"I'm always in the ring," said the napkin.

"Me, too," bellowed the boxer. "I shined in one last night," said the moon.

"I wish I were," said the fourth finger of the maid's left hand.

Maid (at the boarding house): The landlady sends her compliments, and she would like to have some money, when convenient.

Impetuous Guest: Right-o. That is just when she'll get it!

"I wish you'd try and keep your temper," said old Mr. Testy to his better-half.

"I wish you'd try and get rid of yours!" his bitter-half retorted.

"Watch your step, miss," said the conductor.

"It isn't necessary," snapped the girl. "those boys on the curb are doing it for me."

A Near Thing

Miss Pickem bounced up to the globe-trotter, who was surrounded by an admiring crowd eager to hear of his adventures.

"Is it true, Mr. Trotter, that you were once captured by cannibals?" she gushed.

"Quite true, my dear young lady. I was once on the bill of fare for a wedding feast."

"Oh, help! How did you escape?" "Well, you see, the young lady broke off her engagement," answered Mr. Trotter.

God bless the inconspicuous citizen—the man who quietly fulfills all obligations to his family and to his community as a matter of course, and who does not consider himself entitled to preferment, political puff or free puffs in the newspapers.

Another Henry Story During a recent boat race, the contestants were encouraged by men with rattles on the banks. We learn that one enthusiastic supporter got out of his two-seater and shook it vigorously.

Quite Otherwise

Sport Editor: Yes, I ran a story of your wedding on the sport page. What about it?

Heavyweight: Well, take a tip from me. Marriage ain't no sport. It's a job.

Polite in French

"How are you going on at school, Henry?" asked his father. "Fine," answered Henry. "I have learned to say 'thank you' and 'if you please' in French."

"Good," said the father. "That's more than you ever learned to say in English!"

Nice Fellow

"Was the baron angry when you took his bill to him?" "Not at all. On the contrary, he asked me to call again.—Der Gotz, Vienna."

"Ulow, Awkings, wot's wrong wit the bloomin' 'orse?"

"Well, yer see, guv'nor, 'e was rid by a ludy in pants, and 'es got a bit of a stiff neck."

Do you remember Red McCutcheon?

Two college grads, had journeyed to the locker room to discuss old friends.

"Red? You bet I do! He's with Bywater Electric up at Anderson? I only see him about free times a year, but we're touch all the time. He's as restless about letter-writing as always was, but I telephone on one week and he telephones me the next. A lot of her fellows are up there too it seems as if we have a long distance class reunion every Thursday night."

Five miles which separate old friends no longer mean haphazard "duty" letters. Instead, long distance enables you to talk with your friends whenever you wish. Try it!
