NOTED PHYSICIAN HAD RELATIVES HERE

Dr. Watson Was Cousin of Mrs. J. A. Aldred, Durham, and Mrs. J. W. Blyth, Varney, Both of Whom Are in Attendance at His Funeral in Toronto Today.

Tuesday's Toronto papers had notice of the death on Monday at his home in that city of Dr. A. D. Watson, one of the city's prominent physicians, who passed away from heart disease in his 68th year. Dr. Watson was a cousin of Mrs. J. A. Aldred of Durham, and Mrs. J. W. Blyth of Varney, both of whom left for Toronto Wednesday afternoon to be present at the funeral today. Referring to his death, The Globe of Tuesday says:

Dr. Albert Durrant Watson, prominent in physical research, medicine, science and literature, died early yesterday morning at his home, 10 Euclid Avenue, of heart disease, aged 67 years. Some years ago Dr. Watson became widely known through his "Twentieth Century" researches and a series of lectures held at his home. In these researches, Dr. Watson was associated with Louis Benjamin, who still carries on Sunday meetings in halls of Toronto. Even after his break with Louis Benjamin, Dr. Watson maintained his interest in spiritualism and was continually engaged in correspondence with world-renowned celebrities.

Some years ago, before he became interested in physical research, he conducted a very large Bible class in connection with Euclid Avenue Methodist church, now Queen street United church. He was at one time active in the work of Methodist Missions and the Methodist Social Union. Dr. Watson was a past president of the Royal Astronomical Society and the Purify Educational Association. A native of Dixie, he was educated at the Normal school, Victoria University, afterward taking a post-graduate course in medicine in Edinburgh, where he received the degree of F. R. C. P. He had been a school teacher prior to beginning the practice of his profession.

Dr. Watson was greatly interested in literature and wrote in prose and verse for scientific and literary magazines. Some of his hymns are included in the United Church of Canada Hymnal. Dr. Watson is survived by his widow and five children.

KNOX Y. W. A. GAVE CROKINOLE PARTY

Last Monday Evening in Church Basement, Where Big Crowd Was Present and Pleasant Time Spent

The Young Women's Auxiliary of Knox church held a most pleasant evening in the basement of the church Monday when upwards of one hundred members of the auxiliary and their friends gathered to engage in progressive crokinole. Play commenced shortly after 8 o'clock and continued up to 10:30, when lunch was served. The ladies' prize for winning the greatest number of games went to Miss Ruby Scarf, who was tied with Miss Florence Macdonald, but won out in the draw. Mr. Arthur Derby won the men's prize. Messrs. Charles Lang and Joe Crutcheley were the two worst players amongst the men, and had to draw for the prize. Mr. Lang winning it. Misses Margaret McGirr and Ellen Marshall were low in the ladies' class and had to draw also. Miss McGirr getting the prize.

Following the crokinole, a short program was given consisting of a piano instrumental by Miss Bessie Smith, and solos by Mrs. Charles Lang and Miss Winnie Blyth. Miss Alice Ramage was accompanist.

The evening was brought to a close with the singing of Auld Lang Syne, and the affair was most pleasant and enjoyable in every way, over 20 tables being engaged in the play and a big crowd present. The proceeds at the door amounted to $19.00.

FORMER DURHAM RESIDENT DIED AT HANOVER

Friday's dailies contained an account of the death at Hanover on Thursday of last week of Mr. Moses Walls, a former resident of this town, but who has been living in Hanover for many years. Mr. Walls had been at work as usual during the afternoon and retired in apparent good health. He is survived by his widow and two sons and one daughter, John and James Walls, and Mrs. Wendorf, all living in Hanover. The funeral was held Saturday at Hanover cemetery.

ANNE WHAT'S HER NAME WAS WELL RECEIVED

Play Put On by Anglican Young People Pronounced the Best Yet—Eighteen Characters in Cast, Which Carried Itself Well.

The A. Y. P. A. Players achieved another success last Tuesday night in the Town Hall in the comedy, "Anne-What's-Her-Name," many of the patrons being of the opinion that this year's production was possibly the best yet presented by this good company of stage artists.

For one thing, it was the funniest play yet attempted and furnished a lot of ludicrous situations that were well carried by the cast, the portrayal of the various characters being exceedingly clever, the manner of the presentation making more for the success of the production than many of the lines supplied by the author.

The story was a rather mixed one. Anthony Wheat (J. H. Robinson) was a young bachelor who had become badly entangled in the supposed suicide of a dancer, and in his efforts to elude the police, who believed she had been murdered, and that he was the murderer, he had hidden himself in Judge Burnside's (Harry Kress) residence. While here he donned the judge's clothes and, overhearing a conversation between members of the household about the visit of a cousin, Ebenezer Whittle (J. Lloyd) from Idaho, he impersonated this young man, whom the family had never seen, and was subsequently married to "Anne," without knowing what her real name was. His in-laws, "Anne What's her name?" is where the play derived its name. Anne (Marjory Pickering) happily turned out to be his real sweetheart, and all was well. Anne was the heiress to a fortune, and Ebenezer Whittle was to have married her in order to receive part of his fortune.

Otherwise, the whole money reverted to Anne. Ebenezer, however, turned up at last as a married man, a fact which Ebenezer had tried to explain previously but was interrupted, his wife (Mrs. H. Elvidge), appearing with her two children (Mary Firth and Arthur Allan). As the suicide of the dancer turned out to be an advertising stunt, everything of course ended happily.

Those in the cast not already mentioned were C. Elvidge, valet to Anthony Wheat; Miss R. Lawrence, a modern young lady; Miss M. Calder, "Aunt Julia," the judge's sister-in-law, and head of his household; Miss E. Willis, a flapper who flaps; Mrs. J. H. Whelan, the temperamental maid with nerves; H. Elvidge, as Willie Peabody, the boy next door; E. Schutz, a plain clothes detective; Mrs. R. Moorhead, a swift old lady of 82; Miss R. Willis, Grandma's companion; L. Hunt, as Dr. Aked, a friend of the family.

As a comedy, the play must be seen to be appreciated, and it is not our intention to attempt to explain its intricacies here. While all the artists were good, the heart of the whole production fell on J. H. Robinson, and the manner in which he rose to the various occasions stamped him in our mind as the heavyweight of the production and the one whose portrayal of the part assigned to him kept things in motion and was responsible for the greater part of success the play obtained.

Mrs. Whelan, too, had a heavy part cleverly executed, and Mrs. Moorhead, as a grandmother of 82, could not have been improved upon. Miss M. Calder, too, in her premiere appearance, made a favorable impression and handled her difficult character as an austere society lady efficiently and creditably. In the lighter role of a flapper, Miss Elsie Willis was well suited to her part, and her portrayal of the character of a modern girl of tender years was really clever.

The cast was well balanced, and their selection was a matter of prime importance to the successful presentation of the production.

NO CHANGE YET FOR LOCAL TRAINMEN

Contemplated Upset in Personnel of C. N. R. Employees Here Not Yet Enforced.

Last week we reported the rumor that drastic changes in the local trainmen staff on the C. N. R. would likely take place after the first of the month, but so far nothing has happened, with the exception that Engineer Moorhead of the Durham-Guelph freight retains his present run for another six months at least. The other crews, the passenger in particular, are the same as formerly and will remain so for another week at least. There is every possibility, however, that some change will be made, but whether it will mean two passenger crews in Durham, or that the Durham crew will spend four nights a week away from home, is not yet decided. The contemplated change on this branch is being held up owing to the fact that the Diesel car to go on the Kincardine-Palmerston run is out of commission and is not expected to be placed in operation for another week or ten days.

Anything Else Some mouths look like peaches and cream, and some like a hole chopped into a brick wall to admit a new door or a window. The mouth is a holed of toothaches, the bunch of oratory, and a baby's crown of glory. It is patriotism's fountain and the tool chest for the pie. Without it the politician would be a wanderer on the face of the earth and the cornetist would go down to an unhonored grave. It is the baker's friend, the orator's pride and the dentist's hope.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mrs. James Williams (nee Maggie Gadd), Vancouver, B.C., arrived in town Thursday last week and is waiting on her mother, Mrs. Adam Watson, Lambton street, who has been ill, but who, we are pleased to report, is recovering. Mrs. Watson spent some time in Toronto with her daughter, but returned to town some time ago and entered Durham Hospital. She returned to her home on Lambton street ten days ago.

Mrs. C. W. Rutledge visited with friends in Durham last week—Markdale Standard.

Mrs. George Everett, who has been visiting her daughter at Newark, N.J., for the past five months, returned to town Wednesday night of last week and will remain for the summer. Mrs. Everett reports the weather at Newark this spring as very backward, and when she left it was very cold for this season of the year. While on her way home, she visited relatives at Syracuse, N. Y., for a few days.

Mrs. F. W. Clemas, London, and Mrs. W. Forester, Guelph, visited for a few days since last issue with their mother, Mrs. George Watt, who fell and broke her arm a week ago. Despatch her great age, of over 80 years, Mrs. Watt is now able to be up and about and recovering nicely.

Mrs. Thomas McGirr went to Shelburne yesterday afternoon to visit her daughter, Mrs. J. McLean. Mr. and Mrs. D. Cooper and family of Paisley spent over the weekend with the latter's father, Mr. H. N. Burnett.

Mr. Thomas Barker of Toronto visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Cook last week. His son, Thomas, who has been visiting here for some time, returned to Toronto with him.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Watt of Southampton were in town Sunday visiting his mother, Mrs. George Watt, is recovering from a recent accident.

Mr. W. P. Paterson, who has spent the past winter with relatives at Kingsville, returned to town Tuesday night, and for the next few days will be busy shaking hands with old acquaintances here, who were pleased to see him return.

Mr. William R. Alder, Provincial Highways engineer here, is in Prescott attending the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Robert Alder, who died Monday following an illness of over two years and a half.

Mr. James McDonald, recently of Disley, Sask., has, we understand, purchased the Ed. Kress bungalow on Countess street and moved in this week.

MRS. H. SCHRIENERT DIED IN BENTINCK

Survived by Her Husband and Seven Children.—Was in Her 37th Year.

Following an illness of about 10 days the death occurred at an early hour on Sunday morning of Mrs. Henry Schriener at her late residence, in the 8th concession of the Township of Bentinck. She has been in failing health for some time, but her illness was not serious until a short time previous to her death. Her maiden name was Mary Weidendorfer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Weidendorfer of Bentinck, and she was 36 years and 4 months old. She was married 17 years ago to Henry Schriener, and is survived by her husband and seven children, Norman, Edward, Annie, Andrew, Dorothy, Elmer and Herman, all at home. She also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Henry Lorenz of Hanover, and Mrs. J. H. Ahrens of Bentinck. The funeral took place at 2 o'clock on Tuesday afternoon from her late residence to the Bentinck Lutheran cemetery, the services being in charge of Rev. Mr. Krefflin.

POST OFFICE CLOSURES THURSDAY AFTERNOONS

Following the custom of other years, the Postal Department has ruled that in towns having a weekly half holiday, the post office may also observe the holiday, and as a consequence of this order, the Durham post office will close at 1 o'clock each Thursday. This will not interfere, however, with the dispatch of mails, as it affects only the general delivery wicket. The public are therefore reminded that no mail will be handled out from the general delivery wicket after 1 o'clock, and the office will be closed to the public from that hour.

MOUNT FOREST BOWLING CLUB

The annual meeting of the Mount Forest Bowling Club was held last week. It was decided to hold the annual tournament on July 15 and the Scotch doubles on Labor Day, as in past years. The club is in a good financial condition, and many improvements were made to the greens. The club was reported as having taken part in 15 tournaments and won prizes at 13 of them. The officers elected were: President, Dr. H. H. Argue; Vice-President, R. A. Fowlie; Secretary, G. L. Allen; Treasurer, E. B. Yule.

HOW TO FIND BUSINESS

"When people ask me how I find business, I tell 'em by looking for it. The fellow that says he can't find business is like the guy that takes a milk pail into the pasture and waits for the cow to back up to it. If you want milk, go after the cow. She's willing." So are the people. They want good goods at reasonable prices. Advertise, inviting them to your store. They'll accept the invitation, and you will be the gainer. It isn't the distance that lends enchantment to spring.

I. O. D. E. MAY MEETING WAS HELD TUESDAY

Members Met at Home of Mrs. J. F. Grant in Regular Monthly Session, When Reports of Delegates to Recent Convention Were Heard

Over twenty ladies were in attendance at the regular monthly meeting of the Daughters of the Empire, held at the home of Mrs. (Dr.) J. F. Grant on Tuesday evening. Miss J. Weir was in the chair, and the reports of the Secretary and Treasurer were read and adopted.

It was decided that the local Chapter would go in with the Hanover ladies this year as last in holding a rummage sale in that town some time this month. The arrangements made are the same as last year, and it is expected that this year's sale will be an even better success than the one held there last year. The reports of Mrs. J. H. Harding and Mrs. W. McDonnell, delegates from the local Chapter to the provincial convention at Hamilton last month were heard and proved most interesting. Both ladies gave splendid reports and went into many matters of interest to the I. O. D. E. very fully. One tribute from the provincial president, Mrs. Burkholder, was brought home. The president mentioned the importance of the smaller chapters throughout the province, emphasizing the fact that without them, the larger city chapters could not function at all. Both Mrs. Harding and Mrs. McDonnell were tendered hearty votes of thanks for their reports, which had apparently been prepared at considerable effort.

LIBERAL CONVENTION WAS POSTPONED

today will have to be blamed upon bad roads—and they are very bad. Mr. Sinclair Summoned "The gathering was about as successful as a wedding where the bridegroom fails to appear. In this case Dr. Fortune was on hand all set to be nominated, but the other high contracting party, the Liberal Association of South Grey, turned up missing. Incidentally there was no speaker to address the audience, had there been one, and one instruction given the committee heretofore mentioned is to see that W. E. N. Sinclair, Liberal leader in the assembly, is brought to the next meeting.

"We've got to have Sinclair here," said Dr. Fortune, who is chairman for Normanby. "People won't turn out unless there is an outside speaker. Sinclair has got to come into these ridings if he expects to get candidates." "He will be pretty busy if an election is called," suggested a member. "Well, he has to go somewhere," said Dr. Fortune. "I notice J. R. MacNeil said in Toronto there would be no election this year. I don't think he knows anything about Dominion affairs, but he may know about provincial."

"No general issues, federal or provincial, were discussed—not even the O. T. A. The impression seemed to be that a June election in Ontario was not likely. As to the United Farmers, it was reported as coming from M. E. Murray of Neustadt, secretary of the U. F. O. Political Association, that that organization was waiting to see what the Liberals did. One delegate expressed the opinion, though not very emphatically, that the U. F. O. might stay out if the Liberals nominated a candidate.

"They are becoming Liberals," said another member. "Curiously enough, while the meeting was instructing its committee to get in touch with Nelson Parliament, a Liberal organizer, "Nelson" was somewhere in or near the riding. He got as far as Palmerston today, but evidently did not take the Durham train.

Possible Candidates "R. H. Fortune, the potential Liberal candidate, a veterinary surgeon, is clerk of Normanby Township, secretary of the Germania Fire Insurance Company and a successful stock raiser. "The most likely nominee of the U. F. O. was said today to be R. L. Aitchison of Williamsford, vice-president of the U. F. O. Political Association of South Grey. One year ago the 1926 meeting of the association was set for Friday, June 14, unless sooner called by the president, Joseph Goodfellow of Dundalk. "Under redistribution the present riding of Centre Grey is absorbed into North and South Grey, the latter constituency getting Sullivan, Holland, Osprey and Markdale, which arrangement is said to suit both Dr. Jamieson and D. J. Taylor very well.

"Taylor made a suggestion, and Dr. Jamieson concurred," one of the Liberal delegates today said he understood. "Well, that's only one side of the story," warned a colleague.

LOCAL BRIDGES DAMAGED BY FLOOD

It is the intention to give the steel-work a thorough inspection as to its safety, and also a coat of paint as a preventive against rust.

Just what damage has been done to the Garrafrax street bridge is not yet known, and will not be until the river goes down and a full inspection can be made. It is thought that the repairs will not be overly expensive, but nothing definite can be ascertained. So far as a superficial inspection discloses, the only damage done was to the wall, but the damage may be much greater than anticipated. This bridge was built in 1907 at a cost of $4,000.00, but the cost would be much greater now. It has been felt for some time that the span is not long enough and that the water during the spring freshet is held back considerably by this bridge, causing a wash that has gradually undermined the structure. In the meantime, the bridge is still open to traffic and appears perfectly safe.

The big 600-foot C. P. R. bridge at Hanover is also reported to have had a close call, and trains were held up for 24 hours, traffic being resumed Monday. The local one-day passenger service was not interfered with. The washing out of the Hanover dam altered the current passing under the bridge, the water being deflected against a "J" foot shore pier, which was in danger of being washed out. A huge crack was noticed Saturday in the concrete pier by sectionmen who notified the authorities and the auxiliary went through Durham Sunday morning enroute to Hanover to make repairs. The deflection of the waters from the pier was accomplished by dropping huge boulders into the river, brought up on a train of flat cars by the auxiliary.

The Saugen this year has done considerable damage, but it is not likely that any more floods will occur this season, as the most of the snow has disappeared.

Ain't It the Truth? Are we right or are we wrong? The reason why girls wear those cheese-colored stockings is, when they get a hole in them, you can't notice it against their hide.

FORMER RESIDENT OF BENTINCK DEAD

Mr. Dan. McDougall Passed Away at Medicine Hat, Alberta, Sunday Morning.

Mr. John McQueen of town received a telegram Monday from Medicine Hat, Alberta, informing him of the death at that place on Sunday of Mr. Dan. McDougall, a former well-known resident of Bentinck Township. There were no particulars, but it is known here that Mr. McDougall some time ago suffered a stroke, and it is thought that possibly he suffered a relapse recently which caused his death. His wife predeceased him 26 years ago.

The late Mr. McDougall before going West some ten or twelve years ago, was possibly the best-known man in Bentinck Township. Active in municipal affairs, and in both Dominion and Provincial politics, he was also widely known outside his native township. For some years, too, he was President of the Grey and Bruce Fire Insurance Company.

After going West Mr. McDougall located at Winnifred, Alberta, where he remained up to four or five years ago, when he moved to Medicine Hat, where he has since resided. He leaves a family of three sons and three daughters, the sons being Allan, at Medicine Hat, Charles in Alberta, and Dan, at Ottawa, Ont. The telegram to Mr. McQueen gave no particulars as to time or place of burial. Mr. McDougall was a man of about 80 years of age, and while in Bentinck, lived on the farm now occupied by Mr. Findlay McQuaig.

FISHING SEASON OPENED

The trout fishing season opened on the first of the month, but so far, we have heard of no very big catches. The cold weather and the condition of the roads have been against very much angling so far. Mr. Ed. Kress of town is the only one we have heard of getting anything like a big fish, he having hauled one out Saturday morning that measured slightly over a foot in length.
