could be secured next year. Mr. Bell did not go into the town affairs, but rather confined his remarks mostly to county business. He told of the attempt at the county council meeting to have more mileage taken over by the county as county roads but he opposed this. His contention was that the county should maintain and keep in good condition the roads they now have rather than take over new strips and neglect those already taken over.

wishing to get across from the Garafra road to Dundalk will be required to go five miles further than if the road went straight through. Regarding the paving of Lambton street from the Hahn House east, the speaker said there would be a 40-foot strip as far as the Registry Office, a 28-foot strip to Dr. Jamieson's corner and 20 feet to the edge of the corporation. Reeve Bell referred to the fact that ever since he had been a member of the County Council he had had a place on different important committees and this year was chairman of the finance committee.

Priceville

(Our Own Correspondent) The Presbyterian people of Priceville have planned a Watch-night Service at 11 o'clock p.m. This reminds us of the old days when the families gathered in church on New Year's eve. In the Old Country it is a very family custom to spend the last hour of the year in God's House, and after all there could we spend an hour to bear advantage. We need to implore the Divine blessing on us for the days that lie before us.

ELECTION CARD

To the Electors of Durham: Ladies and Gentlemen,—At the solicitation of a good many of the ratepayers I have decided to allow my name to stand as candidate for a position on the 1929 Council. I believe I am fitted to do my share in the transaction of the town's business and if you honor me with your support I promise the best that is in me to see that the business of the town is run economically and efficiently. I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

Your obedient servant, HERB MURDOCK.

Other speakers amongst those nominated were W. A. Macdonald, who declined to run, but who expressed himself favorably to town advancement and Herb Murdock who also favored paving and wanted to see it done right. Samuel Lowe was another nominee who appeared on the platform and criticised the financial statement for a couple of discrepancies which, however were not important. He made no statement as to his stand on the paving question and was the last man to speak.

Mr. Dan Sweeney had the misfortune to lose a fine young cattle beast this week.

On account of the illness of our pastor, Rev. MacWilliam, there was no service in our church here on Sunday.

Mr. Fred Shewell had his ankle sprained while walking down the church hill this week. We hope he will soon be able to be out again.

A number from here attended the dance at Haug's on Wednesday evening and report a good time.

Mrs. R. J. Corlett spent a few days recently with her daughter, Mrs. N. McDonald of South Bentinck.

A number of our young people are laid up with the flu at present. We hope this epidemic will not last long.

Mr. Exxie Sweeney has installed a chopper in our burg. We hope he will do a successful business.

One of the little Bolton girls, west of the burg, has been very sick and is under the doctor's care.

Mr. John Sullivan of Glenelg had his leg broken and is now an inmate of Durham hospital.

We regret to report this week the death of an old and well known former resident of Sullivan Township in the person of Mr. Patrick Malone who passed away last week at his home in Port McNichol. The late Mr. Malone was born in Sullivan township in 1843. He was a great politician and during the period of St. Wilfred Laurier he was given the Government office of collector of customs in Owen Sound where he resided for many years holding this position. Some years ago he moved to Port McNichol where he has resided up to his death.

Mr. Malone was married to Miss Isabelle Kelso of Owen Sound who, with two sons, survive. The remains were brought to the home of Mr. Charles Moran, a cousin of the deceased, and mass was celebrated at St. Paul's Roman Catholic Church here on Monday morning after which interment was made in St. Paul's cemetery. Deep sympathy is extended to all the bereaved relatives.
