CHANGED HANDS.—Mr. Dan Campbell sold his livery business to Mr. Amos Miller, of the vicinity of Hanover. Mr. Miller took charge on Monday morning. We begin this week with an article on "The County of Grey 40 years ago." We trust it will be of interest to our readers. See the first instalment on page 5. The Sunday School Picnic of Trinity Church, Durham, will be held in Edge's Grove, Glenelg, on Thursday, August 15th. Conveyances will be at the church at 1 o'clock to take the scholars and parents to the grounds. FAC-SIMILE COPIES of the advancement made in Penmanship in three or four months practice at Duluth Business University under the instruction of Mr. Chas. Robson is really astonishing. We congratulate our friend on his success as a teacher of penmanship. We did not have a reporter on the field when the last lacrosse match was played between Markdale and Durham at Owen Sound on Friday last, and therefore cannot go into details more than to announce that our boys were defeated by a score of 3-2 in favor of Markdale. The game was well contested throughout, and the on-lookers say our boys should have taken victory home with them. Owen Sound plays the winners for the championship. INTELLIGENCE was received here a few days ago of the death of Mr. J. R. Smith, of Brussels, brother of Mr. Thomas Smith, of this town. The deceased, prior to 1876, was a well-known resident of Durham, and in addition to his business partnership with his brother here under the firm name of "T. & J. R. Smith," he was a member of Durham's first Council. He was a brother-in-law of the Messrs. McKechnie by his first marriage. Since leaving here he resided in Brussels, and conducted a mercantile business. MR. THOS. SWALLOW SR., his sons Will and Nathan, and daughters Lydia, Mabel and Emma left on Tuesday morning to take up their abode in Winnipeg. For twenty years the family have been residents of Durham, following chiefly the occupation of barbing. A year or so ago Will went to Winnipeg, and seeing that chances were better apparently than in Durham he decided to take the father and family with him and in the near future open out a business on his own account assisted by his brother Nathan. Nellie, we understand, will remain in Toronto, and Tom stays here to carry on the business. We wish them success, one and all. ABOUT Mr. James G. Park, who died here on the first instant, we have little to say more than that he was one of the most popular and sociable young men in Durham, and a favorite with everybody. He was the youngest son of the late Rev. Wm. Park, Presbyterian Minister in this town for many years. The deceased was about twenty-four years of age, highly intellectual, and an enthusiast in all kinds of sports, in which he took great interest, though physically unable to take part in the exercises. The remains were interred Saturday in the Durham cemetery at the Rev. Mr. Farquharson officiating at the house and grave. The floral tributes of the lacrosse boys and others attest the esteem in which he was held. We tender our sympathies to the bereaved family. The results of the Jr Leaving Pt. 1 Examinations appeared in Tuesday's dailies. Crowded for space we give names and congratulations without comment. The 5 and 3 stand for the number of subjects on which the candidates wrote. DURHAM. Durham School.—[5] J. Farquharson, M. Huddle, M. E. Hunt, F. M. McGregor, D. C. McKenzie, Mary Sharpe, Noble C. Principal of the Meaford Model School, accompanied by Mrs. Clark, is spending a few weeks' holidays with relatives in Bentinck. Mr. Clark is having great success and speaks highly of the people of Meaford. The climate must agree with him as we never saw him look so well.

A Sad Drowning.

BOTH WERE DROWNED IN A WELL OVER THIRTY FEET DEEP.

(From our Flesherton Correspondent.)

The community here received a shock not soon to be forgotten, when the news reached the village on Friday evening last that Mrs. Wm. Buchanan, of the Meaford Road, and her little adopted daughter, 6 years of age, had been found drowned in the well a few feet from their own door.

Early in the day Mr. Buchanan and family went to work on their other farm, about a mile distant, leaving Mrs. Buchanan and the little girl at home, both in their usual health and spirits. Early in the evening Mr. Buchanan returned home and at once noticed the covering of the well disturbed, whereupon he looked into the well but saw nothing amiss. He then entered the house to enquire of Mrs. Buchanan the cause for the disturbed condition of the planks, but neither she nor the little one were to be found. He then went to his mother's, a short distance away, but there neither of them had been seen. Enquiry was further made in the neighborhood, and there being no trace of the missing ones, Mr. Buchanan was accompanied home by some of his neighbors, one of whom was lowered into the well which is 30 feet deep and contains 8 feet of water. Here, was found, in an upright position, the lifeless form of Mrs. Buchanan, her head only a few inches below the surface of the water. The body having been recovered, search was made for the little girl whose body, cold in death, was also found in the water at the bottom of the well. How the calamity occurred can never be positively known, but a theory much advanced is that the child fell into the well, and that in the attempt to save its life Mrs. Buchanan lost her own.

Coroner Christie, of this place, was notified, and the following day made on the spot every enquiry possible as to the cause of death, but could find no evidence sufficient to hold a coroners inquest in the regular way.

On Sunday afternoon the funeral took place to the Meaford Road cemetery, and as a token of the deep sympathy felt for the sorely bereaved family was one of the largest, if not the largest, funeral ever held in the township. The deceased's pastor, Rev. J. I. Wilson, of this place, assisted by Dr. Christie, conducted a short service at the house. The service at the graves was very impressive, Mrs. Buchanan's Sabbath School class taking part by singing softly "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," and the children of the school at the grave of their little companion sang "Jewels." A memorial service will be held in the Meaford Road Methodist church on Sabbath afternoon next.

Mrs. Buchanan was 41 years of age, and has been, since early in life, a consecrated Christian and devoted follower of her Lord and Master. She was one of the most helpful and willing workers in the Meaford Road church and Sabbath School, where she will now be greatly missed.

A grief-stricken husband, one son and two daughters mourn her departure, but do not have to mourn as those who have no hope. The bereaved family have the sincere sympathy of the country at large in their great sorrow.

HITS AND MISSES.

Now that the Lacrosse season is about over, we suggest that the Lornes of Mount Forest change their names to the "Forlorns."

We understand that the young ladies who were camping near the Rocky under the chaperonage of Mrs. Buchan, found their tents to be quite impervious to the recent downpours. To your tents, Oh Israel!

A Methodist clergyman writes to say that his wife's restlessness gave him so much anxiety that he decided next day to pay his sub, and did so accordingly. We got it Saturday, and felt tempted in our pure heart to wish that a whole lot of other people's wives would have similar disturbances and that their husbands would act as the preacher did. For what we received we are truly thankful.

Pete Paterson promised last week to furnish us with a fish story, but he hasn't done so yet. We always like Pete's stories, they're so reliable. When Pete was a boy, he contracted an abhorrence for the awful fish stories some people used to tell, and then and there made a solemn vow that he'd never tell one that hadn't at least twenty per cent. of truth in it, and to this day he has kept his vow. His high degree of veracity always makes us anxious to get his yarns.
