HYMN VS. ANTHEM

An elderly farmer made a short sojourn in the city. During his stay he attended several church services, and on returning home he recounted to his wife his impressions made on his trip. The hymns in the city churches he stated were called anthems. "What is an anthem?" asked his wife. "Well," he answered, "if I said to you, 'Betsy, the cows are in the corn,' that would be a hymn; but if I said, 'Betsy, Betsy, the cows—the nuley cows—the Holstein cows—are in—are in—the corn—corn—corn—' well, that would be an anthem."

Meandering with Marjorie

By MARJORIE ADAMS

Why not have a rose tea party? January is such a cold month and roses sound so nice and summery. For the hostess who needs a new treat there are delicate pink glass or rosy luster ones which will make the simplest affair into a festive occasion. If she doesn't want a new one, any white service may be used, for, with the exception of the beverage, the refreshments carry out the rose theme.

Perhaps the most unique of the rose colored accessories is the sugar which may be colored at home with any pure vegetable dye or can be done by your confectioner. Of course, candied rose petals and pink patties are essential and small cubes of cake frosted in pink and white add much to the attractiveness of the party.

If a maid serves, a dainty pink organdy apron will be most attractive over her black or white uniform and pink paper dollies on the tray and the plates will fit into the color scheme.

DO YOU KNOW THAT

1. Windows ought never to be cleaned when the sun is shining on them because the glass will streak.

2. White material can be kept from turning yellow by wrapping in blue paper.

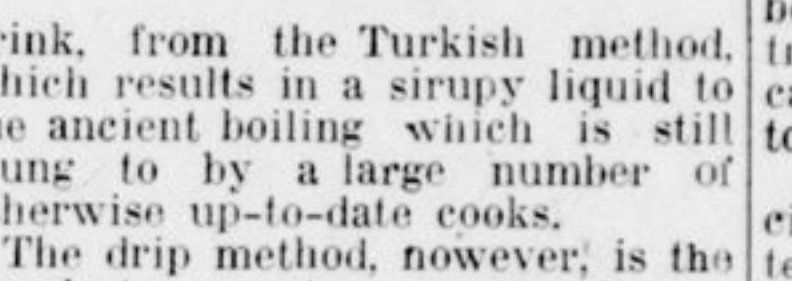

3. Cut flowers ought to be kept out of the wind?

4. The water should be changed daily on cut flowers?

5. It is well to clip a small piece from the stem of each flower every time the water is changed?

Drip Coffee

A great many people, I have found, have trouble in making good coffee. Of course there are innumerable ways of brewing this seductive drink, from the Turkish method, which results in a sirupy liquid to the ancient boiling which is still clung to by a large number of otherwise up-to-date cooks.

The drip method, however, is the simplest, surest, purest and most economical method that I know. There are coffee pots specially manufactured for it but all that are necessary are a covered pot of some kind and a bag (about three by six inches) of unbleached muslin. This bag should be wired to fit the top of the pot or fastened there somehow—perhaps you have a better way.

Now, to make the coffee. Have your coffee pulverized as fine as possible (until it is as fine as cocoa). The proportions to use are one rounding teaspoonful to each cup of water and one for the pot. The coffee is placed in the bag and the water, boiling, poured through it once.

The method brings out the true flavor of the bean and does away with the poisonous tannic acid which is brought out if the coffee is boiled.

Turkey Loaf

2 cups of cold turkey meat or turkey and dressing
1 cup of celery, chopped
1 tablespoon of gelatine dissolved in cold water added to
1 cup of gravy which has been brought to a boil
Mix gravy and gelatine with meat and celery, season to taste. Place in oblong tin dipped in cold water to harden. Serve cold garnished with boiled chestnuts, green pepper or pimento strips.

E. H. VICKERS TAKES NEW POSITION AT REGINA, SASK.

"The people of Sussex Wednesday evening paid honor to one of their leading citizens, E. H. Vickers, who is soon to remove to another sphere of labor and while expressing regret at his departure extended good wishes for future prosperity, at a banquet given him in the Knights of Pythias hall, Sussex.

"About 70 of his fellow townsmen met around the festive board to say goodbye to Mr. Vickers. "Mr. Vickers has been the Maritime manager for the Renfrew Machinery Co., and by his genial personality has made many friends in Sussex and other parts of these provinces. He has been transferred to Regina and will have charge of the Saskatchewan agency of the company. He has always taken an active part in the community life of the town and was for a time alderman at large. He is one of the most enthusiastic supporters of track sports in the provinces and was a warm supporter of the Sussex hockey team.

"Judge Jonah, in a short address expressed the appreciation of the Sussex people for the contribution made by Mr. Vickers to the community life and J. D. McKenna made the presentation of a fine gold watch. Addresses were also made by Hon. J. A. Murry, A. J. Brooks, M.L.A., W. H. Hay, manager of the Royal Bank, Dr. G. S. McDougall and H. H. Reid, alderman-at-large. Music was supplied by the Knights of Pythias orchestra and W. J. Jardine sang a solo.

Local citizens can well understand the interest Mr. Vickers would take in track sports in "Sussex-by-the-Sea" since going there, as when a resident of Durham he was one of the foremost runners in this part of Ontario, and though he never succeeded in lowering the records of such men as Alf. Schraub and Tom Lonsdale, he was well up to their mark in the five and ten mile events in which he took part in the local rink and elsewhere. Like the most of us, however, with the advance of years, Ted is carrying too much weight out in front to lower many records, but while the spirit is no doubt willing, the flesh is altogether too "strong" for him to engage in the strenuous work of clipping off the miles as in the days of his youth. This does not prevent him from taking keen interest in the events, and he has been identified with almost every track meet in Sussex since he became a citizen of that thriving town.

Many friends in Durham and vicinity will join The Chronicle in extending congratulations to another old Durham boy who has gone into the world and by his own effort alone, has made good. We wish Mr. and Mrs. Vickers much success in their new home.

WHY OPALS ARE UNLUCKY

Other precious stones consist of a single of layer as if were, always catching the light at a fixed angle. Inside the opal, however, there is not one, but a whole series of surfaces, all set at varying angles, so that the light breaks in different directions on each.

It is this property that gives the opal its curiously changing colors, and it is too, this property that probably accounts for its stigma of being an unlucky stone. For inside the opal is an infinitesimally tiny drop of water, and if the stone be exposed to any severe heat, this moisture will often evaporate, with the result that the surfaces inside "fall together," and no longer break up the light with their old angles. But it was the mystery in the changing colors that first raised the story in popular superstition.

Two colored gentlemen who had just reduced the population in a farmer's hen-roost were making a get-away. "Laws, Mose," gasped Sam, "why you s'pose them flies follows us so close?" "Keep gallopin', nigger," said Mose. "Them ain't flies, them's buckshot."
