Priceville

(Our Own Correspondent)
The induction of Rev. Mr. MacIvor to the Priceville and Swinton Park congregations took place last Wednesday evening at Swinton Park, when a very large crowd from both congregations were present. The moderator, T. O. Miller from Markdale, conducted the opening exercises and cited the steps taken in calling a minister. Rev. Mr. Goodwill, of Hillsburg, presented the usual questions as to belief, doctrines and loyalty, which were freely answered. The address to the congregation was given by Rev. Mr. Goodwill and he assured the congregations that the new incumbent was a good leader and a good shepherd. God expects the same attitude to his minister as to Himself; as a King does his Governor-General. He said since more good is obtained by prayer the hearers should make four requests to bless by prayer, his sermon, his ministry, his prayer and presence. Rev. Mr. Grant, Erin, addressed the minister and he congratulated him on his call and hoped that in the future he would be blessed in his new work. The call is to preach the Gospel earnestly. God's word that has the test for ages is to carry the Gospel to the young people, the coming leaders of the church. Rev. Mr. Honeyman, of Dromore, was also present and led in prayer. The choir along with the congregation sang a number of suitable hymns. A bountiful lunch was served by the Swinton Park ladies.

WOMEN ON THE STAGE

Women were first permitted to act on the English stage as early as 1565. Flaminia set the fashion for women actresses in Italy, but England's attitude was conservative. It was not until 1656 that Mrs. Coleman took the part of Ianthie in "The Siege of Rhodes" at Rutland House, thus paving the way for others. In 1662 a Royal patent decreed "all women's parts to be acted by women;" after that the stage was flooded with actresses.

John: "I'm afraid that new household of yours is dishonest, Mary."
Mary: "Oh, John, you shouldn't judge by appearances."
John: "No, my dear, I am not. I am judging by disappearances."
