The warden-elect's opening address was characteristic of the man. In a few brief words he expressed his profound appreciation of the honor that had been conferred upon him. With their assistance he would endeavor to fill the trust to the satisfaction of the members for the benefit of the county. Three years ago he would not have dared consideration of the council had prompted him to allow his name to be placed before them. The house of refuge question had past two weeks it has been known been a live issue in his division and though he had unequivocally stated that he would support any proposition to have one erected he was elected by a large majority. If the matter did come up, and he was not certain most effective supporters and from that it would, he asked the council to give it almost the entire Liberal party, he a careful consideration.
