DURHAM CHRONICLE

W. IRWIN, Editor and Proprietor.

DURHAM, AUGUST 29TH, 1901.

RICHARDSON ROASTS LAURIER.

We never like to be spleeney in our discussion of political subjects. The big papers which cater to party...

When election time comes round we claim it as our inalienable right to discuss political questions...

We have already said we are not in sympathy with the administration of the present Government...

"Read or recall the policies enumerated and the pledges given in the Liberal platform of 1893...

"You might call your party a red party or a blue party, or perhaps still more appropriately, a Tammany party...

"Let me say that to my mind the chief crime that has been perpetrated against the people of Canada...

chief crime has been the blow struck at the moral standards of the people. You will scarcely deny that there is a wholesale breaking down of political standards...

THE CENSUS AGAIN.

We spoke last week of the census and the universal disappointment in the results shown by the enumerators...

"The Whig has stated that Kingston was given a bad deal in the recent census, and had evidence to sustain the complaint...

THE GLORY OF ONTARIO.

(Toronto Telegram.)

The weekly budget of the country correspondent may contain an occasional item that, strictly speaking, is not news...

It is a poor spirit, a narrow intelligence, which can see no value in the occasionally rough hewn items which reflect the sunshine and shadow...

Doctors

and people agree that Scott's Emulsion of cod-liver oil is the best thing to take for "don't feel well and don't know why," especially babies...

POMONA

Many moons have seen their rise and wane since last we represented THE CHRONICLE from this vicinity.

Mrs. Edwin Evans (nee Sarah A. McLellan) of Rochester, N. Y., and her two children were on a few weeks' visit with her parents at the home of her youth...

The Trustees of Sep. S. S. No. 7 have during vacation had their School brightened up. The exterior received two coats of paint...

One of the most hospitable of homes in our midst is that of Mr. J. S. Black. A further addition to its cheer was added for a few days by the visit of Mr. Black's eldest daughter...

A bee of 8 men pulled peas for Mr. Geo. E. Arrowsmith one day recently.

Mrs. Patrick Neil's two daughters, Mrs. Jas. Darcy, of Moosomin, W. T., and Mrs. Walter Enwright, of Toronto, are visiting their widowed mother...

During the heavy downpour of rain on Friday of last week a baby cyclone struck this vicinity. It was first seen tearing through Mr. J. McAuliffe's orchard...

Mr. M. McGrath was the first in our neighborhood to thrash out his entire season's crop. Mr. A. Morrison did the thrashing and the hands stayed at night and put in the straw...

Master Joe Neil and his sister Adeline invited a few to spend Friday evening of last week at their home. Music was furnished so there was not a dull moment spent until the cackle of the chief barnyard fowl reminded them of home and a cosy couch...

Will we be pardoned for speaking of pathmasters and statute labor at this late date. Some seem to be vieing with the Commissioner as to which shall do the best work...

Jim Smith's Tailibus.

Jim Smith had a pain in the stomach one day. And he sent for assistance doctorim. As it seemed that Jim Smith had the money to pay...

"'Twas ten o'clock ante meridiem when J. Filson, medicine doctor, remarked that he'd seen quite a lot of sick men. But Smith was the sickest, by Proctor!
