Lively contretemps featured the annual convention of the National Boxing Association at Toronto this week when it was alleged by several delegates from Canada and the eastern states that Thomas A. Murphy, president of the Canadian Boxing Federation and a vice-president of the N. B. A., was being given a "raw deal" in not being allowed to step up to the presidency. Western delegates complained that the "constitution" prevented this. Paul Frenn of Chicago was the presidential choice. Mr. Murphy is shown here on the left and on the right is Thomas A. Donohue of Connecticut, retiring N.B.A. president.

WHO STARTED COUNTY SCHOOL FAIRS

Correspondent Asks T. S. Cooper to Settle Argument.—Both Letters Reproduced Below. Will Clear Matters.

The letter, a copy of which is enclosed, came to the office of the Agriculture Representative since the Championship School Fair. The reply is also enclosed at the request of the person asking for the information: Dear Sir:

I guess you do not know that a great many people claim that Miss Agnes Macphail is the one who started the School Fairs in Ontario and in Grey County. I always thought it was the Department of Agriculture.

We were arguing this point not long ago and to settle the matter I am writing to you to let everybody know the truth. I think it should be put in the paper. I would stop all this arguing. Please answer truthfully and oblige. I am. Yours very truly,

T. STEWART COOPER Representative for Grey County

Your letter of recent date to hand. I regret to learn that in any School Section in Grey County there should be any ratepayers who believe the School Fairs were started or are controlled in any way by Miss Agnes Macphail. She positively did not start them in Ontario or Grey County either and has nothing whatever to do with them.

School fairs were started in Waterloo County in 1909 by Mr. F. C. Hart Agricultural Representative Waterloo County. Three schools took part in the first School Fair. Our office records show that School Fairs were started in Grey County in 1913 by Mr. H. C. Duff who organized Egremont, Sydenham and Proton Schools. By 1915 Sydenham, St. Vincent, Derby, Normanby, Collingwood, Egremont, Proton and Markdale schools participated. During these years Miss Macphail was still going to High School at Owen Sound or attending Normal.

In 1917 and 18 Derby and Egremont dropped out of School Fair Work and remained out till 1921, when through the effort of myself these townships again organized. In 1920 when I first came Bentinck and South Proton

ALL TELEPHONE USERS CAN TALK TO EUROPE

For some weeks past the leading cities of Canada have been within reach by telephone of practically all the more important centres of Great Britain and Eastern Europe, but up to this time arrangements for bringing this trans-Atlantic service to telephone users at the smaller Canadian exchanges have been incomplete.

It is now announced by W. T. Saunders, local manager of Bell Telephone Company, that from Monday October, 15th, telephone users at all points served by the company will also be able to call, or be called by, any telephone in the European countries whose service has been linked up for trans-oceanic telephoning.

It is interesting to note that this amounts to in the number of telephones brought within the talking radius of Canadian subscribers. Great Britain, 1,600,000 telephones, Germany 2,850,000, Belgium 204,000, Holland 237,000, Switzerland 224,000, France (Paris) 318,000, Denmark (Copenhagen) 127,000, Norway (Oslo) 43,000, Sweden 163,000. Total in Europe 5,776,000.

The Canadian telephone user is also within reach through the instrument in his home or office with telephones in the Western Hemisphere as follows: United States 18,900,000, Cuba 72,000, Mexico 30,000, Canada 1,280,000. This makes the circle of oral communication of 26,048,000 instruments.

COURT SAYS MONEY MEANT FOR PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH When counsel appeared before Mr. Justice Wright for advice as to the disposition of certain bequests contained in the will of the late Peter Richardson of Listowel, at Osgoode Hall on Wednesday, the question arose as to what is meant by "home and foreign mission board".

Under the terms of his will, the testator directed that his widow take a life interest in the balance of the estate after certain legacies had been paid and that on her death, this balance was to go to the home and foreign mission board. The executors represented by D. Guthrie as counsel held that as the testator had drawn his will after the union of the Presbyterian and Methodist churches and that as he had continued as a member of a Presbyterian church, the board designated by the will should be that of the Presbyterian church.

Donald Ross, counsel for the public trustee, stated that the latter wished direction of the court so that any payments of moneys out of court should be made to the right party.

His lordship directed that the widow is to take a life interest with power to encroach upon the corpus or remainder of the estate.

"I think it is quite clear that the testator intended his money to go to the church of which he was a member, and which has a society by that name. I think, however, it would be proper to reserve judgment as to that branch of the case."

THE STORAGE OF VEGETABLES (Experimental Farms Note) A low temperature, slightly above freezing, is the best for the storage of all vegetables except squash and pumpkins, which keep best in a moderately warm room with dry air. It is not possible to store vegetables satisfactorily in a cellar containing a furnace, unless a room is partitioned off with access to the outside air for ventilation. It is better to store in a room with an earth floor, as this gives more humidity and less drying out of root crops, such as beets, carrots, and turnips. Onions, on the other hand, do best in a fairly dry air. Celery requires a storage room with a good circulation of air, and conditions which give dry foliage. It is necessary, however, that the roots of celery plants be in moist soil, so that the foliage will not wilt. To keep the roots moist and the foliage dry a reasonable circulation of air is necessary. Closed-up rooms invite decay if the temperature is high. Withering of root vegetables may be prevented by covering with sand or sawdust.

Leaving the storage room open, particularly at night, is advisable until freezing weather approaches, when a cotton screen may be placed over the window, which will aid greatly in giving a uniform temperature. Later the ventilators should be closed during very cold weather.

The larger the bulk of vegetables the greater the need for a ventilating system to give a rapid change of air and allow the escape of warm air resulting from storage. Slatted-bottomed shelves one foot apart for onions, and two feet apart for cabbage, give excellent storage facilities. Cabbage may also be tied roots up to cellar joists.

A small area of parsnips and leeks should be left for digging in the spring. The parsnips should be dug early in the spring, and placed in storage for later use.

Modern Alchemy He—My dear, our engagement must be off. A fortune-teller has told me I shall marry a blonde within a month. She—Oh, that's all right, I can be a blond within a month.

"You had better be X-rayed," said the doctor. "There's no need," signed the patient. "Get my wife; she's always able to see through me."

THRILLS AND MYSTERY IN "THE HAWK'S NEST"

Filmom's Famous Virile Star Gives Expert, Powerful Performance in New Type of Role in Wid Gunning's Story.

A new kind of underworld—that of a large city's populous and mysterious Chinatown—furnishes the background of "The Hawk's Nest" starring Milton Sills, which appears at the Veteran Star Theatre Friday and Saturday night.

This First National Picture marks a distinct departure for Sills, who appears in the early part of the story as a disfigured war veteran, with a make-up equally as good as anything Lon Chaney has achieved in recent years.

The story, which concerns two underworld resorts, operated largely to thrill tourists, is handled in unique manner by Benjamin Christensen, who achieves some of the finest trick camera effects that have been seen since "The Last Laugh" and "Variety". The air of Chinatown is symbolized as much by camera work as it is by actual Chinese architecture, the picture being given all the wired mystery of a "thriller" largely through such camera work.

Sills operates one of these underworld cafes for tourists, while Montagu Love, another underworld gangster, operates a rival establishment, which is attempting to put Sills' place "The Hawk's Nest" out of business through framing Sills' partner, played by Mitchell Lewis. The enmity between Sills and Love is deepened through Sills' protecting the dancer, played by Doris Kenyon, who is sought by Love.

Mystery, thrills and the tense atmosphere of the underworld furnishes the background for this fast-moving drama, one of the best in which Sills has appeared for many months. A particularly admirable performance is given by the distinguished Chinese actor, Sojin. The story is by Wid Gunning, who also produced the film for First National Pictures.
