

HYMENEAL

MORRISON—LENNOX

The home of Mr. and Mrs. James Lennox, Mount Forest, was the scene of a pretty Easter wedding last Saturday afternoon, March 26, at four o'clock, when their youngest daughter, Margaret Mary, was united in marriage to Irwin Allen Morrison, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Morrison, of Arthur township. The ceremony, which took place in the living-room of the home, tastefully decorated for the occasion, was performed by Rev. Elwood Lawson of the United church. There were no attendants. The bride was given in marriage by her father, and the wedding march was played by her sister, Miss Dorothy Lennox.

The bride looked lovely in her wedding gown of white georgette, made on long simple lines, with long sleeves, and bridal veil caught with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

After the ceremony, and congratulations had been extended the newly-married couple, a buffet luncheon was served and an hour spent in social intercourse. Later the bride and groom left on a motor trip for southern Ontario points, and on their return will commence home-making on their farm in Arthur township, near Mount Forest.

Those in attendance from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. O. Stephenson, son Kenneth and daughter Joanne, and Mrs. George Cady, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Spittal, Wingham; Mr. Haddo Elliott, Kenilworth; Miss Barbara Ritchie, and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Irwin, Durham.

The ceremony was of more than passing interest to residents of Durham, where the bride has been a resident for the past five years and a half, particularly to the Chronicle office, where she was a most efficient member of the staff. During her residence in town Mrs. Morrison was an active worker in Knox United church, being president of the Young Woman's Auxiliary for the past two years, and was a most popular member of the town's younger set, among whom she was held in the highest esteem. Many friends here join with those in Mount Forest in wishing Mr. and Mrs. Morrison every happiness and prosperity.

If men had the courage of their convictions, many of them would be convicts.

THIRTIETH ANNIVERSARY OBSERVED THURSDAY

ings were happy affairs, and still were. She told of the talent discovered in the individual members, and spoke of the first meetings held in Durham and Dromore. Miss Renwick gave some personal reminiscences, among them of having risen at one of the meetings to inquire what a "casserole" was. The term had been used by a speaker, but neither the speaker or anyone present could tell her.

Mrs. James Mather proposed the toast "Our Sister Branches in South Grey."

She told of the forming of the different branches and the subsequent growth of the society in this riding. Mrs. W. H. Rogers of Holstein was the first district president and occupied the position for five years. The Durham branch was formed in 1902, Elmwood in 1903, and Holstein in 1905. There were at present 16 branches in South Grey.

Mrs. W. J. Derby spoke on the county and provincial conventions and told of the great work performed by the officials and secretaries of the different branches, of the work accomplished and of the loyalty exhibited among the members.

Miss M. McGirr said that the branch in Kemble, in North Grey, was the first in the county of Grey and the third to be formed in the world. In 1930 there were 30 branches in Canada, in 1905, 213, and in 1932 there were 11,000. Not only this, but the Institute has spread all over the civilized world.

Amongst those unable to attend, but who sent greetings, were Mrs. J. A. Graham, Durham; Mrs. R. Pettigrew, Victoria, B.C.; Mrs. Thomas Brown, Gary, Indiana; Mrs. Stanley Mead, Unity, Sask.; and Mrs. F. M. Harrison, Shallow Lake. They assured the gathering they would be thinking of them, and it may be a satisfaction for the absent ones to know that the gathering thought of them at their anniversary meeting. These greetings were read by the present secretary, Mrs. J. F. Giles.

The speaker of the evening, Miss Macphail, was introduced by Mrs. W. B. Patterson of Egremont, who said it was most fitting that the only woman members of the House of Commons, and the representative for South Grey should be present. Mrs. Patterson said the Women's Institute had been a power in the world, and had been instrumental in securing the franchise and other rights not previously enjoyed, even, she said, to the election of Miss Macphail as the representative of this riding.

Gracing the head table was a large three-story birthday cake, on which were 30 candles, all lighted at the proper time by Miss A. Renwick. The cake was the work of Mrs. W. J. Derby, Mrs. John Milligan and Mrs. J. Mather, and during the evening the top storey was presented Miss Macphail on behalf of the Institute by Mrs. J. C. Hamilton, this being also Miss Macphail's birthday, "how many" not being announced, though Miss Macphail admitted it would be the full "thirty," the number being celebrated by the Institute.

General regret was expressed at the meeting over the absence of Mrs. V. Damm, Ayton, the district president, and Mrs. F. Sutton, county president.

Features on the programme were: A piano solo by Miss Elsie Kearney; solo, "In the Garden of Tomorrow," by Mrs. T. M. McFadden, Mrs. J. H. Harding, accompanist; solo, "The Perfect Day," Miss Winnie Blyth, Miss M. L. Hunter, accompanist, and a reading, "Dr. Johnson's Cow," by Mrs. B. Stonehouse.

The meeting marked the close of three decades of activity by the Durham Women's Institute, and at the close a vote of thanks to those who took part, and to the Institute for the excellent banquet, moved by Mr. James Mather and seconded by Mr. W. J. Ritchie, was carried. The singing of the Institute Ode, with accompaniment by Miss Leah McComb, closed a most interesting meeting.

MILVERTON QUALIFIES FOR SENIOR CHAMPIONSHIP

ineligible players in both games. One is a resident of Stratford and works there regularly and the other resides in Sebringville and was signed to play intermediate O.H.A. with Mitchell this season. No notice has been received up to the time of writing as to when the protest will be heard.

Noted Coach in Town

A noted visitor who attended the game Thursday was "Bill" Hancock, coach of the Newmarket juniors this season and who a couple of years ago took the Walkerton intermediates to the O. H. A. championship finals. "Bill" was looking over the two teams and more particularly the local junior defense man, Dean, whose reputation has evidently been heard of in higher circles.

THE ADVANTAGES OF EARLY HATCHING

(Experimental Farms Note)

Pullets are almost the only source of eggs during the fall and early winter months. Hens are sure to moult at that time of the year, and they may take about three months to go through the complete moult. It is therefore important that farmers and commercial poultrymen should have their pullets hatched early enough to begin laying in time for the high prices which usually prevail in November, December and January. Eggs laid in March and April do not bring very high prices, and a pullet that does not lay until after the first of the year may never justify her existence.

The best results can never be obtained if pullets are forced to lay before they are mature. Such birds are usually more susceptible to disease and are more easily thrown off their laying than are birds which have reached a good size. A pullet cannot, even under summer conditions, lay on flesh, grow feathers, and produce eggs at the same time so it will be almost impossible to get eggs in winter from the late hatched pullets. A good early hatched pullet should be well matured at the time that heavy egg production is wanted.

Leghorn pullets and pullets of similar breeds hatched about the middle of April and properly handled will be just about ready to start producing in October. Heavier breeds such as Plymouth Rocks, Rhode Island Reds and White Wyandottes will usually require about an additional month for growth.

At the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, Alberta, a test has been conducted over a seven-year period to determine the best date for incubation with regard to fertility and hatchability of eggs, and viability of chicks. White Wyandottes hatching eggs are set during March, April, May and June, and records kept of the results of fertility, hatchability and mortality of chicks to six weeks of age for each month. The hatching results for May were slightly below the average of the other two months. The mortality in June hatched chicks was very high, partly for the reason that in very warm weather it is impossible to properly regulate the brooder temperatures. June hatched chicks also lacked vitality and were unsatisfactory as layers. March and April hatched pullets which started to lay from October 1 to November 30 made on the average the best winter records, while from the standpoint of annual egg yield the advantage lies with those which started laying before November 15.

BLACK KNOT OF PLUMS

Dr. L. W. Koch, formerly of Durham Tells How to Control Black Knot: This disease is manifested by the formation of gall-like swellings on the twigs and larger branches of plums and cherries. The galls, which appear first in April and May, are yellowish in color but later they become dark green due to the development of the fungus on the surface. During the fall and winter, knots become dark in color and hard in texture.

Investigations of this disease conducted by the Laboratory of Plant Pathology, St. Catharines, of the Division of Botany, Experimental Farms Branch, have shown the following measures to be effective in controlling black knot.

(1) The surgical treatment of affected parts an essential control.

In this type of treatment several features should be kept in mind: (a) That the fungus is perennial in diseased branches; (b) That one crop of fungus spores (the means by which the disease spreads) matures when the young knots turn green in color; (c) That a second crop of spores matures very early in the spring on old black knots. Therefore, all knots should be pruned out in February or March. Branches should be cut several inches below the visible swelling. All prunings should be collected and burned because it has been proved that the spores of the fungus ripen on the brush pile if allowed to remain there. A second inspection should be made in the fall and any new knots that have formed during the summer should be cut out.

(2) Spraying to prevent new infections.

Spraying is necessary in addition to pruning in order to get best results. We would suggest that the first application, consisting of lime sulphur (1.15) be made in March or April, just before the buds swell. A second application consisting of lime sulphur (1.40) should be made in May before the young knots become green in color.

The cutting out of affected wild cherries or plums adjacent to cultivated orchards is also an essential control measure.
