JUDGE BARRON, of Stratford, has warned farmers and others that if they allow a dog to run loose, which has a habit of running at passing horses, and a runaway takes place, which results in a fatality, the owner of the canine is liable to prosecution for manslaughter. If the owner purposely turns a dog loose to frighten people and a death results he is liable to a charge of murder.

The remains of Dr. Gun were interred on Friday last in the Durham Cemetery whither they were followed by a large concourse of mourning friends, many of whom were visibly affected by his departure. Before having a short service was conducted at the house by Rev. Mr. Farquharson assisted by Rev. Mr. Stewart and Rev. Mr. McGregor. The subject of Mr. Farquharson's remarks were based on Revelations 14:13: "And I heard a voice from heaven saying unto me, write, blessed are the dead which die in the Lord from henceforth; Yea, saith the Spirit that they may rest from their labors; and their works do follow them."

Attention is called to the Brandon Binder Twine Co. This company is being organized for the purpose of erecting a binder twine factory at Brandon with a capacity of 6,000 lbs. per day. The provincial directors include Messrs. John Hanbury, Pres. R. Zink, F. Nation and E. L. Christie, all prominent business men of Brandon. There seems to be no doubt that the project presents every promise of success, a fact that is indicated by the fact that up to Monday last there were 1,560 subscribers from one to five shares each, and the share list is rapidly growing. E. J. Scott, a representative of the company, will be in this vicinity a few days and is taking applications for shares. Careful estimates indicate that the raw material can be laid down in Brandon at a lower price than in the east, while the demand for twine is universal in this country. There is every reason to anticipate that the success of similar enterprises in the east will even be exceeded in the case of the Brandon Binder Twine Co.

THE sad gunning accidents we hear of every day, should, it seems to us, be a warning to boys, to be extremely careful in the handling of such dangerous weapons. We do not profess to be cowardly, but we always feel that there's danger in the presence of a gun. Even these little air guns used around the streets, are a public menace, and the authorities should restrict their use before some person is injured for life by careless handling.

THE following act was passed at the last session of the Dominion Parliament and is now part of the criminal law: Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to three years imprisonment who, without the consent of the owner, takes, holds, keeps in his possession, conceals, receives, appropriates, purchases, sells or fraudulently causes or procures or assists in taking possession of, concealing, appropriating or purchasing of any cattle that are found stray, or refuses to deliver up any such cattle to the proper owner thereof, or to the person in charge thereof on behalf of such owners or authorized by such owners to receive such cattle, or without the consent of the owner wholly or partially, obliterated or alters or defaces any brand or mark on any cattle, or makes or causes to be made any false or counterfeit brand on any cattle.

WE regret very much to chronicle the sad circumstances which led to the death of Thomas Stinson, of Welbeck, on Friday afternoon last. On the day in question the young lad, sixteen years of age, in company with two neighboring boys was out shooting for the afternoon and on returning for the accident happened in a very peculiar manner. About a mile from home the three young sportsmen were going through an orchard, the deceased carrying his gun at half cock. Taking the weapon by the muzzle he undertook to knock down some apples with the butt end when the hammer caught in one of the limbs, struck the nipple and discharged the whole load of bird shot into the young man's abdomen. Dr. Smith, of Dornoch, and Dr. Mahan, of Durham, were summoned and on hand as soon as possible, but the awful condition of the dying sufferer showed his case from the first to be utterly hopeless, and in about twelve hours he breathed his last. He was the son of Mr. Thomas Stinson, who moved out there from near Durham only a year or two ago. The tragic end of the young man has caused a feeling of sadness in the whole community and elicits a universal sympathy for the heart-stricken parents, who mourn the loss of their only son. The remains were interred in the cemetery here on Monday last.

"PROGRESS" is the one word that expresses fully what is going on at the cement works. The foundations of the large rotary mill are being rapidly and strongly put into position. The railroad is nearing completion, and the heavy machinery is expected soon.

A COUPLE of weeks ago an "Apology" appeared in this paper signed "Thos. Stinson," and naturally many in the vicinity imagined it to be "Thos. Stinson," formerly of Bentinck, near Durham. This, however, is not the case, the apologist being an entirely different man of the same name.

REV. MR. ROSS, of Walkerton, preached two very acceptable sermons in the Methodist church on Sunday. The evening discourse on "unconscious influences" based on the text "For none of us liveth to himself, and no man dieth to himself." Romans 14:7 was exceedingly practical.

THE Latona entertainment in connection with their pie social and presentation Friday night last, was all contributed by Durham talent, J. A. Hunter, E. D. McClocklin, W. S. Davidson and Fred Ryan being the chief performers, if we omit saying anything about the girls who drove up there alone to show they weren't going to back numbers.

THIS, Thursday night, is Halloween and it is highly probable the fairies will be out. A wrong idea seems to have taken possession of the minds of many, and they think themselves irresponsible for any depredations they may commit. The law makes no allowance in the matter, and we hope our readers will think seriously before they injure anyone.

DR. P. C. PARK, of Hamilton, Specialist in diseases of the Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat, will arrive in town by late train Friday, Nov. 8th, and remain until Monday morning, Nov. 11th, during which time he may be consulted professionally at his office over Macfarlane's Drug Store, or at residence of his mother on George Street.—2.

ON Thursday evening, November 7th, there will be a Stereoscopic Lecture in the Baptist Church, given by Rev. T. J. Bennett, of the Herkimer St. Baptist Church, Hamilton, Ont. The subject will be "Vacation Experiences." It describes a trip down the St. Lawrence, Montgomery Falls, Shrine of St. Anne, thence to Nova Scotia through Annapolis Valley, an experience caught in a quick-sand and the tide coming in, &c. The lecture is given under the auspices of the Young People's Society. There will be a silver collection at the door.

MR. CHAS. MCKINNON was tried here on Saturday last before Mayor Calder and Magistrate Queen for non-compliance with the fire by-law in the removal of his implement shop down town, and leaving it unbricked or made otherwise less liable to damage by fire. Mr. Telford acted in behalf of the town, and Mr. Lucas, of Markdale, for Mr. McKinnon. Mr. Lucas gave it as his opinion that the by-law conflicted with the statutes in some respects, and that the conviction nullified the whole thing. The general opinion is that Mr. Lucas was right in his interpretation of the law, and that the by-law as it stands at present is of no value. Decision was reserved.

The good people of Allan's neighborhood had a Sunday School entertainment on Tuesday night. The weather man must be friendly with these people because he gave them the best of everything he had, a big bright full moon, good roads, and a delightful balmy atmosphere. A lot of the people turned out to show their appreciation of Sunday Schools and to listen to the fine program the committee had provided. Dr. Brown, of Holstein, was there and gave a few capital high class vocal selections. The Bradley family took part also and delighted the audience with some of their choruses. Miss Jessie Laidlaw, of Durham, sang one of her sweet selections, and Miss Maude Irwin favored them with a recitation. Further particulars have not reached us, and any omissions we hope will be made good by some of our reporters next week.

We are sorry to chronicle the sad and untimely end of one of St. Vincent's best known citizens in the person of Mr. Wm. Doherty, of the 15 & 16 sideroads. On Tuesday evening last Mr. and Mrs. Doherty were in town together, and after returning home went as usual to do their evening chores. Mrs. Doherty had finished milking and left her husband in the stable grooming his horses. As he did not soon return to the house, Mrs. Doherty went out to see what had detained him, when she was shocked to find her husband lying behind the horse dead. He had been kicked in the head by one of his horses, one of the caulks of the shoe having penetrated right temple and the other behind the ear. He had evidently been killed instantly as he held the curry comb and brush in his hands. Mr. W. Birchill, his next door neighbor, was one of the first to arrive, and with the assistance of Mr. Gibson, the blacksmith, who was passing at the time of the accident, they carried him into the house. It is needless to say it was a sight to melt the heart of any man to see the home so suddenly deprived of its chief support, with a family of little ones to be provided for. The poor wife, as might be expected, is about heart broken, and needs all the sympathy that kind and benevolent friend can bestow. Deceased was 43 years of age.—Meaford Monitor.

When one wants a picture of the King and Queen to frame and hang up in his house, he is going to have the best portraits obtainable, and when he knows that the best is to be had as cheap, and in some cases cheaper, than an inferior one, he would feel that he had better have no portrait at all than be persuaded into taking the inferior article. Instead of the best, which is really the only one worth having. This is the position of affairs regarding the portraits of King Edward and Queen Alexandra, presented this season to readers of the Family Herald and Weekly Star. No one who sees them will doubt for a minute their superiority. They are valuable because faithful in every detail, and our advice to our readers is to get the Family Herald's picture of the King and Queen. The Family Herald also includes a third picture, the renowned Duchess of Devonshire, a perfect gem, and easily worth the entire price asked for the Family Herald and Weekly Star, the King and Queen and the famous Gainsborough picture. The Family Herald will certainly do a bigger business than ever this year.

WORTH WAITING FOR.

DIED.
