FINISH IN BEEF STEERS
Finish in the beef steer is indicated by a well-covered back and smoothness over the rump and pinbones. Rolls of fat at the sides and at the tail head are objectionable. Fullness at the base of the tongue and at the neck vein, a low full flank, a full twist and a bulging or thickness at the thigh all indicate that the animal has reached the maximum weight for profit.

'Tis winter at last and the boys sing "Oh, ain't we glad."

Woodbees are the ruling social event of late. Messrs. John Timmins, W. J. Greenwood, Hugh McArthur, E. R. Peart, James Peart, John O'Neil and others have had big piles slived up.

Lately, we had occasion to call on a few of our farm neighbors and naturally had a look over the stock. Mr. Wm. Paylor has one of the most promising Hereford sires ever brought into the township; six head of tidy butcher cattle, trimmed and curried and fat; 18 porkers soon ready to ship and all stock in prime condition.

Mr. Paul Nelson and nephew Rob. Jackson specialize in horses and will make it lively for competitors at the fall fairs. Mr. Alfred O'Neil shipped 15 head of handy butchers and Mr. Arch Beaton ten head, Mr. John O'Neil two weighty ones, recently, and struck a dull market. They managed to win 5c a pound.

Mrs. R. T. Cook left last Saturday to spend some time with kindred in Toronto.

Mr. George Henry, whose death notice appeared in last week's issue of the Chronicle was one of the hardest pioneer sons, Glenelg ever knew. Born near Ottawa nearly 83 years ago, eldest son of the late Thomas Henry, the family moved first to Walkerton and then to Glenelg, occupying the farm on which No. 5 school now stands. He was the contractor for the building of the stone school erected in 1877 and the noted stone mason, Mr. James Laidlaw and his son, Magistrate W. Laidlaw of town did the mason work.

In February 1879 he was happily wedded to Eliza, eldest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Elias Edge and a few years later, they moved to near Lucknow, where they met with good success. Mrs. Henry died suddenly in February 1919 and later he wedded her sister, Lucinda, who passed away in October, 1926. Since then he has made his home with his sisters Mrs Irwin near Lucknow and Mrs. Barclay in Dunganon. Since last September he had made his home with his brother Rob. The funeral took place Friday afternoon to Dunganon cemetery and was largely attended. Mr. Will Henry of Flesherton is a brother and he and members of the family were down to the funeral.

The Edwards home received another sad message on Saturday announcing the death on Friday evening of Mr. John Warnock of Caledon, after a six months' severe suffering from internal cancer. He was wedded to Bertha A. Whittaker about thirty years ago, spent their early wedded years on the farm, then moved into Caledon. For a number of years he has been road superintendent and was highly esteemed. He was an ardent member of the Orange Order, took an active part in church work and was highly esteemed by his fellows. The funeral under Orange auspices took place to Forest Lawn Cemetery, Orangeville, on Monday afternoon. Mrs. C. W. Rutledge of Markdale went down on Thursday prior to his death and remained over till after the funeral. The sympathy of a wide circle of friends hereabout goes out to his sorely bereaved partner, who has had a heavy burden during the past six months. He was sixty-five years of age.

Mrs. Mark Wilson of Flesherton spent Thursday last week at the McClocklin home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Cook visited a couple of days last week with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. McFadden and family of Orange Valley.

About twenty-eight ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Colin McArthur last Thursday. After the officers of the Ladies' Aid held their meeting, the ladies quilted a quilt and a sociable afternoon was spent together. The hostess and assistants served a tasty luncheon. Mr. McArthur is feeling much better in health and was able to enjoy himself among the fair ones.

We failed to get a budget out last week and one item of interest to many is therefore inserted this week. On Friday evening, January 29th, Zionites held their annual congregational meeting. A goodly number were present and the Rev. W. C. Almack ably presided in a most genial manner and rushed through a lot of business. The general support of the church was fairly good and enough has been promised to balance accounts. The M. and M. fund was somewhat below previous years. The officers elected for 1932 are: Stewards, Messrs. W. R. Jack, Arthur Robinson and R. T. Edwards; Ushers, Messrs J. C. Cook and James Peart; assistant Ushers, O. D. Peart and J. R. Edwards; Representative of the Trustee Board, Mr. Thos. Glen-cross; Envelope Stewards, Mesdames W. J. Greenwood and J. C. Cook, to whom a most hearty vote of thanks was tendered for past services. Auditors appointed for next year are, Charles G. Robson and O. D. Peart.

The Sunday school had an excellent report, the attendance being good, and the finances in a most healthy condition. Total receipts for the year including balance from former year were $145.66, expenses $91.23, leaving a snug balance of $54.43. The school was reorganized and the following officials and teachers elected: Supt. Miss Mina Edwards; Asst. Supt., Mrs. J. C. Cook; Sec.-Treas., Cameron G. Robson; Librarian, Mrs. Hugh McArthur; Organist, Miss Clara Jack; Grade Roll Superintendent, Mrs. A. Robinson; Temperance Superintendent, Mrs. W. J. Greenwood. The teachers for the past year were all reappointed as follows, Mrs. J. C. Cook, Miss Margaret Anderson, Mrs. W. J. Greenwood, Mrs. A. Robinson, Mrs. O. D. Peart, Mrs. W. R. Jack and Mrs. J. R. Edwards.

Mr. E. R. Peart had a good report of the Epworth League's work and finances. There are 38 members enrolled, regular meetings held every Sunday evening from May to October, inclusive, and a social meeting once a month through the winter. The receipts for the year were $126 and the payments $115.44. The officials of the league were elected as follows: President, Miss Ethel Anderson; Vice-Presidents, Miss Bertha McNally, Miss Clara Jack, Charles Timmins, Miss Gladys Pirih who has proved a splendid leader of that department; organist, Mrs. James Peart; Sec.-Treas., E. R. Peart. The meeting adjourned and a tasty luncheon was served.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the Allan Park school on Friday evening when a large crowd gathered for the A. Y. P. A. box social. The social was preceded by a short program for which Rev. Mr. Allison of Hanover acted as chairman in his usual capable and jovial manner and kept the audience in constant good humor by his exhilarating remarks. The first item was a reading by Oscar Moon, followed by a duet by Douglas Donnelly and Harvey Smith with guitar accompaniment by Harvey Smith. Next was a song by James Langrill, accompanied by himself on the guitar. A recitation was given by Ernie Brigham, after which Eric Wise and Wilfred Alexander in comic costume rendered a duet with accompaniment by Wilfred Alexander. Miss Mary Hazlett then favored the audience with a song, accompanied by Harvey Smith on guitar.
