a good color, and be soft and comfortable. No blacking is required. Mix your cold starch with warm, soapy water, and it will never bother you by sticking.

WORTH DOING WELL

You cannot make a greater mistake than to let yourself feel that the work you are doing is not worth your best efforts. The question is not alone the worth of yourself. Slighting and slackness have an inevitable reaction on the doer. If you fail to put your best effort into your work, your work will not develop the best in you. If your work is not worth doing well for its own sake, do it well for your own sake. Do not allow yourself to be turned into a shirekr and a slacker just because you are not fond of your task.

But It Was Only Misch Girl, sitting in the park: "Wom's oos 'litleumpisie dumpsie kiss oos 'litle tootsie wootsie?" Man, passing by: "You can't walk any place nowadays without running into some of these darn foreigners."
