Mulock

(Our Own Correspondent) After a short illness Mrs. Edward Boyce passed peacefully away at her residence here Saturday afternoon. While her intimate friends were aware that there was no hope of recovery and that death was near, still the announcement of her passing was a shock to the community for it seemed such a short time since she was about in her bright though quiet way. The late Mrs. Boyce had a most winsome personality and having lived here since her marriage, enjoyed the esteem and respect of the community at large and indeed the tender regard of a wide circle of friends. The writer can recall many helpful deeds and acts of the beloved one. She was a good woman and a good wife and mother, always ambitious for the best that she could give her children. She was a hospitable and friendly neighbor, as those who knew her nest loved to testify. The scenes at the funeral on Monday of this week were indeed most impressive, a well arranged memorial service, an immense assembly of friends visibly affected, a casket rich in effect, banked high with floral offerings, the gift of loving friends which bore tribute to the popularity in life of the silent form in their midst. She has left behind her a memory that will not soon be forgotten. Tuesday evening of last week the regular meeting of the Young Peoples' society was held with a good attendance to hear the debate, "Resolved that Country life is preferable to city life." The affirmative was taken by Misses Mildred Brown and Lolita Mighon, the negative by Messrs. Harold Dunn and Clifford Adams. All four speakers capably upheld their argument but the judges, Mr. John McDonald, Miss Florence Kress and Miss Catherine McLean gave their decision in favor of the affirmative side. Mrs. Findlay McCuaig entertained the Ladies' Aid at her home Thursday afternoon. There were 18 members present and 13 visitors. The president, Mrs. McDonald, conducted the meeting. After the opening exercises Rev. Mr. Crickington read the Scripture lesson and led in prayer. Five new members were added to the roll. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Joe Porter's, June 9th. Weekly Notes Regarding Trout Streams

By H. A. Hunter

DO YOU KNOW?

That a couple of night herons have been known to eat 40 fish in one evening, and sometimes one of the fish may be as large as 22 inches long? That a blue heron shot in July some years ago was found to contain the heads of 78 fish? This bird is very shy and feeds at night and early morning. They have been found to mutilate trout weighing one-half to two pounds weight, and even larger, mortally wounding them. In a single morning's feeding as many as half a dozen six-inch trout were found in a blue heron. The common kingfisher on the average destroys ten or twelve fish daily, each trout as long as a man's finger. To replace the trout taken each day by six kingfishers would cost over $2.00 per day, and when it is borne in mind that 180 kingfishers have been found on half a mile of Caledonia Spring Creek, the daily mortality of trout caused by these birds is almost beyond one's comprehension, as in a season 180 would eat nearly a quarter of a million fingerlings. These brazen and worthless birds should all, like a heron be shot, and prizes offered for their scalps, but doubtless that sensible procedure would raise the ire of some brainless fanatic, and we seem to have a surplus of them around.

Mingling Thrift With Romance

The latest humorous—or supposedly humorous—story about our thrifty Scotch friends comes from London Opinion. Mr. MacDonald tells the clergyman who is to perform the ceremony at his second marriage that he would like the wedding to take place in the chicken yard. "Good gracious, why?" asks the astonished minister. "Then the fowls can pick up the piece," says Mr. MacDonald. "We wasted a deal of it last time."

The Cause Doctor (to patient who claims to be a nervous wreck)—"What are your symptoms?" Patient—"I jump when I hear a telephone. The doorbell sends me in hysterics. Any stranger coming to the house frightens me out of my life, and I'm afraid to pick up a newspaper. Do you know what's wrong with me?" Doctor—"Yes, my wife drives a car too!"—Passing Show.

TORONTO CLUB DID GOOD WORK FOR HO...

Club of Durhamites in Ontario Has Been of Real Service Red Cross Hospital Day. Monthly, for the past three years, and perhaps there has appeared a notice in the Chronicle announcing the next meeting of the Durham Toronto Club would be held in place. Doubtless many readers wondered on more than one occasion just what this Club was, and how they might meet when together. For this present season, on Monday, the 16th inst., Peacock Inn on Yonge St. at this meeting Mrs. Crow, sponsor of the work committee, the time to read a report on the work of the committee during the year. The report disclosed during the year the club the following articles for the Durham Hospital: side table covers, 31 towels, 20 face cloths, 12 towels, 12 doctors' towels cases, 4 dresser covers, 4 tains. Durham residents, and those who take any interest in local hospital, have been grateful to former residents of Toronto for this laudable interest in the old city and those who do little will no doubt be inspired reading this, to change and dig in with the community, and the Durham Toronto Club, in seeing the ham Red Cross Memorial receives more than a past and expression of its interest in the town. It takes supplies of various run a hospital, and the town of such an amount can scarcely be computed in dollars and cents. On behalf of the city, we extend the thanks of the community to the "old" residing in the Queen, their arms never grow numb, their needs never develop or their needles grow...
