Meandering with Marjorie

By MARJORIE ADAMS

Have you ever had a "Pedestal Party"? This can be made a costume party by asking each guest to come attired as his idol. If this is done the festivities may be opened by having each one guess whom each of the others is representing. A prize may be given for the most correct list.

"Story Game" Enjoyable Another game which may be enjoyed is having each one write, in a given time, a short story about his idol. A prize can be presented for the best.

For refreshments, cherry ice cream and tiny cakes iced in red and little red candies are simple and well liked. The favors can be anything pertaining to the day.

Do You Know That?

- 1. Clothes will be snowy white if after being washed they are hung out of doors and allowed to freeze?
2. A clothesline ought to be wiped carefully before hanging articles from it?
3. Freezing often removes peach stains from linen?
4. Woollens ought to be washed in lukewarm water with soap flakes or a pure mild soap—rinsed in clear water of the same temperature—squeezed to remove the water and dried quickly?
5. Glass tumblers which have been filled with milk will be much clearer if washed immediately in cold water?

RECIPES

Ice-Box Cake Sounds cold, this weather, doesn't it? But it is truly a year-round dessert and is luscious any time.

Most recipes, however, call for from four to eight eggs—I think I gave you one of those some time ago, didn't I?—but recently I found one in which you may use two, three or four, as you please. I usually use three. I thought you'd like it for that reason as well as that it takes only an hour or so for it to set so here it is:

Melt two cakes of German sweet chocolate in a double boiler; add four tablespoons of water stirring constantly; remove from fire and beat the unbeaten yolks of eggs.

Add two tablespoons of confectioner's sugar and the beaten whites of the eggs. Pour into a mold lined with lady fingers. Allow to set and serve with whipped cream.

One dozen lady fingers are necessary for this recipe, and it will serve six persons, generously.

Maple Cream

Boil one can of condensed milk, sealed, for three hours in a kettle of water. Remove from pan. Let cool before opening can.

Put in sherbet glasses; cover with whipped cream; sprinkle with chopped nuts and place maraschino cherry on each. This will serve six persons.

HOW AND WHERE TO BUY GOOD SEED

(Experimental Farms Note)

There are several sources from which to obtain good seed. Of these the two most common are special seed dealers. Most growers are now members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, while our best dealers find in this Association their best source of supply. Since the Association will not recognize varieties which have not been thoroughly proven, one need have no fear of obtaining a variety which has proven itself worthy of propagation. The fields of all Association members are very carefully inspected for purity of variety during the growing season, and only those fields which are pronounced by the inspector to be 99.9 per cent pure as to variety, are given official recognition by the Association in the form of certificates of registration. Seed from such registered fields, if set to the standard of vitality required of such seed, and if free from weed seeds and practically free from grain of other kinds, may be given the official grade known as "Registered Seed". This is the highest official grade recognized by the Canada Seed Act.

Seed which does not quite comply with the high standard set for the registered grade may receive the next highest grade known as Extra No. 1, providing it does not fall below a certain minimum standard set for this grade. Farmers who wish to secure reliable seed should order either "Registered Seed" or "Extra No. 1 Seed". These grades are now advertised by all the leading seedsmen in Canada, from whom they may be purchased. It is also possible to purchase this seed direct from growers. The Association issues a list each year of those who are offering Registered and Extra No. 1 seed for sale of different varieties. Those who contemplate purchasing seed should write the Secretary of the Association at 114 Victoria Street, Ottawa, for a copy of the above list. They should then locate seed which has been produced as near their own district as possible, since experience has shown that where seed of a given kind and variety has proven suitable for a district, seed grown in or near that district is likely to be better than that brought in from outside.

There is an old idea that a change of seed periodically is desirable. This idea is not wholly without foundation, but investigation will usually reveal the fact that where outside seed proves superior to that grown on a given farm, the latter seed has not developed as fully as has the seed which has been introduced. It also happens very frequently that seed on a given farm becomes mixed, in which case a change to pure seed is recommended.

There are many vendors of seed throughout the country who purport to be the distributors of varieties which are superior to anything yet offered. Such offerings should be regarded with considerable suspicion, and prospective purchasers are urged to consult the above Association, or their nearest Experimental Station or Agricultural College before investing their money.

FANNING MILLS AND GOOD SEED

(Experimental Farms Note)

It is not too early for the farmer to give attention to his seed supply for the coming spring, and furthermore, it is good business to employ the slack period of winter in preparing for the rush of spring. Most farmers already know about how many acres of each crop they intend to sow and the amount of seed they will likely require.

Only the best and cleanest seed which can be procured should be sown. If home-grown grain can be cleaned and graded well enough to make first class seed it usually is advisable to use it rather than to buy new seed, providing the variety is suitable and is sufficiently pure. In the cleaning and grading of seed with the ordinary fanning mill, a few hints regarding the sort of sieves to use may be helpful:

- Crop: Wheat: Bottom Sieve, round 7-6 1/2", 8-6 1/2", 9-6 1/2" or 10-6 1/2". Top Sieve or Riddle, 12-6 1/2" to 13-6 1/2". Barley: Bottom Sieve, Oblong, 6-6 1/2" x 3-4". Top Sieve or Riddle, 10-6 1/2" x 3-4". Oats: Bottom Sieve, Oblong 1-12" x 1-2", 1-13" x 1-2", or 1-14" x 1-2". Top Sieve or Riddle, 11-6 1/2" x 3-4"; 1-8" x 3-4". Flax: Bottom Sieve, Oblong 1-14" or 1-15" x 1-4". Top Sieve or Riddle, 1-14" to 1-16" x 1-4".

There are many makes of fanning mills on the market, each with good points. If you are buying a new mill, be sure to get one with a good air blast supply and control, as it is the air blast that removes most of the light kernels, chaff and dirt. The fanning mill must be tight at the joints, as otherwise dirt and small seeds sift through with the good seed. Pass the grain through the mill two or three times, if necessary. The first run through will remove the light kernels, chaff and dirt. The subsequent fannings will improve the grade and remove most of the weeds and small kernels. Care must be taken to allow the grain to run over the top sieves in a thin layer; a thick stream carries good seed over the end of the fanning mill along with the screenings and light seed.

If necessary to purchase seed, see that the supply comes from a good source, preferably registered seed. See that it is sound, plump, true to variety. A well graded sample contains plump, vital seed and when this kind of grain is sown, a uniform stand should result. The extra bushels at harvest time more than repay the care in fanning and selecting of good seed.

The Glenelg Council have abolished statute labor in the township for this year. This is the opinion of the writer a step in the right direction. There is still a considerable amount of the 1926 taxes remaining unpaid, and as the time limit is nearly out the council are taking the necessary steps to have same collected. Ratepayers who are in arrears would be well advised not to delay too long, as 10% per annum is rather dear money.

A Blooming Nuisance

A woman who is so fashionable she is almost a stranger to her little son decided that it was about time she became acquainted with him. She read old books about things mothers used to do, such as singing lullabies and rocking to sleep. And then one night she sent the nurse out and stayed at home, just for a new sensation (which she got). She crept into her little son's bedroom and began to croon, as she pushed the bed about "Hush-a-bye baby, on the treetop." The child turned a wondering eye on her, and then said deeply: "I say, cut that stuff out, mother, a fellow wants to get some sleep."
