A little boy of Joe Stephenson's one day last week so injured his hand with a cream separator that he was under the Doctor's care.

We were all very sorry to hear of the death of Mrs. Charles Gadd. She is well remembered here especially by the patrons of Varney P. O. as she was always a cheery, obliging official.

Now that the growth has started, fall wheat and clover are looking well.

A most enjoyable party was held last Thursday night in the home of Mr. Thos. Wilson. There had been sufficient rest since the winter rush of dances to make everyone ready for a night's enjoyment and they enjoyed themselves to their heart's content. The best of music was supplied by a number of musicians.

That blundering old Durham Review last week published the letter that Miss Macphail wrote to the school children although both teachers and school boards were doing their best to keep its contents a secret from the children. In fact when the letter fell into the hands of one of her supporters they destroyed it on sight with the determination that if they could help it neither scholars nor anyone else would ever know she had written such stuff to innocent children. But such stuff is let out of the bag, just like what children will do, they are running around helter-skelter in all directions trying to get a peek at the horrible dope that report tells them Miss Macphail had prepared for their destruction.

The weather man has been treating us to some real summer days this week. Most of the farmers are busy on the land. A good rain would be much appreciated. A great many people have empty cisterns.

Clean Containers

Clothes hampers, baskets and laundry bags should be washed regularly. Especially after there has been sickness in the house should these containers be thoroughly cleansed to prevent spread of germs.

Novelty Grill

Lamb chop, bacon and mushroom mixed grill will be twice as tempting if bananas, apples or tomatoes are added.

SPECKLED TROUT REARING

In accordance with one of the recommendations in the report of the British Columbia Fisheries Commission of 1922, the Biological Board of Canada resolved to investigate the losses which occur in speckled trout fry after their distribution in streams or ponds. Mr. H. C. White, one of the Board's scientific workers, has recently completed his fourth summer on a problem, and is now publishing a second report upon his investigations. The net result has been that within three months after the fry have been distributed an average of about 80 per cent. of them are known to be dead, the range being from 71 per cent. to 73 per cent. in Prince Edward Island, and from 96 1/2 per cent. to 100 per cent. in Ontario.

Mr. White's next efforts were directed toward ascertaining the comparative causes which, when combined, produced the total loss of fry occurring in any particular stream. For example, it was formerly believed that older trout, unless forced to it by starvation, seldom, if ever ate the younger ones. Mr. White, however, showed that 32 yearling and older trout when confined in a compartment of Forbes's Brook, Prince Edward Island, along with 1,000 hatchery fry and 10 native brood fry, resulted at the end of three months in a loss of 639 hatchery fry, but only 1 native fry out of 40. In a second compartment 198 unknown number of aquatic birds carried off 57 per cent. of the fry, and in a third compartment 198 stickleback ate 496 fry. These fundamental facts, and point unmistakably to the conclusion that the present method of distributing fry should be changed as soon as the Biological Board can find a better one.

The experiment with the 32 adult trout and the 1,000 hatchery fry appears to explain what has taken place in many a trout stream that was once so famous for its "catches." Every angler and superintendent of a hatchery knows of such streams. When an attempt is made to restore to them a stock of adults by means of hatchery fry, the adult trout, not to speak of other enemies in the stream, devour the fry. Hence the stream, devoid of fry, can be it is that no improvement can be made in the "fishing" in such streams, no matter how lavishly the fry may be allotted to them.

Notwithstanding the heavy losses revealed by Mr. White's reports, the Fisheries Department may nevertheless be congratulated upon the good beginning that has been made in placing fish culture upon a scientific basis.—Toronto Globe.

CANADA'S PER CAPITA TRADE

The per capita foreign trade of Canada is over $232, compared with $150 in the British Isles and $100 in the United States, according to G. E. Neill, President, Canadian Bankers' Association. "Canada," he says "leads the world in per capita foreign trade. For the twelve months ended November 30, 1925, the total trade of the Dominion amounted to $2,234,000,000.

"Perhaps the most outstanding factor in the whole situation is the continued strength of agricultural buying power," says Mr. Neill, in reviewing Canadian finance and business for 1926. "The return from the 1925 crops enabled the farmer to liquidate a large proportion of his indebtedness, and the 1926 crops are selling at prices which should have given Western Canada greater surplus buying power than it has had at any time since the war. Prices for agricultural products are comparatively higher than those for other

IN MEMORIAM

Fagan—In even loving remembrance of Nicholas Fagan, who departed this life April 22nd, 1926. Eternal rest grant him, O Lord, And let perpetual light shine upon him

Yet again we hope to meet thee When the days of life are fled And with joy in Heaven to greet thee

Where no farewell tears are shed.

—Wife, Son and Daughters.

McClymont—In loving memory of Margaret Lake, wife of Mark McClymont who departed life April 21, 1918.

Often our footsteps wander, To a grave not far away, Where we laid our darling mother, Nine years ago today.

A loving mother, true and kind, No friend on earth like her we'll find

For all of us she did her best, And God gave her eternal rest.

Sadly missed by husband and family.

Fond Attachments

MIXED TRAIN DURHAM

Due to Arrive Here parts at 2:35, and Passengers

As foretold in a couple of weeks, placing a mixed train (Palmerston-terminating) commencing Monday, train will carry passengers, will run noon instead of 11:52, 2:35 instead of 3:15.

There is no need of meeting with mixed with the local trains, but until it has little comfort travellers we have not make their train by car have hold of service means that have to buy a ticket together, or prepay stay. They simply town at half-past 5 dinner, as their hours pared to leave at 2:30.

Mail Service

With the local ed feature of the new manner in which to arrive. Even with sender service the late, but with a 6 have vision of the ing almost any time it is due, up to a afternoon.

Railway officials assured The Chronic service is going, schedule or it will. With the new system no unloading of car cast or Houston by 6. These cars will be merston and all the sure to be being stationed and proceed.

At the present time for any undue is the death of p summer months the for the whole car railroads are built the decrease in the ing to so many travellers, but a serious and, only this week means there were for the local outgo on Wednesday morning made its departure with a single passenger.

May Run-

There is a possibility in the near future, to have gasoline-drive motor run, but as the nothing can be produced equal change local caused by the new all the steam engine will be pulled out the local round-house engine, and the new engine will be used to haul coal from the local mines over the train starts from P. Durham and back to the meantime there thing to do. Just what we will see.

What Would You Do If You Injured Some One

Motoring is daily becoming more risky. Motorists are always faced with the problem of possible injury to some pedestrian or other motorist or his machine.

What would you do if this should happen to you?

Better call in and let us show you how we can protect you against:

- Injury to other people
- Damage to property
- The destruction of your machine by fire, either on the road, in the repair shop, or in your own garage
- The theft of your machine either at home or while in the city

Our Policy protects your CAR. It makes no difference, in case of accident, who has charge of the machine—yourself, any member of your family, or any person to whom your car is entrusted—the policies we sell insure you against loss in case of accident.

Better drop in and talk it over now while the motoring season is young.
