Born.—To Mr. and Mrs. James Marshall on Saturday, May 22, a daughter.

Sunday school was reopened in St. Paul's church and the officers of 1925 re-elected, who will do their best to give good service. Parents should make an effort to keep the little folks at Sunday school. What is learned in early youth is well learned and remembered, and there is less in their young minds to take their attention from what is being taught them.

The 8th of June in the day for the annual bee at Maplewood cemetery to try to put the grounds in much better condition. A man will also be there to help plot holders level up their monuments and give them a cared for appearance. Men and shovels, teams and wagons will be required in particular as well as other tools. Although the season is late this year, and people are busy, it is hoped no interested person will overlook his duty in respect to that sacred piece of ground. This year the officers propose erecting a suitable fence along the front to give the place a better appearance, and they are anxious that all will cooperate with them in a special effort.

Seeding is still in operation, and it prevented many from taking a day off on the 24th.

Mr. William Acheson has started on his yearly rounds with his entire horse.

Green Grove Beef Ring started operations again last week. It is close to a quarter of a century since it was first organized, and the same butcher, Mr. Thomas Turnbull, has been on the job throughout.

Mr. Walter Nichol, we believe, has also been Secretary-Treasurer all these years. There is a slight change in the beef though. At the commencement it was arranged that all animals for slaughter were to be finished for the last couple of months with pea meal to give them the right flavor. Peas were then 40 cents per bushel, but now that they are $1.50 a bushel, common folks can't afford such a luxury, and the rich can't get it, so they are not so blamed much better off than us after all.

Glenelg
(Our Own Correspondent) Mr. Irvin Hann was in Toronto last week attending the funeral of a relative.

Miss Sarah Tucker of Toronto visited over the holiday at her father's, Mr. Alfred Tucker's.

VETERAN MERCHANTS

Mr. C. L. Grant, Ailing for Weeks From Influenza
Away Late Monday Night in his Eightieth Year, One of Town's Oldest Business and Last Survivor of Old School of Durham Masonry

We regret very much that to be called upon to bury the death of Mr. Charles L. Grant passed away at his home, following an attack of influenza weeks ago and from which fully recovered, although past two weeks he was leave his home and come to business every day. Mr. Grant in his eightieth year, he was born in Tullyho House, County Ireland, on July 8, 1846.

About six weeks ago, who for his years, enjoyed good health, and for a life was despaired of, however, and two weeks able to leave his home and come to business every day. Mr. Grant though not strong enough any active part in the it. While it cannot be said recuperation was partial, the return of spring and the old self again, but on Friday last while in his home seized with a slight stroke, but left him in such a condition that home for his was given up Monday night death occurring about 11 Monday night, the 24th.

During the past couple, Mr. Grant, though not, any means, was in excellent good spirits, and even on the afternoon, was joking with the others in the store, who were all greatly shocked and learned of his sudden demise, followed by his death day evening.

As one of the town's best merchants, Mr. Grant was of the highest esteem. An active member of Knox church, of which he was an elder for the past he was a warm advocate of the betterment of the nature which he regarded for the betterment of the (Continued on page 9)

VICTORIA DAY WAS QUIET

Little Doing in Town Monday Was Spent in Visiting and Motoring.

Despite the fact that generally speaking, nothing on in Durham on the 24th about town was quite as with the hundreds of people the move, and local parties going fishing or attending to other town.

Several car loads took in Paisley, while other Owen Sound to see the still others went fishing out of town to visit friends.

All day long, from early late at night, a constant motor cars poured through Provincial Highway, at there was no local celebration in town was quite a
