Many of the farmers are busy at the ploughing these days while the weather is quite spring like. Some on the 10th con. have considerable acreage sown.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cook spent a day recently with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McFadden of Orange Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Hooper of Egremont visited last Friday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McArthur.

The auction sale held last Friday on the farm of the late James McNally proved quite a success with Mr. B. H. Walden of Markdale as auctioneer.

Mrs. Archie Robinson, Mrs. Norman Hurd and Mrs. Chas. Watson left on Saturday for their homes in Manitoba after spending a fortnight with the McNally families on the 10th concession.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Baines left for Collingwood on Saturday, where Mr. Baines has employment on one of the boats for the summer months.

Mr. Will Marshall has been confined to bed the past week with an attack of influenza at the home of his sister, Mrs. James McNally.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Twamley spent Sunday at the McClocklin home.

Messrs. Graham, Chas. Timmins, and sister Catherine spent the first of the week with the Ewen family at Aberdeen.

Mrs. Jackson and son Rob left Tuesday for Galt to be present on Wednesday at the funeral of Mrs. Dean, who passed away at the home of her son, James, on Monday near Galt. Mrs. Dean was in her 92nd year and the cause of death was pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McClocklin of Durham spent Monday at the home of his brother, Mr. Chas. McClocklin.

Mrs. Joseph Atkinson and son James of Darke's Corner visited the first of the week with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Edwards.

Mr. John Quillman, Jr. is assisting Mr. Mike Kenny with the spring work.

Mr. Neil McInnis of Sask. was a recent caller on his cousin, Miss K. M. Firth.

Quite a large crowd of neighbors and friends gathered last Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. George Young, the purpose being to honor his brother Dave, who recently disposed of his farm on the 10th concession. Mr. Thos. Brodie called the group to order while Mr. Colin McArthur, Jr. read a complimentary address and Mr. Will Henderson presented a handsome purse to Dave. He responded quite fittingly and assisted in making it a pleasant evening for everyone.

Mr. Thos. Timmins is patrolman for part of the 6th concession and has been busy the past few days dragging the road, making a remarkable improvement.

We are glad to learn that Mrs. Will Timmins has been able to leave the hospital and is now recuperating at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Blair. She expects to return home this latter part of the week.

The biting north and north-east winds of the past week or more and the hard frosts at night are putting a "hard look" on fall wheat and meadow lands.

Mr. and Mrs. John White, Jr. and Mrs. J. White Sr. were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Disney of near Hanover last Sunday. They were accompanied home by Mrs. E. Disney, Sr., who is spending some time with her sister, Mrs. J. White Sr.

Mr. John and Miss Faith Brown were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. J. McDonald.

Miss Daisy Fiddis of Brant visited over Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Boyce.

The G. V. P. S. will hold a special Easter service this Thursday evening. Easter hymns will be sung and recitations given by younger members. Rev. R. Young will speak on the "Trial and Crucifixion."

THE QUITTER

When you're lost in the wild and you're scared as a child,
And death looks you bang in the eye,
And you're sore as a boil, it's according to Hoyle,
To cock your revolver and die,
But the code of a man says fight all you can,
And self-dissolution is barred;
In hunger and woe, oh it's easy to blow—
It's the hell served for breakfast that's hard.

You're sick of the game? Well now, that's a shame!
You're young and you're brave and you're bright,
You've had a raw deal, I know, but don't squeal,
Buck up, do your damndest and fight!
It's the plugging away that will win you the day,
So don't be a piker, old pard;
Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit—
It's the keeping your chin up that's hard.

It's easy to cry that you're beaten and die,
It's easy to crawl and crawl,
But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight,
Why, that's the best game of them all,
And though you'll come out of each gruelling bout,
All broken and beaten and scarred—
Just have one more try. It's dead easy to die,
It's the keeping on living that's hard.

FOUND DEAD IN BED

Otto B. "Bob" Roberts, formerly of the Highways' Department at Walkerton, was found dead in bed at Windsor on Wednesday morning last, he having succumbed to heart failure some time during the night. The deceased, who was in his 41st year, was well and favorably known in Walkerton, and his sudden passing was learned with much regret here. Since leaving the Highways' Dept. at Walkerton he has been practising as a civil engineer in Michigan and Florida.

Another designer has used two half-elliptical and concentric bands of tuckled shaved lamb to trim a coat of beige shaved lamb, the collar and edge of the front panel of the coat being a kolinsky.

Folds of fur have been made familiar to us in the use that way of moleskin, a fur still often seen in the best salons because it is so becoming and because intricacy of pattern in its working can be arranged. The woman who buys it, however, must make up her mind not to expect any great amount of hard wear from it—remembering, too, that Scotch moleskins are the hardest.

Hip-length capes of fur for motor or sports wear are among the very attractive novelties in the Avenue Matignon showroom of Max, who has a collection full of interest and thoughtfulness. These capes often show the double seam from shoulder to edge.

On was of printed gazelle, the design taking scalloped form. Another of gazelle was printed in checks of three shades of fawn-brown.

Chipmunk, in stone tint with nutria collar and cuffs for a long coat. In another the chipmunks were arranged in vertical fashion, in another in horizontal, and in a third, brick fashion. The "bricks" were flattened hexagons, and the coat had a pouched back.

Trimnings of fur include every variety from the humble coney to the plutocratic sable. Lynx, snow leopard and cream wolf still have their desirability for the elegant type of suit in crepe de chine, charmeuse or velvet, while marmot, from being a little despised, has found a bigger and frequent market in trimmings for tweed and country coats.

Women who need to protect their lungs and those who like waistcoats may be interested in the newest examples of the kind. These are in shaven cream lamb edged with

MOTOR CHANGES VOGUE IN FURS SMOOTH ONES NOW

Women Do Not Like to Arrive at Destination Looking Like Teddy Bears.

Motoring, which has had various effects on fashion, has had pronounced influence lately on fur coats. According to a recent cable despatch it has brought about the preference for short-haired fur. Women want a wrap that is cosy and warm and not bulky while in a car, and arrived at their destination—be it a friend's house, restaurant luncheon party or a dance tea—they want to look trim and well groomed, not like a teddy bear or a Polar explorer.

Consequently it is the short-haired furs which are claiming much of the most thoughtful, earnest, and painstaking attention from the fashionable furriers at the moment. They are planning cut, methods of makeup, style, and ornamentation:

Shaved lamb in beige, fawn, brown and black.

Kid and caracul in black, grey, yellow-beige, and pale fawn—the hair not too long and not too curly.

Calf skin in tan and white, or black and white.

Pony skin in fawn brown, and a real nigger brown.

Shaved goat, upon which patterns are stamped, and seams are stitched back again on the material for decoration as well as strength.

Antelope and gazelle, on the latter of which patterns are often printed and.

Those delightful, beautiful skins, pahlmi, which in rather sacrilegious fashion are now being dyed.

The tailoring and the tailored details of these fur coats are remarkable in the history of fur sewing and "dressmaking." Tucks—and pin-tucks at that—are used as ornamentation.

In his collection this spring Worth is showing in the Rue de la Paix a fawn pony-skin coat, the pockets with zipper fastenings, and a closely set row of buttons, covered in pony skin set down the middle of the back seam of the skirt part, being two items I specially remember.

DURHAM TORONTO CLUB HELD APRIL MEETING

The April meeting of the Durham Club was held at the home of Mrs. Carothers on Monday evening, the 11th inst., when a very enjoyable evening was spent by a large crowd of the members. Plans were made for a social evening in May, and for the annual picnic in June.

fancy embroidery of the Rumanian or Russian style, or of brown and myrtle dyed moleskin similarly trimmed. Another is of black pony-skin. Some have zipper fastenings to the neck and might specially commend themselves to the golfing and keen motoring woman.

What Would You Do If You Injured Some One

From what can be seen appears that Angus was born to look after Neil, as was his custom the house to prepare meal. What appears into the house will be as in a few minutes came out of the barn the house was a fire. He hurried to the about to enter the ing, when close to the the badly charred brother Neil. He had badly burned and out of the house and of time the rest its contents, was destroyed.

Are you overlooking this economy?

At ten o'clock about five days a week, Jones of Kitchener says to Long Distance, "I want to speak to R. H. White, Peterboro." White looks forward to Jones' calls, and is always at his desk ready for them.

"Why do you always ask for Mr. White?" a telephone salesman asked Mr. Jones. "Because he is the man I want—no one else will do." "But Mr. White is always at his desk. If you said to the operator, 'Please get me anyone at 2624 Peterboro,' you would get Mr. White, and the Station-to-Station rate would be about twenty per cent cheaper."

Jones now uses Station-to-Station exclusively. He finds it answers every requirement and saves money.
