

CANADA AT THE OLYMPIC GAMES

The Canadian athletes are still making themselves heard at the Olympic games now in progress at Los Angeles. While they have only garnered one Olympic title, that of the men's high jump, they have been making a very creditable showing in the various events, and in numerous cases have made the contests very interesting for the winners. In addition to the list published last week, the following are the Canadian results to date:

- 1,500 metres for men—Phil Edwards, Hamilton, third.
80 metres hurdles for women—Ada Wilson, Montreal, sixth.
400 metres for men—Alex. Eastman, third.
5,000 metres for men—Robt. Rankine, Preston, tenth.
400 metre relay for women—Canada second.
400 metre relay for men—Canada fourth.
1,600 metre relay for men—Canada third.
High jump for women—Eva Dawes, third.
Springboard Diving for men—Alfred Phillips, fourth.
800 metre relay free style swim for men—Canada fifth.
Lacrosse—Canada won and lost—first game U. S. 5—Canada 3; second game Canada 5—U. S. 4.
The Canadian rowing representatives are in the running, Joe Wright, Jr., qualifying for the single sculling finals. Up to the time of writing the eight-oared crews had not been in action. The yachting crews are also doing well, standing among the leaders in their respective classes.

Some books are to be tasted, others to be swallowed, and some few to be chewed and digested.

Furniture Co. Wins Sudden Death Playoff

Won 10-9 from Bachelors Who Almost Forced a Tie and Another Game.

Tuesday night the Furniture Co. earned the right to meet the Hockey Club in the three-game final series for the Town League championship and cup. The game, which was originally billed for Friday evening, but postponed on account of rain, did not get away on time and as a result had to be called on account of darkness at the end of the eighth. And the way the Bachelors were going in the last inning it is doubtful if the Factory men could have held them had the full nine innings been played.

For the first couple of innings the Bachelors were in the lead, but in the third, a couple of fumbles, and several timely hits put the Factory in front 3-1. In the next two innings they increased the lead to 5-1, and then the Bachelors spurted and pulled the lead down to 5-3. This seemed to be their final effort, however, because the Furniture boys gradually increased their lead until going into the eighth inning the score stood at 10-3. In the last of the eighth, the Bachelors, in a do-or-die spirit, and favoured to some extent by the gathering dusk, staged a fighting rally, and before the third man was put out, shoved six runs across the plate, making the final verdict 10-9. At this point the "Umps" conferred and deciding that the darkness was not conducive to good ball playing called it a game. As mentioned before, it is somewhat doubtful as to what the final result would have been had the final inning been played.

First Final Game Tuesday The first of the final series is set for next Tuesday evening. Owing to the Sports Day this (Thursday) afternoon, it was not considered wise to start the finals tomorrow (Friday) night. Unless otherwise arranged the first two games will be played next Tuesday and Friday evenings between the Hockey Club and the Furniture Co. If a third game is necessary the date will be announced after the second game.

OLYMPIC OFFICIALS HAVE RECORD OF THEIR OWN

While the athletes gathered at the Olympiad are setting new world records every day, the officials in charge of the games are also getting in the spotlight with a record of their own—for blundering. Ed Allan, sports editor of the Mail and Empire has the following to say in this regard: "All the Olympiad officials need now is a little luck and they will have a world record all their own—a new high in blundering that should stand for full many an Olympiad. Athletes have been smashing so many records into small bits that the prodigious feats of officials have been practically neglected. But the 3,000 metre steeplechase finals brought into the open what appeared to be a stirring little contest among the arbiters, an old game known as "errors."

Strangely enough, greatest honors thus far have been won by a comparative newcomer who served anonymously as alternative lap checker. (A lap, if you please, means once around the track). Although lacking the experience of a lot of other officials, he succeeded in working in an extra lap of about 410 metres into the 3,000-metre steeplechase event, a feat no other lap checker has been able to duplicate. This caused Volmari Iso-Holo, the sturdy Finn, who won the event, extra lap and all, to lose what possibly was an Olympic record in the distance and is cost Joe McCluskey of Fordham University, second place in the race. With a start like that and proper training for a few years, the unknown lap checker has a brilliant future as an all-round official. His record has been the very ultimate, as officials figure it, but some of the others have turned in extremely creditable performances. Just as an instance, there was the man who placed Ralph Metcalf, the Marquette negro, four feet behind the others in a staggered lane in the 200-metre dash. Metcalf, starting even, might have finished either first or second in the event. As it was, he came in third. These were individual efforts, but the officials have showed pretty good team work, too. When Jules Noel of France heaved a mighty heave in the discus all the officials who had been getting in his way in his preliminary throws were looking at the pole vaulting. He had to make the throw over again, and he was pretty mad about it, too. Just as the steeplechase bobbling was the best of the bunch, the official explanation of it merits note. The officials said the reason an alternative was checking laps because the regular checker—and the Olympic games are held only every four years—had the day off!"

TAKE NO CHANCES

Take no chances when swimming. Take no chances by being careless when on or in the water. The other day one of the greatest swimmers on this continent, Johnny Weissmuller, said: "I am a champion swimmer, yet I would no more swim a half mile from shore alone without a boat in attendance than I would put a loaded gun to my head and pull the trigger. It is as dangerous as that. Don't show off, and just keep cramps in the back of your mind when you are tempted to swim out of sight or aid of others." Are ordinary folk as careful as Weissmuller? His advice—the advice of a champion—should be taken to heart.—Exchange.

Knox Corners

(Our Own Correspondent) Our pastor spoke on Sunday from the words "And it shall be better for you at the end than at the beginning." How often the Christian feels that these words are contradictory to the experiences of life, with its trials and temptations, and yet those who have faithfully followed the Master, can say with Paul, that "All things work together for good to them that love God" and after the care and disappointments of this life are over, they can look forward to that glorious life beyond.

Glad to have a full choir on Sunday, and they sang "Will There Be Any Stars in My Crown?"

After the roll call was called the minutes of previous meeting were read and adopted. The secretary read several letters of thanks from members receiving letters of sympathy in the time of trouble.

The club has arranged for a progressive euchre party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Turnbull on August 23. A small admission will be taken at the door for over twelve years of age. Lunch will be served and dancing will be the remainder of evening sport.

Miss Mary Hopkins, delegate to Ottawa, gave a wonderful report of the conference held on July 16. The Club gave her a hearty handclap for the report and also for her home. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Ben Coutts on September 2. The program was called off owing to the electric storm and lunch was then served by the hostess and assistants. "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" closed the meeting.

The club picnic held at the river on the farm of Mr. George Mighton in July was a success. This is an ideal place for a picnic and people from all points are taking advantage of this beautiful place.
