TALL VERSUS SHORT CORN

Tall corn is not an advantage; in fact it is a disadvantage. This is the conclusion of agronomists of the University of Nebraska who have been conducting experiments near Omaha. The above picture shows the two specimens of the same variety, one bred for shortness, and the other for tallness, over a period of twenty-five years.

Priceville

(Our Own Correspondent)

This Monday morning is dull and some light rain has fallen but not enough to do much good or harm. The majority are wanting a good rain as summer fallow and root ground are badly in need of rain.

A few of our Toronto week-end visitors were: Mr. and Mrs. H. B. McLean and daughter Anna, Miss Phoebe Livingstone, Miss Murray and Mr. Findlay McPhail and Mr. and Mrs. Whitlam. At this season people are leaving us for the big fair and for home. It has been wonderful holiday weather here for some weeks.

Ayer's Cliff, Quebec. — "I have been teaching for three years, and at the end of the year I always feel tired and have no appetite. I was a awful sick each month, too, having pains in my back until sometimes I was obliged to stop working. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I heard many women telling how good it was so I thought it would help me. And it did. Now I take six bottles every year and recommend it to others." — DONALDA FANTEUX, Ayer's Cliff, Quebec.

"Unable to Work" Canning, Nova Scotia. — "I had irregular periods and great suffering at those times, the pains causing vomiting and fainting. I was teaching school and often for some hours I would be unable to attend to my work. Through an advertisement in the papers I knew of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and it has been of great benefit to me, the troubles being completely relieved." — LAURA J. EATON, Canning, King's County, Nova Scotia.

CANADIAN ENTRANCE TO NIAGARA PEACE BRIDGE

Above we present our readers with a view of the Canadian end of the Niagara Peace Bridge, secured for us by our good friend, Mr. Charles Porter, of Buffalo. The photo is used by courtesy of the Buffalo Courier-Express and shows the entrance on the Canadian end of the bridge at Fort Erie. This bridge was but recently opened and was named the Peace Bridge in commemoration of the long years of peace that have obtained between Canada and the United States. These two countries are remarkable in that on the approximately 3,500 miles of international boundary there are no forts, soldiers, or military display of any kind, and haven't been for over 100 years. The photo, intended for an eight-column paper, is too large to be inserted in the usual position, and is run lengthwise in order that all of it may be shown and the beautiful entrance view to the bridge remain intact instead of being damaged by being cut down to the six-column size of The Chronicle, which is doubtless the only paper in this country to carry this illustration.
