Our Public School has been undergoing quite a change this past week. New metallic ceilings have been put in and walls and ceilings painted. We are pleased to say that the Continuation school is in a prosperous condition. No levy has been put on it for this year or last year except the 2 1/2 mills for debentures. Formerly there was a levy of $1000.
On Tuesday evening a large number of friends gathered in the Agricultural Hall to say farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Hildyard, who are moving this week to Grand Valley, where Mr. Hildyard has been engaged as principal of the Continuation school. A good program of music, readings and speeches was given. Mr. W. Hastie very ably acted as chairman. A special feature of the program was a chorus of pupils and former pupils of the Continuation school which was much enjoyed. Mr. and Mrs. Hildyard were presented with a beautiful electric floor lamp and little Kathleen with a very pretty bedroom lamp of Parisian ivory. The address was read by Mrs. Hostetter and presentation made to Mr. and Mrs. Hildyard by Alex. Sim and to little Kathleen by Margaret McPhaden. Mr. and Mrs. Hildyard thanked the friends for the gifts after which a number of speeches were given.

At the close of the program, coffee, cake and sandwiches were served.
To Mr. and Mrs. Hildyard
Dear Friends:
We have met here tonight that we may express our regret at your departure from amongst us. No doubt you will benefit by moving to a larger place, but we feel sorry to part with citizens who have always stood for everything that was just and upright. You have since coming amongst us always tried to help in everything that was for the betterment of our community. In your work as principal of our Continuation school, Mr. Hildyard, your teaching and example will no doubt bear fruit in the lives of the pupils whom you have had in charge. The respect and esteem in which they hold you bear testimony to this. And you, Mrs. Hildyard, have also won our respect and esteem. You have always been willing and ready to assist in every good cause. In church work, Women's Institute work and many other ways, your place will be hard to fill. We hope that both of you in your new sphere of work will not forget that there are many friends in Holstein who will always be interested in you; welfare.
To keep alive that remembrance we ask you to accept this electric lamp as a small token of our regard and we also ask little Kathleen to accept this bedroom lamp.
We wish God's blessing on your future lives and success in all your undertakings.
Signed on behalf of the community.
C. McLellan.

OLD-TIME RAISING WELL ATTENDED

Three Hundred People Present at Raising of Framework of Malcolm McKechnie's New Barn Thursday Afternoon—Was an Innovation for Many.

The old-time barn raising last Thursday afternoon at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm McKechnie was one of the events of the summer, and a large crowd was there from near and far to witness what was to many their first glimpse of a barn raising. A common sight forty years or more ago, today the raising of a barn is an event, and while there are not so many now who know very much about it, we believe there is just as much interest taken as ever.
Present at the raising on Thursday were over one hundred farmers and neighbors who were there to do the real work of the afternoon. There were, we were told, one hundred and twenty men who sat down to supper. Watching the raising, but not taking any part in the actual labor, were fully one hundred and fifty more. These included women and children from the adjacent territory, and those from town who went out after supper to take in the sight.
The raising was marred by one accident, Mr. James Crutchley being severely injured when a pike-pole broke, the heavy end coming down and striking him on the head, with the result that he received a scalp wound that required several stitches to close, as well as a broken nose and some bruises. He was taken to Durham hospital, where his wounds were looked after, and though an inmate for a day or two, is making good progress towards recovery. While painfully injured, Mr. Crutchley was not knocked out, and was able to walk to a car, and has since been able to be up and around.

An Old-Time Affair
The raising was gone ahead with in real old-time style. The bents were raised with the main strength of those assembled, assisted by pike poles, and it was marvellous the manner in which the crowd worked together, considering that there must have been many of the workmen who were assisting at their first raising. There were in all five bents and these were put up with a methodical regularity that was unceasing. Not only did this bespeak the handiness of those engaged at the raising, but also of the skill of the framer, Mr. Alex. Morton, under whose supervision the huge frame was put in position.
The barn, which replaces the one burned last fall when it caught from a threshing engine, is a larger structure than its predecessor, is built a different shape, and contains a larger number of square feet. The new building will be 50x62 with 20-foot posts, and is to be pushed to completion this fall to hold the present year's crop.
The raising was a big success from every standpoint, and following the completion of the work shortly before dark, nothing would do the big crowd but that Mr. and Mrs. McKechnie would open their house, the fiddles were taken from their places and young and old enjoyed a real old-fashioned dance until well on into the morning.
