Almost every farmer in the neighborhood is busy getting up a pile of circular wood at present. There will be the the annual spell of buzzing bees in the near future. The winter of 1928, up to the present time, has been a pleasure to live in. We had two or three years of an unusual amount of snow and rain and we prophesied a long spell of fine weather and we are sure getting it. Present indications point to an early spring, and we have a lingering feeling in the upper corner of our hat, that we. will be ploughing this year in the month of March.

We noticed of late some large tracks through the bush and swamp which may have been some of the wild animals spoken of in the big dailies. A little fresh snow was a hindrance to us detecting the real toe prints, but who knows, it may have been an elephant. If R. T. Edwards was responsible for the wild rumors in the Toronto Star. we would advise him to go helterskelter to the Star office and explain things, or give the loud command "Elephants in Glenelg swamp"
