GREY COUNTY O. E. A. MET HERE THURSDAY

Trustees and Ratepayers Had Good Discussion in Town Hall at Well Attended Meeting.—Rain and Threatening Weather Kept Many Away.

The Grey County branch of the Ontario Educational Association met in Durham on Thursday afternoon of last week in the town hall. There are 30 different branches in the Ontario Association, and this branch meeting was for trustees and ratepayers. The president, Mrs. Herb. Corbett, of Proton Station, was in the chair.

An orchestra from Proton was present and gave some excellent music at various intervals. Mr. H. H. Byers, of Meaford, secretary read the minutes of the last annual meeting. Mr. Crane, Chatsworth, and Mr. Jolly, of Meaford, were appointed auditors and later gave the financial report.

Reeve Bell brought greetings from the town and hoped they would have a very fine session. Mr. W. R. Reed of Ridgetown, a member of the school board of the Agricultural Vocational school, spoke first on the need of agricultural vocational training and said in the industrial world education had advanced more rapidly than in agriculture. When the day of apprenticeship ended and there was need of trained men in every vocation, immediately technical schools were opened in every city. This is more easily accomplished in the cities because there are hundreds waiting to take the classes.

There are thousands of children who never pass the entrance and one or two years in High school. It is for this class, that vocational training is needed, and the country child should have the same advantage as the city child. Four years ago the O. E. A. approached the Department of Education of Ontario asking for an agricultural vocational training school, and were granted one. The government built the school and equipped it and the local board had to find the pupils and plan their own course.

They received partly the same training as in the High school. Seven subjects are the same. The boys take up a great many subjects directly on Agricultural lines and training in mechanics in the workshop. The girls take up domestic science, millinery and cooking, along with High school subjects. After two years if they desire to go on with High school work exclusively, they are ready for Middle school. A full course is four years. It has been found that many who would not study in High school have been most interested when they are pupils in the vocational.

The Department of Education is very much interested in this work, but they need the support of the agricultural people. A discussion followed this splendid address and many questions were asked the speaker. There was an enthusiastic desire expressed by the meeting that something should be done to get this kind of school in Grey county. Mr. Reek was given a hearty vote of thanks.

Dr. Fraser, of the Department of Health, was then called upon for an address. He said that the rural health departments were not keeping pace with the urban departments. More sickly children have been found lately in the country schools than in the city. We would get a great deal further in public health if there was not so much public indifference. The public health nurse now takes the place of what was known as the school nurse. She does very little nursing. Her duty is to educate the people. Her field of activities are as follows: First, the care of expectant mothers; second, infant care; she visits the homes where there are babies and gives advice and direction; third, care of the pre-school child, and fourth, she looks after the health of children in the school, teaches health rules and keeps in touch with every teacher in her district.

Dr. Fraser told them how to go about getting a public health nurse. A couple of townships, a village or a town could go together and get a nurse. A discussion followed this address and questions were answered by the speaker. A splendid discussion followed of various school questions, and the following resolutions were brought in: First, that the rural sections of the O.E.A. have equal representation with the urban centres on the resolution committee.—Carried. Second, this organization would suggest that one afternoon at the meeting of the Ontario Educational Association be given over for the discussion of resolutions.

The election of officers: President, Mr. Herbert Corbett, Proton Station; Vice-Pres., Mr. T. R. Richardson, Markdale; Sec.-Treas., Mr. H. H. Byers, Meaford.

The members of the orchestra were Earl and Eldon Blackburn and Russell White. Two humorous readings were given by Mr. S. Doran of Woodford. These entertainers were all given a vote of thanks.

Invitations for next year were from Desboro, Meaford, Durham, and Eugenia. Eugenia Park was chosen. This session was so educational that it was regrettable that more of the trustees and ratepayers were not present.
