Car Crashes Into Train at Ripley

On Tuesday afternoon a serious accident was narrowly averted at the railway crossing in Ripley, when a car driven by C. McDonald, of Detroit, collided with the moving train. The car was evidently travelling at a good rate of speed, as it skidded over forty feet after the brakes had been applied. The speed being retarded by this time, the bumper of the car struck the train coach, it bounced, back, causing no serious damage, with the exception of a bent bumper and scratched fender.—Kincairdine News.

Murder Is Theory in Finding Bones

While Dundas workmen were engaged in grading the land north of the Grove cemetery, which the town recently bought for a cemetery addition last week, the bones of a man were turned out from a comparatively shallow grave. From general indications the man must have been buried sitting up. The fact that old hand-wrought nails were found near the remains indicates that it was buried a long time ago, probably in a box like a modern packing case with the body doubled up.

Supt. Watson of the cemetery says the man's head was of peculiar shape, with one side of the head indented. It is thought possible the man was murdered, doubled up in the box and buried in this lonely spot.

The spot where the bones were found was reputed in early days to be the site of an Indian encampment and years ago antiquarians wanted to carry on excavations but the owners at that time refused permission.—Orangeville Sun.

BIGGER AND BETTER ACCIDENTS THE PENALTY FOR FOOL DRIVING

In twenty-three months since accident reporting was made compulsory in Ontario, there have been over 16,000 serious accidents reported to the Motor Vehicles Branch. These accidents have taken over 1,000 lives and brought injury to almost 15,000 others, declared Thomas J. Mahony, M.L.A., president of the Ontario Motor League and chairman of the Highway Advisory Board of the Government in a radio address as part of the Ontario Highway Safety Campaign, sponsored by the Motor Vehicles Branch, Department of Highways, Ontario Government.

President Mahony drew attention to the fact that "it is the reckless driver who gives many of the so-called dangerous locations their reputation. Railroad crossings where the view is obstructed, blind curves and similar hazards are met with added care by the safe driver—but they are all the same to those people who seem to remember nothing about driving a car except the position of the accelerator," and also that "accident statistics show that most accidents occur on straight roads, under what are usually considered the most favorable driving conditions."

"Road improvement will only make it easier to avoid accidents; it will not prevent them—the driver has the final responsibility," warned the speaker, who added: "The Government has done everything in its power to make it difficult for an accident to happen, but fool drivers have, apparently, found a method of overcoming every obstacle put in their way, and not only continue to have 'bigger and better' accidents themselves, but bring trouble and sor-

Decide Golf Prize On Roof of World

THE Prince of Wales Trophy, one of golfdom's most envied possessions, has just been decided on the spectacular links of the Banff Springs Golf Course, a mile above sea level, in the heart of the Canadian Rockies. This year the trophy went overseas to an Englishman, down from Oxford University, a newcomer to the ranks of champions who made the long trip a week ahead of play. He is W. A. Sime, Bedfordshire Golf Club, Bedford, England, who is seen shaking hands, with the runner-up, Gordon MacWilliams, Bowness Golf Club, Calgary, one-time Alberta champion. Mr. Sime won the final, four up and three to play, and the game was refereed by "Bill" Thompson, genial pro of the Banff course, who is seen standing between the pair. A large gallery followed the play. The Brewster Cup championship was decided at the same time over the Banff Springs course. It was a woman's championship and was taken by Mrs. G. F. Dewolf (right in photograph) of Vernon, B.C., who defeated Miss Jean McMillan, of Calgary, Alta, in a close fight that was only decided on the 18th hole by one up.

row to sensible users of the highways."

Asking particularly the many thousand members of the Ontario Motor League to co-operate with the Highways department in an active and personal way in the Ontario Safety Campaign, Mr. Mahony concluded: "Here is my advice to motorists, whether members of the Motor League or not: First, study your own driving habits, and be certain that you drive carefully and reasonably at all times; second, lend your assistance on every possible occasion to spread 'Safety' information; third, do not permit boasts of recklessness or lawlessness to go unchallenged. I have said nothing to the pedestrians tonight, because I feel that it might be thought that I spoke from prejudice, because of my position. However, I believe that one word of caution is essential. Last year 255 pedestrians were killed by motor cars in Ontario, and 2,808 were injured. For your own sake, be careful!"—Canadian Motorist.

COMMERCIAL DRIVERS FIGURE LARGELY IN AUTO ACCIDENTS

It is difficult to understand how drivers, expert enough to be in charge of commercial motor vehicles, could be involved in over 1,900 accidents, in one province, in one year—yet that is Ontario's record for 1931.

Last year 110 commercial vehicles were involved in fatal accidents, 1,088 were involved in accidents in which personal injury was sustained. These are official figures, furnished by the Motor Vehicles Branch of the Ontario Department of Highways.

It is to be expected that the use of commercial vehicles in the province will continue to increase. It is therefore of the utmost importance that drivers thereof take warning from last year's appalling experience. And it is equally imperative that the drivers of pleasure cars and pedestrians co-operate in an effort to put a stop to the senseless, needless killing and maiming of humans on Ontario's streets and highways.

Jones picked up the daily paper and was astonished by seeing an announcement of his death in an accident. He immediately rang up a friend.

Jones—Bill, have you seen the notice of my death in this morning's paper?

Friend Bill—Yes, where are you speaking from?

News in Brief

Interesting Happenings Briefly Outlined for the Busy Readers

The village fathers of Elkader, Iowa, have found out why the town clock gained time the first half of each hour and slowed up the second half. A couple of pigeons would perch on the big hand when it was going down. They'd stay there until it pointed downward at such an angle that they lost their grip. Later they would get aboard for the upward ride.

Clawed by a polar bear in the zoo at Madison, Wis., James Caravello, 9, of that place, was in a critical condition Sunday. The boy climbed to the limb of a tree beside the bear cage and fell from the limb to the top of the bars. While he dangled there, his feet caught on prongs, the bear ripped at his hips.

The Brantford Municipal Railways Commission has approved the city council's recent recommendation that motor coaches to replace the present street car system be given a trial in Brantford. The trial service will commence on October 1, to continue for two months.

Explaining that he once had been cured of a stomach ache by indulging in a spoonful of honey, a juvenile was granted suspension of sentence in Hamilton recently after he was charged with stealing a hundred pounds of comb honey from a Binbrook farmer. The lad stole the delicacy over a period of time, and frankly admitted that he had eaten the whole quantity without assistance from friends.

The governor of the island of Mallorca in the Mediterranean, has instituted a campaign against bathers who appear in the streets insufficiently clad. Several British and United States women have been fined for appearing in bathing suits which the authorities considered too scanty.

A munitions depot at Chitila, Rumania blew up during last Thursday night, hurling shell fragments which wounded a number of inhabitants in that and nearby villages. "Tck! Tck!" said a crowd as it gathered around a youth slumped over a shotgun alongside a curb. "It's a pity such a young man being a gang victim." A policeman ran up, "stand back," he bellowed, "don't touch the corpse until the coroner comes." Just then the corpse awoke, "What's all the excitement?" he asked. "I'm awaiting a friend to go hunting and I just fell asleep for a moment."

Calcium cyanide powder used for fumigation, was responsible for the death of two Toronto men, W. J. Murray, 83, and Archibald Anderson, 30, who succumbed to the gas fumes while sprinkling the powder in a shed used for growing mushrooms, on Murray's farm at Woodville, 12 miles east of Beaverton.

Patrolman Bonner, of Maywood, Ill., has apparently won the dubious honor of being the eclipse's only casualty in America. He went blind Thursday, 24 hours after looking at the sun without smoked glasses. Doctor's said he would probably regain his sight soon, but that he must stay in a darkened room during his convalescence.

The schoolboy's dream has materialized. A machine to solve problems automatically has been invented. Known as a number or theoretic machine, the new device, perfected after years of labor on funds granted by the Carnegie Institute of Washington, is said to handle problems 10,000 times as fast as the most adept mathematician.

The Modern Cocktail

An Old Dutchman, returning to Holland was asked by a friend what in his estimation was the strangest thing he had noticed, and he replied: "The United States has many wonderful things, but the strangest is a drink called the cocktail—and here is how they make it: They put in whisky to make it strong, then water to make it weak, gin to make it hot and ice to make it cold, lemon to make it sour, sugar to make it sweet, then they say, 'Here's to you!' and drink it themselves."

GOOD LOOKING FOODS EASIER TO DIGEST

Colour is often a fairly reliable guide in choosing fruits and vegetables which are complementary to each other. Dietitians also claim that a dish which is pleasing to look at is more easily digested and more useful to the body than one which lacks "eye appeal."

That is why the popular summer combination of tomatoes and lettuce is ideal. The very appearance of the dish is enough to tempt the most backward appetite, and as a source of minerals and vitamins its importance can hardly be exaggerated.

Yet in spite of their health promoting properties and attractive flavour, the popularity of tomatoes and lettuce is of fairly recent origin. Today, however, tomatoes are considered by physicians one of the most economical and rich sources of vitamins known containing greater quantities of the essential elements than even oranges. Lettuce also, in addition to being one of the most palatable and refreshing of all summer greens, also contains many food elements which are important in maintaining normal health.
