The farmers have no leisure time to go chasing after that bear, neither have they firearms, hence, 'tis up to the idle sports around town to do a little "bunny-hunting" out of season.

Rev. M. Fiddis had a splendid message for Zionites on Sunday. Haying is over and 'tis quite a common statement with many fellows, "Oh, we had over fifty loads."

On Thursday evening last, there were showers to the north, showers to the south of the 6th con.; but there 'twas sunshine followed by mellow moonlight for Zion's garden party at the home of Mr. W. G. Greenwood.

A big crowd from town, village and surrounding countryside gathered, mingled and enjoyed a happy time together. Bunnies and Waudy played a few innings at a baseball match, the former huskies winning. The fair ones had ample supplies of good things, consequently all were well fed and attentively waited upon.

Rev. Mr. Fiddis arrived just in time to handle the program, which was varied with music, song and recitals. Miss Ethel Anderson appeared for the first time as a reciter and "made good".

Miss Lily Black added to her laurels and was warmly endorsed. Mr. Duncan McLean retains the fire and force of earlier years and gave a fine number. Instrumental music was supplied by Messrs. Kenneth Dunsmore and James Pearl, with Miss Marion Boyd as accompanist and their ever stirring numbers.

The duet by Misses Alice and Minnie Lennox took so well that they were forced to respond to an encore. Mrs. Earl Meade as accompanist, Mesdames T. Glenross and J. O. Greenwood had a fine number; Zion choir is growing in song power and their chorus was good.

Mackdale on Thursday night. A number from here attended the garden party at Priceville on Friday evening.

lemon juice. Strain and freeze. Raspberry and Currant Jam from Pulp

If desired, the pulp remaining after jelly has been made may be used for jam. Add water to prevent scorching and simmer for fifteen minutes. Measure pulp, and to two cups add 3 1/2 cups sugar. Mix well, bring to a full rolling boil and boil for one minute (full rolling boil). Remove from fire, stir in one-quarter cup commercial fruit pectin, skim and pour into sterilized glasses. Cover with smoking hot paraffin and store in a cool, dry place. This is excellent used as a cake filling or in steamed or boiled puddings. If desired, it may be lightly spiced.

rendered some very fine music on violin, guitar and piano. Master Plester of Swinton Park, on violin, was also good, and a sword dance in Highland costume by a young lad from Toronto was enthusiastically received.

Besides the programme a good supper was served from 6 to 8 o'clock and despite the cool evening the booth did a good business.

Knox, Normanby, Annual With a good crowd in attendance the annual garden party gathering of Knox Presbyterian church, Normanby, was held on Monday evening. On Sunday the anniversary services were held at which the services were taken by the Rev. F. G. Purvell, both morning and evening services being well attended.

The garden party on Monday evening was held on the grounds at Watson's school house and as usual a goodly crowd was in attendance. Among the numbers on the programme were the Palmerston choir and their selections were very much appreciated. The usual good Raspberry Muffins Three-quarters cup sugar, 3 table-spoons butter, 1 egg, 1 cup sour milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1 1/2 cups flour, 1 teaspoon soda, 1 cup fresh raspberries. Cream butter and sugar together; add well beaten egg and the milk; then add flour, cinnamon, salt and soda which have first been sifted together. Lastly, add the berries which have been slightly floured. Bake in muffin tins in a moderate oven. Sweet milk may be used instead of sour, and 3 level teaspoons baking powder used instead of the baking soda.—Mrs. G. B. Laurel, Ont.

Raspberry and Currant Sherbet Six cups red currants, 2 cups red raspberries, 2 cups water, 2 cups sugar, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 2 egg whites. Simmer the berries and water slowly. Strain, add the sugar and lemon juice and return to the fire, cook for five minutes, cool and freeze. When the mixture is stiff, but not solid, add the whipped whites and continue turning. Pack for at least an hour.

Raspberry and Currant Jelly Raspberries to supply the flavor and the currants the juice. This jelly makes a delicious flavoring for ice cream, as well as being good to eat as jam. It makes a very appetizing filling for sponge or other simple cake.

Use two and one-half quarts currants and 3 1/2 pounds raspberries. Crush the fruit; heat it slowly, stirring. Bring just to a boil. Rub through a sieve that will retain the seeds, then drip through a jelly bag. Use four cups juice, 5 cups granulated sugar and one cup commercial fruit pectin. Measure the juice and sugar into a large saucepan, stir and bring to a boil. Add commercial pectin, stirring constantly—boil for one-half minute (full rolling boil). Let stand one minute, skim and pour into sterilized glasses. Cover glasses with a clean tea-towel and let stand until almost cold; then cover with smoking hot paraffin, rolling the jar so that a solid covering is formed.

Raspberry Ice Four cups water, 1 2-3 cup sugar 2 cups raspberries, 2 tablespoons lemon juice. Make a syrup by boiling sugar and water together for twenty minutes. Cool, add raspberries, mashed, and squeezed through double cheesecloth, and programme was also presented by the excellent local talent in the vicinity, but with so many attractions it is impossible to be re-presented and as no one has furnished us with any of the particulars we are only able to deal with the matter generally. From what information we have been able to gather, the event was most successful and the congregation is to be congratulated on the close of another successful year.
