really follow up the work we begin so eagerly.

The same is true of business life. We pay what is necessary, but neglect the courtesy and friendliness which would make the relationship of employer and employee ideal. Scrooge was not dishonest, he would pay every penny agreed, but he was mean. Business life involves not only dollars and cents, but a human relationship.

It was "on the morrow," when the first fine emotion had time to evaporate that the Samaritan did this. All night he has been thinking and planning. What use to rescue the man—at personal risk to himself—and then leave him to starve or suffer torture from his wounds until he would die.

So he provides for food and nursing, and sets no limit to the expense. He advances two pence and a promise with no thought that the innkeeper will take advantage of his generosity or beat him out of more money. He asks not "how little can I do?" but "how much ought I to do?" That's the spirit of patriotism which won the war and brought glory to Canada and Canada's sons. That's the spirit which we need to build up the church of Jesus Christ and carry His message into all the world.

The Samaritan issues a challenge to service. "Take care of him." That is a primary and universal duty of all men—especially for Christian people and people pledged to brotherhood. If we all responded to this call and lived by this spirit, the whole world would soon be transformed. It would be a new world—a world fit to live in and love. "I will repay thee." We do not know how much that meant. It meant much to the innkeeper, but infinitely more to the injured Jew.

Imagine his gratitude, for saving his life and for a new conception of brotherhood and service. Jesus is pledged to pay and repay—to reward his servants far beyond their wildest dreams. Let us believe the promise and go forth to rescue the injured ones; to "take care" of them and above all to add the promise that we shall stand by them in all the emergencies of life.

Besides the sermon, there were a couple of excellent anthems by the choir, and a quartette by Messrs. T. Bell, C. Lang, G. Lauder and P. Ramage, all members of the Odd Fellows.

On their return to the lodge room a hearty vote of thanks was extended the Rev. Mr. Smith, the choir, and the church for the privilege of attending worship in their building. The motion was moved by Bro. E. D. McClocklin, seconded by Bro. F. M. McFadden, and heartily and unanimously carried by the members of the lodge.

"Your new medicine has helped me wonderfully," wrote a grateful woman. "A month ago I couldn't spank my baby, and now I can't thrash my husband. Heaven bless you!"

Hints for the Household

Readers, Note: If you have any questions concerning Recipes, and other Household Hints you would like to ask Betty Webster—address her in care of The Durham Chronicle.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Window Boxes To be attractive, window boxes must be planned like anything else. Care must be given as to the exposure and the coloring. Flower boxes may be started any time now.

There are two types of flower boxes—namely, Flowering and Foliage. There is little trouble in planting or caring for the flowering variety, but in a north exposure or in a shady spot, do not attempt it. Stick strictly to the foliage. Here is a list of plants for the foliage box: Vinea Vine, Wandering Jew, English Ivy, Rubber Plant, Pandora, Dusty Miller, Begonia.

COOKING HINTS

Spinach With Cheese Sauce 2 tablespoons of butter, 2 tablespoons of flour, 1 pint of milk (2 cups), 1 cup of crumbled cheese, 1 can spinach, 1 Hard boiled egg. Method: Make a thick cream sauce blending the butter, flour and milk. Add the cheese and stir over a slow fire until melted. Heat and season the spinach. Put in a dish. Pour over the cheese sauce and garnish with slices of hard boiled egg.

How to Measure Butter Sometimes in the country, or when our measuring cups have disappeared to the children's sandle, it is well to know how to measure butter without our cup: Hence this suggestion. 1 pound of butter equals 2 cups, 1/2 pound package of butter equals 1/2 cup, 4 tablespoons of butter equals 1/2 cup of butter.

BAKING HINTS

Grape Juice Pie 1/2 cup of grape juice, 1 1/2 tablespoons of cornstarch, 1/2 cup of sugar, 1 tablespoon of butter. Method: Blend butter and sugar. Add the cornstarch. Mix with a little grape juice and stir to a smooth paste. Heat grape juice in double boiler. Stir paste into the heated grape juice and cook until it is thick, smooth and clear. Heap in pie shell or shells. Top with whipped cream. This is pretty for a luncheon where lavender is the color scheme.

A Delightful Cheese Dish

2 eggs, 1/2 cup of stale bread, 1 1/2 teaspoon of salt, Little pepper, 1/2 pound of American cheese (mild), 1 pint of milk (2 cups). Method: Beat the eggs. Add the bread broken up, salt, pepper and grated cheese. Scald milk and pour over all. Bake in casserole or custard cups and cook the same as baked custard. Cook one hour. Test by inserting silver knife, and when it comes out clean, cheese is done.

TOOK FORMALDEHYDE MISTAKE FOR MEDICINE

Fairmount Farmer Had Narrow Escape Friday Afternoon.

Mr. John Perry, a farmer living near Fairmount in Euphrasia Township, had a narrow escape from death Friday afternoon as a result of taking formaldehyde in mistake for medicine. Mr. Perry had been ailing all winter and was taking medicine every day at regular intervals. The bottle of medicine was sitting on the kitchen window along with a bottle of formaldehyde, which had been used as a disinfectant. At noon hour, when the farm hands were coming in for dinner, Mr. Perry unthinkingly picked up the wrong bottle and took a swallow out of it. Perceiving that the taste was different from that of the medicine he had been taking, he was unable to account for the cause, and in order to satisfy himself that he was not laboring under a delusion, he took a second swallow out of the bottle. Shortly after he had done so, he was seized with a burning sensation in the stomach and was then convinced that he had taken a poisonous preparation in mistake for medicine. The family immediately telephoned for the doctor, and pending his arrival, Mr. Perry was given remedies which it was hoped would aid in counteracting the effects of the poison. The doctor arrived at the house as soon as possible and administered emetics in time to prevent the poison from doing its fatal work. It is stated that Mr. Perry is on the way to recovery.

LEATRICE JOY YA "PERFECT 36"

Leatrice Joy has made a discovery. She is a "perfect 36." She was told so by the fitters during the making of a gorgeous array of style creations worn by her in "The Dressmaker From Paris," the picture which brings her to the Veterans' Star Theatre on Friday and Saturday, May 14 and 15. While she never had found trouble in obtaining gowns to fit her, Miss Joy was made aware of her physical perfection during the filming of this production for the first time. While it is very nice to know that one is perfect, says the "Dressmaker," she feels no differently than before the startling discovery was made, and after looking at her reflection in the mirror, she confesses that her appearance has not altered a bit. The ultra brief skirts and other features of the styles for the coming year all favor the woman to whom nature has been kind, according to the designer imported from Paris to create gowns for Miss Joy, Mildred Harris and the fourteen girls appearing as manikins in the production.

duction. The girls are all either winners of beauty contests or were selected by prominent judges. Ernest Torrence is featured with Miss Joy in this picture, which was directed by Paul Bern from an original story by Adelaide Heilbron and Howard Hawks. Allan Forrest is leading man, Larry Gray, Charles Crockett, Rosemary Cooper, "Spec" O'Donnell and others play in support. Nobody seemed to take much notice of Green. He tried to get in a word now and then, but somebody with a stronger voice always took command of the conversation. At last the talk turned on the subject of dogs, and Green felt sure that his chance would come, for he owned a dog of which he was very proud. "There are some dogs," remarked Robinson, "that have more intelligence than their masters." "That's quite right," said Green. "I've got one like that."
