County-Provincial Roadways Not Yet Taken Over by Govt.

All Grey County Roadways Designated as Provincial Highways Still Remain in Hands of County, But May Be Taken Over Later.

Though it was generally understood some months ago that the County Roads between Hanover and Durham and Owen Sound and Collingwood had been taken over by the Provincial Department Highways, this has not yet been done, and as a result the county still retains them, and so far as can be found out little is known as to just what date the transfer will be made. This, we understand, is the general policy all over the province, but so far as Grey County
