Please remember the date of our Christmas tree, Tuesday, December 21.

Mr. Gus Subject met with a very painful accident while working in the bush last Thursday morning. His knee was badly injured and the doctor states it is worse than a clean break. We hope he may soon be free from the severe pain which he has suffered the past few days.

Mr. George Smith, and daughter Marie of Fort Erie, Mr. Jack and Miss Faith Brown of Mulock were Sunday visitors with Mr. Tom Sunpearl and sisters.

The Misses Florence McDonald and Margaret White were the guests over the week end of the Misses Irene and Katie McDonald, Lamash.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Hastic and son Dougald attended Mr. F. R. Oliver's meeting in Elmwood on Saturday afternoon. There was a fine crowd and everyone was loud in their praise of the young prohibitionist. Mr. Mickle, B.A., and Mr. Wm. McDonald, ex-M.P. from Chesley were other speakers. Mr. and Mrs. Hastic and son had the honor of having tea with the candidate after the meeting.

Another of our citizens is not enjoying the best of health in the person of Mr. Henry Haug. He has had an attack of gall stones, but we hope he may soon be restored to health again.

The main feature of the meeting held by the Y.P.S. on Thursday, November 25, was a debate. Resolved that a Consolidated School Should be Established in this Community. It was, no doubt, one of the best, if not the best, debate many of us had ever had the pleasure of hearing. Those who did not avail themselves of the opportunity missed something worth while. The debaters, upholding the affirmative were Miss Ruby Blyth, Crawford teacher and Mr. Herman Bierwirth Louise.

On the negative were Miss Florence Kress, Mulock and Miss Jessie Twamley, Lamash.

The four instructors were strong debaters as well as brilliant orators. Everyone realized that the affirmative had the more difficult view of the topic to argue but notwithstanding this fact they put up a strong argument and neither had time in the twenty minutes given them to say all they wanted to.

Some of their main arguments were: Better and more permanent teachers could be had, saving in school equipment, teacher's salaries, fuel, etc.; better play grounds, more time for keeping of records, planning work and supervision of work and time to bring out the originality of a pupil; lessons in music, agriculture and household science could be taught to advantage, more attractive schools which adds dignity to the community and thus more interest is taken by pupils and parents; insures regular attendance and banishes truancy; children traveling in vans arrived rested and dry and are cared for on the road by a carefully selected driver, the cost would only amount to $10. more taxes to each ratepayer, and this would only keep a boy or girl in High School for two weeks, 9-10 of the people where these schools have been in use are in favor of them and the rich and poor alike benefit from them, better heated, ventilated and lighted.

Both negative speakers had good organization of material, splendid delivery and summarized their points well. They also illustrated their arguments both by diagrams of this community and orally. They argued that the cost would be a vast sum and also that maintaining such a school would mean about 84000 more, teacher can get better acquainted with the home life and thus more interest, child learns from hearing older pupils recite, roads are not favorable and vans not suitable, impossible to keep diseases from spreading over the whole township, it weans them away from the country life, the present building would be of no further use, trustees know the needs of the rural school better, the social life of the community would be neglected, the average school is comfortable, land depreciates in value and standard of pupils from ungraded schools higher than graded schools.

The negative side won the laurels by a very narrow margin. The judges were Rev. Mr. Young, Mrs. Peter Krauth and Mrs. Edgar Boyce.

I have offered at different times to different anglers a proposition, but they have ignored it. They fully believe it a sure and safe plan but do not care to spend their dough to start it. I have a large rock and gravel dam bed fed by spring water, with several springs rising in the dam, an ideal place for the big trout, but for the past four or five years all there are chub and rock bass, some suckers, and with the trout missing.

Now, I have offered to help place a cement tank at the side of the dam and kept filled with fresh water at all times. Place the fry or fingerlings in this and feed them until they are strong enough to care for themselves. Put a few shots of stumping powder in the dam and clean out the bass and chub and let the trout go. Then restock the tank and proceed to carry on. In a few years we would have a self maintaining stream, and most of the streams in South Grey could be dealt with in a similar manner.

As to Government fry, I may say that I applied for same and had considerable trouble getting them and when I got them to the place to
