ANOTHER RECIPE GIVEN FOR LONGEVITY

At eighty-six the Rev. Dr. George Alexander, of New York, does a full day's work, and finds time and strength to interest himself actively in many things outside of the sphere of the ministry. How does he do it? He seems to have harkened to the advice of "an old friend" who long ago admonished him: "When you get old eat half as much, sleep twice as much, drink three times as much water, and laugh four times as much." This epigrammatic counsel is worth heeding in spirit if not precisely in letter.

Paving Agreement Signed and Sealed

Dundalk's prospects of paved streets are growing brighter every day. On Monday night the agreement entered into by Grey County Council with the Municipality of Dundalk, for paving the county connecting link, was signed by the Reeve and Clerk and the corporation seal affixed thereto.

The agreement will have to be sanctioned by the Provincial Department of Highways before the work can be undertaken. There is little doubt but that the Department of Highways will look on the agreement with favor, as County Council voted on and passed the agreement at the final session of the council in 1929. The matter now rests entirely with the Department of Highways which will, in all probability, sanction the agreement and advertise for tenders in the near future.—Dundalk Herald.

Chesley Rink Collapsed Sunday

Last Sunday evening, about 8.30 o'clock, the Arena Rink, owned by William Lustig, collapsed under the weight of snow on the roof and now lies a total loss. For some years the east and west walls have settled quite noticeably and by many this doubtless is thought to be the cause of the collapse of the structure but this is incorrect as the big semi-circular wooden beams, which held the roof up, were sunk into cement abutments inside the brick walls and were built independently from them.

Ever since the present rink was built large quantities of snow did not remain long on the roof for a thaw or a bright sun soon caused it to slide off the roof which was of corrugated iron, but this year there was no sun or no thaw and the accumulated snow, estimated to weigh some 20 tons, became a dead weight and caused the collapse of the roof.

Visitors to the rink on Sunday afternoon noticed that the beams were buckling and did not remain long in the building, fearing for their safety. After evening church service some young lads stood outside the main entrance and were listening to the crackling sound made by the overstrained timber and were present when the roof gave way.

Covered as it was by its blanket of snow the effect was much like a bellows being compressed and the air rushed out the door with great force throwing one of the lads to the ground.

Only the front and rear walls, and that part of the building containing the dressing rooms and hockey rooms remained standing, the rest crashed on to the ice and pulled the side walls with it.

Work was commenced Monday morning clearing up the debris and it is thought that this will allow open skating to be carried on for the remainder of the winter. Mr. Lustig's loss will run into several thousand dollars but he is contemplating rebuilding and will have experts up next year to prepare estimates and costs on the construction on the present site of a bigger rink designed along the lines of those at Walkerton, Tara and Listowel. The present rink, or rather what is left of it was 180x72 feet in size and was built in 1913 to replace the old one which was blown down in the big wind storm of Good Friday of that year.—Chesley Enterprise.

THE COST OF REARING DAIRY HEIFERS

Fifty dollars may be regarded as a high price to pay for a yearling heifer but if she has been reared this far in a manner to give her proper development, this price is little enough. Indeed, when the costs are all taken into consideration there is no profit in selling a twelve months old heifer at fifty dollars. Records were kept of the cost of food consumed by six heifers of Ayrshire, Holstein and Shorthorn breeding from birth to one year of age.

They were fed whole milk valued at forty dollars per ton until from three to four weeks of age when this was gradually changed to skim milk valued at four dollars a ton. A fat substitute valued at seventy dollars a ton was added to the skim milk. This was fed until the calves were three months of age. It was composed of one part flax seed and four parts of crushed oats with the hulls sifted out. When the calves got older one part of crushed oats was replaced by corn meal. Each calf was fed from one quarter to one pound of this fat substitute per day, the amount depending on the age and condition of the calf. The coarser foods consisting of hay and roots were fed from the time the calves were able to use them. After the milk and milk substitute were discontinued in the liquid form the calves were fed a dry mixture consisting of three parts bran, two parts crushed oats, one part oil-cake, and one part brewers' grains. The aim in feeding was to keep the calves growing steadily.

In the account of this experiment which appears in the report of the Superintendent, Fredericton Experimental Station, for last year, published by the Department of Agriculture at Ottawa, it is shown that reared in this way the calves weighed an average of 633 pounds per head and that the year's growth had been produced at a cost of $46.04 for feed.

It was a heavy job taking care of the apartment house because she had to "fire two boilers" as well as do all the sweeping and cleaning for her husband is permanently disabled. A bad cold was the last straw that broke down her weakened constitution. Her doctor helped her get into the Toronto Hospital for Tubercular Diseases, for tuberculosis was now a trouble. Then she was sent to the hospital back to health.

Not an easy one for an elderly woman weakened with years of hard work, but it is just what she needed. The skilled doctors and nurses are often called upon to treat such cases. She was discharged after several months she was discharged, and she is now well again, able to take up the burden of her household again.

VISIT THE LAND OF SUNSHINE

Some people travel extensively—ocean cruises to far countries, Europe etc. Why not spend a few months this winter in California—the land of sunshine and play, where climatic conditions are unexcelled the year around? A fascinating country of great grandeur, colorful deserts, splendid cities and beautiful beaches where bathing is the universal pastime.

Golf, tennis and polo are also very popular while yachting, fishing and hunting can be enjoyed to the full. Dancing in the warm moonlit nights for those who choose.

When visiting California travel one or both ways via the Canadian Rockies and stop over at Vancouver and Victoria. Superb hotels, fine golf courses and magnificent scenery enroute make this well worth while.

Full information, literature, etc., will be gladly supplied by any Canadian Pacific Railway agent. 12 19 2
