TO THE ELECTORS OF SOUTH GREY

We are now entering upon the last month of the campaign. Let us work for Victory on December 1st. Not victory for ourselves but for all citizens who want to see the voice of the people respected and the O.T.A. retained. The people expressed their desire for Temperance laws in 1919, 1921, and 1924. Three commands by the people ought to be enough. Let us defeat the government that flouts the people's will. Guard against a split dry vote by supporting the only dry candidate who can win in South Grey. Yours for Victory, F. R. Oliver.

FERGUSON'S PROPOSAL AND ITS EFFECT ON SPORTSMEN

A Six-Bit Critic writes as follows to the sporting editor of the Toronto Star: "Well, Mr. Hewitt, in all the talk about Premier Ferguson's announcement that he is about to promote the cause of temperance by making liquor easier to get, nobody seems to have noticed what a terrible slap he has taken at sport. By degrading the medical profession so that their signature will only, in future, be good for pills, soothing-syrup and similar delicacies, he is giving athletics the worst bump it has had for a long time. What inducement will there be now for a rising young athlete to take up the study of medicine? And if they don't do that, how can we hold them in college more than a mere four years or so? Just when a 1/2-back is getting so that he knows something he will be graduating, whereas when you hook him up for a medical course you got him tied up, for a decade or so. And besides, think of what a sore blow this new plan will be to all the boys around town who have worked so hard cultivating the acquaintance of a good list of free-writing doctors, with all their labor practically wasted. I know of one egg that almost shed tears when he read about it. "I have been playing golf all summer with three or four doctors," he says, "and letting them trim me until I had them in a mighty malleable condition; and now, if this damned Ferguson has his way, all them good balls I let them win off me will be a total loss."

A BABY-CARRIAGE TEA-WAGON

In many homes there is in storage somewhere a baby-carriage which is no longer in use. On some stormy day the "handy" man of the family can unscrew the body of the baby-carriage, and make a neat table with two shelves which will fit on in place of the buggy part. These shelves can be rubbed down, stained, and waxed, or varnished if preferred. Provide a little ridge around each shelf made of a narrow piece of molding, when, presto! you have one of the greatest stop-savers the housewife can summon to her aid. If you cannot quite make the "handy" man understand just how you want your "tea-wagon" built take him into a furniture store where some are on exhibition, or cut out a picture from some magazine, and show him. The "tea-wagon" will make possible the setting or clearing of the table with a minimum number of trips. Dessert can be placed upon it, extra food and the "tea-wagon" can be wheeled in beside the table. The week's laundry, too, may be piled on it and distributed from room to room. In fact, it can be used in many ways.

Crystal Gazer: "I see a tall, dark man coming again and again. You must be careful of him, he's dangerous." Mrs. Miggs: "I know. He's threatened to take away the furniture if I don't pay the instalments on it."

Meandering with Marjorie

By MARJORIE ADAMS We now have with us that non-descript month of November which doesn't mean much of anything in the way of weather. While we might expect snow and cold and it is usually cold enough for furs, yet an occasional day comes which doesn't fit in with a landscape haze of leaves and blossoms. See Shop Display November has always seemed a time of waiting for the weather to settle down. Not as in spring when we look forward to summer and loveliness but awaiting for winter to cover the ravages of Autumn with a kindly beautiful blanket of snow. So don't you think we ought to eliminate November and get right down to the business of winter? My way of getting through this time congenially is to get out my last winter's wardrobe and refurbish where necessary. For that my one compensation is the display of the shops. Have you seen all the lovely things? Dresses suits and coats in such beautiful shades as raisin, wine, chanel red, jungle green, cocoa and various shades of brown and blue. And, really, the felt and velour hats are very fetching! Time For Galoshes Have you bought your galoshes? If not you'd better hurry. Somehow I have a feeling that the comfortable boot will be much in demand this winter. DO YOU KNOW THAT: 1. Mirrors should be washed carefully with soft cloths and warm water and dried with equal care to prevent scratching the glass. 2. Polished brass can be successfully cleaned with a mild soap and warm water if immediately rinsed and polished with soft cheese cloth. 3. Gloves are tinted by cleaners, restoring the original shade. 4. Salt added to the boiling water in a double boiler hastens cooking? 5. Freezing takes out peach stains? 6. You should not use a vacuum cleaner on the right side of long nap rugs? RECIPES Baked Apples Core cooking apples. Fill centers with raisins. Sprinkle well with sugar. Place in a pan with about one inch of water and bake until soft. Waffles 2 cups of flour sifted with 2 teaspoonsful of baking powder and 1 teaspoonful of salt 2 eggs 2 tablespoons melted butter All sweet milk to make batter that will pour. Have waffle iron smoking hot and well greased. Apple Pancakes 1 pint of flour sifted with 2 teaspoonsful of baking powder and 1 teaspoonful of salt. Add 1 egg 2 cups sweet milk, and 3 cups chopped apples 2 tablespoonsful of melted shortening. Bake on hot greased griddle till apples are soft. Baked Custard 1 pint of sweet milk 3 tablespoonsful sugar 2 eggs 1/2 teaspoonful vanilla extract Put in cups and sprinkle with nutmeg. Place cups in pan of hot water and bake in moderate oven until solid, about 25 minutes. EMMA GOLDMAN WIFE It is hard to think of Emma Goldman, fierce foe of the institution of marriage, becoming the "honest-to-goodness" wife of an Englishman when she had reached the advanced age of 57. But she is Mrs. James Colton now, though we don't believe she darns Colton's socks or gets his breakfast for him. Her long relations with Alexander Berkman, who tried in vain to kill Henry C. Mr. and Mrs. Colton are in Canada, and the wife believes that as she is now a British subject she may get a chance to come to the United States for a few months and visit Rochester, where she has relatives. If, as Jack London's Sea Wolf insisted, the main thing in life is to be a larger lump of yeast than others are, Emma has succeeded. More columns have been printed in the newspapers about her than about any other woman of our time, we imagine, and her career has covered most of the civilized world. The United States first imprisoned and then deported her. Bavaria turned her out of Munich. Sweden was inhospitable. Latvia became too hot for her. In her native Russia, under the Soviets, she and Berkman didn't get the jobs they wanted, got out and hotly attacked the Soviet Revolution as a complete failure. Britain offered Miss Goldman a last asylum and has now furnished her with a husband. To add her justice there is no evidence that Emma ever attempted anybody's life or threw a bomb. She merely defended those who did with tongue and with pen. Also those who interviewed her were curiously impressed with her earnest eyes, her modulated voice and her gift for argument. The chances are that she will get no chance to go to Rochester. She is still in the view of the United States a citizen of Russia, and any flexibility from the State Department in such a case is certainly not to be expected after some recent cognate proceedings.—Brooklyn Eagle.

CREEMORE DRY

During the hours of darkness between Saturday night and Sunday morning, the drug store of Dr. J. A. Smith was entered and a supply of liquor consisting of two bottles of rum and one of brandy, was stolen. Nothing else on the premises was disturbed.

The miscreants had entered from the rear where evidently they had to accomplish this, they then tried to batter in the door. Failing to get in, they tore off the metal sheeting, only to find a solid structure necessitating too much manual labor to penetrate. The brazen member of the gang then took charge, and removing the storm window, the casing was then ripped off and the upper sash lowered allowing entry.

The thirsty gang, or individual, either knew where the liquor was kept or had an uncanny instinct as seemingly no time was lost in securing the coveted hilarity producer. Nothing else was disturbed and the successful thief vacated without troubling to replace the window.

On Sunday morning Dr. Smith, on returning from church, noticed the open rear window and upon entering the store made the discovery of the missing liquor. The Provincial police were notified and are working on the "case," while some one else is probably working on about the first half of the last bottle. Immediately news was spread that the town was absolutely dry, an epidemic of bronchitis, coughs, colds—in fact everything for which one might demand a drink, was rampant but the gasping mortals had to resort to grandma's remedy of hot mustard and red flannel.—Creemore Star.

FRAUD CHARGE RESULT OF DONATION TAKING

Three young men, giving their address as Toronto and their names as Albert Bennet, Orville Blackshaw and Russell Stevens, were arrested at Walkerton Monday by Provincial Officers Widmeyer and Bone on a charge of fraud.

It appears that the young men have been in different parts of Bruce County selling subscriptions to the Ontario Farmer, and, in addition, it is alleged, in some cases, have collected money which they said would be used to purchase a radio for the soldier patients at Christie Street Hospital, Toronto. Some who were approached became suspicious and the authorities being notified, they communicated with Toronto, and were informed that the men were not authorized to collect for the soldier institution. The three were located at the boarding house of William Leipsa and placed under arrest.

They were remanded and will appear for trial next Monday. It is stated that the young men have admitted their guilt to the police.
