This variety, while not so tall and vigorous a grower as Viking, has given excellent yields for several years. Its fruit is large and very firm, constituting the best shipping berry we have yet met. Any grower, who has not tried it. should make its acquaintance at once. Two other varieties should receive mention, one is the Victory. which so far is indistinguishable from the Cuthbert. The other is Latham, a very good variety which has proved exceptionally hardy. Whileit has all the merits of a first class sort it is not at all superior to Herbert under our conditions. and we cannot see any good reason for its replacing that sort.
