OLD-FASHIONED MOTHERS ARE BEST SAYS MATRON

This is supposed to be the children's era, writes an English matron in the London Daily Mail, Modern mothers attend lectures and study endless treatises on children. Their lunch-time conversations revolve round the newest scientific methods of feeding and the psychological management of the nursery. All their children are supposedly highly strung or suffering from acidosis, or from being "only" children. They never dream of doubting that the new methods of upbringing are proving superior to the oldfashioned ones.

children rule us. An early bedtime, an old-fashioned, perhaps drab, routine life, and a little natural healthy love and common-sense would do far more good than these theories applied by amateurs.

I heard the other day of two parents, both with practical experience children, who considered themselves experts. Anxious to avoid "don't" and "inhibitions" they designed a safety nursery, one where "no" need never be said. All day long their child, when old enough, was encouraged to express and develop his personality. He was never checked or scolded. What was the result? A nerve-ridren, uncontrolled child, a pathetic little boy who sensed with a child's unerring instinct that he was the centre of two people's lives; two parents whose absorption made them narrow and dull. In short, three miserable, overstrung, self-centred people, the youngest utterly unprepared to meet the "noes" that must come to all of us as we grow up. Give me a jolly, healthy child, not a noisy, bumptuous one whose "self-expression" takes the form of a constant desire to annoy those in authority. Let me, when his high spirits overshoot the mark, give him a sharp reminder in the hour was spent.

BAPTIST LADIES' AID The Ladies' Aid of the Baptist church held their annual picnic Tuesday afternoon, August 12th, on the beautiful lawn at the home of the President, Miss Eva Redford. The day was ideal and a good crowd gathered. The early part of the afternoon was spent in games. About 4.30 quite a pleasant event took place. It being the 80th birthday of

The topic was taken from the last chapter of the study and was in charge of Mrs. Mather and it told of the conference at Jerusalem in 1928. Fifty one nations were represented and of these about one half were from Oriental countries, among them being 34 women. Mrs. Mather gave a very interesting presentation of the subject. Prayer was offered by Mrs. John Bell, followed by a short talk from Mrs. Bell telling something of the work in her immediate district. Mrs. W. Derby spoke on the Temperance leaflet and Mrs. Bell as secretary of finance spoke of the different talents and the use we may, and should make of them.
