JUST SUPPOSE

If all that we say
In a single day,
Were printed each night
In clear black and white,
'Twould prove queer reading, no doubt.

And then just suppose,
Ere one's eyes could close,
He must read the day's record thru'
Then wouldn't one sigh,
And wouldn't he try
A great deal less talking to do?

And I more than half think
That many a kink
Would be smoother in life's tangled thread,
If one half that we say
In a single day
Were left forever unsaid.

Without Names

A married couple had engaged a cook. She was pretty, but her cooking was terrible, and one morning the bacon was burned to such a crisp as to be wholly inedible. "Dear," said the wife to her husband, "I'm afraid the cook has burned the bacon. You'll have to be satisfied with a kiss for breakfast this morning." "All right," responded the husband, "Call her in."

IN MEMORIAM

Giles—In loving memory of James Ronald Giles who departed this life January 17th, 1925.

Remembrance is a golden chain,
Death tries to break, but all in vain.
To have, to love and then to part
Is the greatest sorrow of one's heart
—Sadly missed by Wife

Lewis—In loving memory of George Lewis, who fell asleep January 17th, 1927.

Dear father, you are not forgotten,
Though on earth you dwell no more
Still in memory you are with us
As you always were before.
—Sadly missed by Wife and Family

THE BEE'S PART IN THE PRODUCTION OF CROPS

(Experimental Farms Note.)

How many of us, when eating a rosy-cheeked apple or juicy plum, ever think of the forces that combined to produce such luscious fruit? We see the growing plants, admire their loveliness when in bloom, and rejoice when they are laden with fruit, but the factors which aided in bringing about the final achievement escape us. One important factor in the production of fruit or seed is that of cross-fertilization. Experiments have shown that most of the fruit, some vegetable, and seed producing plants are partially or wholly self-sterile and, therefore, unable to produce fruit of themselves. It is also an accepted fact that those fruit or seed producing plants, which are self-fertile, will yield much more heavily because of cross-fertilization. To bring about cross-fertilization, the pollen or male element of one plant or flower must be conveyed to the pistil or female element of another plant or flower and the chief agents in such distribution are wind and insects. It has been shown that wind plays little or no part in the cross-pollination of the above-mentioned plants but that insects are of utmost importance. Of the many flower-loving insects the industrious and methodical honeybee is the most efficient pollen carrier; and in regions or seasons where wild bees are scarce or when frequently unfavorable weather during the blossoming period demands that pollination be accomplished quickly, a few hives of bees in or near the orchard or field are a necessity. Fruit and seed growers are aware of this fact and if they do not keep bees themselves are glad to have specialists beekeepers place their apiaries so that the bees may visit their trees or plants when in bloom. It has been estimated that bees are of equal value as agents in cross-pollination as they are as honey-producers.

NEWS 200 YEARS AGO

In connection with the 200th anniversary of the Maryland Gazette, which was celebrated at Annapolis a few weeks ago, some early copies of that newspaper were exhibited. The news and advertisements of that day were naturally quite different from what is found in current newspapers, as they reflected the customs and beliefs of their time.

W. R. F. CLARK
Bruce & Saddler Sts. Durham

One of the stories from Vienna told of the burning of several persons convicted of witchcraft, among them "a midwife who had baptized 2,000 children in the name of the devil." A local item related the experience of a negro slave who struck a white man in an argument over a dog fight. The negro was sentenced to have one of his ears cut off "pursuant to the law in such cases."

Among the advertisements was one announcing the arrival of a cargo of "about 200 choice slaves, which will be exposed for sale on Thursday the 22nd of this instant." In its issue of October 21, 1762, the Maryland Gazette published the news of the birth of a son to the British king and queen, which had occurred on August 12. The story bore the headlines: "Great Joy to the Nation! A Prince of Wales is Born. God Save the King." This was the dissolute and notorious character who afterwards became George IV.

The Maryland Gazette was frequently suspended for varying periods, but is still published and is credited by the Librarian of Congress with being "the dean of present-day American newspapers."—Lucknow Sentinel.
