DURHAM CHRONICLE

W. IRWIN, Editor and Proprietor.

DURHAM, OCTOBER 31ST, 1901.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Czolgosz, the murderer of President McKinley, was electrocuted at Albany on Tuesday morning last.

It is reported that cancer has developed in the throat of King Edward and that three operations have been performed since his accession to the throne.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier has just received the Royal command to be present at the coronation of the King in June next. It is understood that all the Colonial premiers are to be invited to be present, the idea being to make the coronation ceremonies as impressive as possible.

A twelve-year-old son of Mr. Samuel Marrotte, of Montreal, was followed into a field by a Dane named Tobin Hanson, who cut the boy's throat and threw his body on a pile of stones. Hanson murdered the boy for a few cents which he found in his pockets. Tobin gave himself up to the police, confessed his crime, and is now in custody.

The treasurer of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, has forwarded to the City Treasurer a cheque for $587.50 as an instalment on the $850 of taxes which the church pays of its own accord on the annual levy. This church does not believe in church exemptions, and for many years has set the good example of contributing to the public funds.

"Why don't you, as an exponent of public opinion, give this or that institution a raking up through the columns of your widely read paper?" is a question we have been asked more than once, and at first thought it seemed to be quite pertinent. A little examination into the condition of things however will lead any reasonable mind to see obvious reasons why the power behind the pen doesn't feel disposed to pitch into everything that doesn't exactly accord with his own feelings. Much, however, is expected from the public press, and we believe to-day there is no stronger factor in existence for the promotion of good or evil. Many an evil has been rooted out by the press working up a righteous indignation against its existence; yet in the honest effort to uproot immorality and vice the editor, who exercises the moral courage to take the initiative, is often poorly supported by apparently strong advocates of moral reform; and knowing the uncertain character of humanity at large he feels disposed often to let things run their course rather than fight single handed and alone against an unscrupulous opposition.

There's very little use, according to our way of thinking, of condemning with an uncharitable hand the actions of a hoodlum class in Kansas and sitting with stopped ears and closed eyes to the evils that are allowed to go on in the immediate vicinity of our own homes, and directly under the notice of our own authorities. In this connection, we may just point out that our town is by no means free from immoralities. We may also point out with equal force that the immoralities are not unknown to the town authorities, and further that conditions are tolerated that should cause every man of them to blush with shame, and yet they remain inactive. A drunken man is a common thing all the world over, and a man in such condition will fill the atmosphere with blasphemous and immoral utterances no man woman or child, should be forced to listen to. We have a few here, we are sorry to say, and we believe we are working for the moral good of the whole community in condemning such conduct and entering it as our recommendation that such disturbers of the public peace should be either fined or imprisoned until they know enough to behave themselves aright.

"The Mabee pamphlet" is perhaps a work that many of our readers have not heard of, and will require a little explanation which we shall endeavor to give in a few words and in an unbiased manner as we know how under our present knowledge of affairs. To begin with, Mabee is an American, and during the campaign which resulted in the election of the late Wm. McKinley, he got out a pamphlet entitled, "McKinley in the Witness Box." By a cunningly arranged series of questions and answers he professes to make the late president acknowledge himself a coward, a fraud, a liar, a thief and a hypocrite. Recently it seems that Mabee, the same pamphleteer, approached Mr. Whitney, with a proposition to get out campaign literature along the same lines, the pamphlet to be entitled, "Ross in the Witness Box." This kind of thing he predicted would bring about a revolution of party, and knock the Ross Government higher than Gilroy's kite; but Mr. Whitney refused to have anything to do with Mabee, and thought the matter would den here. But it was not to be so, Mr. Mabee, the unscrupulous pamphleteer was a most slippery opportunist and the publication of a pamphlet entitled "Whitney in the Witness Box" clothed in similar language to that in which President McKinley was upbraided is now said to be published as Liberal literature to be used in the coming contest. Without further comment on the matter, we may just conclude by expressing an opinion, that any corporate body, or party, resorting to such means to gain ascendancy is not fit to be trusted with the administration of public affairs, and to anyone with a speck of charity in his make-up it is hard to believe that a man like the Hon. Geo. W. Ross would lend himself directly or indirectly to any such tactics.

The following article is clipped from the Toronto "Saturday Night" and shows the morbid condition of some minds and what they'll resort to for the sake of getting the almighty dollar:

"A few weeks ago the daily papers published details of a particularly revolting and horrible lynching at Paris, Texas, where a negro, one Henry Smith, was burned to death, after being tortured with red-hot irons, for the alleged murder of a four-year-old girl. Both the phonograph and camera, it was stated, had been put to use by some enterprising fiend for the purpose of turning to commercial advantage the awful details of the wretch's sufferings. The pictures and cylinders were making all kinds of money for their owner in the Southern States, the negroes themselves taking a morbid delight in the horrible show. No one would have imagined, however, that such an exhibition would be tolerated either by public taste or by the law in this country. Yet for almost a week past these photographs have been prominently exhibited in a cigar store window near one of the busiest corners in Toronto, and a stone's throw from police headquarters, while inside the store the phonograph has repeated in the ears of hundreds of men and boys the screams and groans of the tortured man. Some idea of the character of this exhibition, permitted to go on by the police, can best be formed by those who have neither patronized "the show" nor would deign to degrade their senses by doing so, from the following sign (one of many such) displayed before the cigar store: "Hear the negro yell and plead for water as the flames slowly consume him. You can hear it inside. Get your ticket at the counter and hear it. This week only."

"This, be it understood, was but one of many such signs obtruding themselves on the notice of passers by. Among those who have not ventured to listen to the phonograph an idea was manufactured "fake," but this notion was soon dispelled by purchasing a ticket and placing one's ear to the instrument. There is no question that the record is authentic. For pure horror the thing was beyond words. The yells and curses of the mob, the screams and pleas for mercy of the slowly roasted negro, combined in a babel so blood-curdling as to be comparable to nothing short of a glimpse into hell itself. It is inconceivable how law-abiding Canadians retaining the least vestige of self-respect could listen to so hideous a thing without having their gorge rise and being betrayed into an attack on the machine and its operator. That such an attraction could play a big business in the heart of a city that boasts of its schools and churches and that is regarded as being the centre of culture in the Dominion, suggests some very unpleasant reflections. To what extent are the people of this country serious in denouncing the deeds of Southern mobs, seeing that in an enlightened Canadian city, hundreds can find pleasure in flocking to see and hear what purports to be a true-to-life reproduction of one of the most awful excesses of mob trial on record? Is there any indecency to which present-day commercialism will not descend for an advertising dodge or in order to make a dollar? If so, what is the limit?"

"THE PAIN WAS KILLING"

Rheumatism reveals in the writhings of its victims until shown of its pangs by South American Rheumatic Cure. It relieves in six hours and cures in one to three days.

Mrs. Geo. Smith, of 66 Charron St., Point St. Charles, suffered terribly from Rheumatism in her joints. The pain was killing. Doctors' medicines temporarily lessened the pain, but effected no permanent relief. She began taking South American Rheumatic Cure and when she had used four bottles was absolutely cured. Sold by MacFarlane & Co., Durham.

Neuralgia Almost Drives People Mad. Only those who have suffered it, know of the darting, distracting pains and aches neuralgia inflicts. Ordinary remedies don't even relieve. It requires an extraordinarily strong, penetrating liniment to drive out the pain. To get relief rub Polson's Nerviline into the spot. Pain can't resist Nerviline, which has five times the strength of any other liniment. Drives out neuralgia in half an hour. Never fails! Never harms! Always successful. Try a large 25c. bottle.

CONDOLENCE.

We, the officers and members of L. O. L. No. 1192, Glenelg, take this our earliest opportunity of conveying to brother Jas. McCracken, and to the members of the family, our heartfelt sympathy in this sad bereavement. We doubt not but this sad event has come as a heavy blow to your hearts and thrown a dark shadow across the path of life. But amid all that is sad and sorrowful, it should be a pride and satisfaction to know that he has gone to that heavenly home where parting will be no more; and we earnestly pray that in this dark hour you may receive comfort and consolation from Him who is the source of all help.

They loved him, yes, they loved him,
But Jesus loved him more;
And he has sweetly called him
To yonder shining shore.

The golden gates were open,
A gentle voice said come;
And with farewell unspoken,
He calmly entered home.

Signed on behalf of the lodge:
G. A. LAWRENCE, W. M.
Wm. RITCHIE, Dist. M.

BOARDING-HOUSE EUCLID.

DEFINITIONS AND AXIOMS.
All boarding-houses are the same boarding-house.
Boarders in the same boarding-house and on the same flat are equal to one another.
A single room is that which has no parts and no magnitude.
The landlady of the boarding-house is a parallelogram—that is, an oblong, angular figure which cannot be described, but which is equal to anything.
A wrangle is the disinclination of two boarders to each other, that meet together but are not on the same floor.
All the other rooms being taken, a single room is said to be a double room.

POSTULATES AND PROPOSITIONS.
A pie may be produced any number of times.
The landlady can be reduced to her lowest terms by a series of propositions.
A bed-line may be made from any boarding-house to any other boarding-house.
The clothing of a boarding-house bed, though produced ever so far both ways, will not meet.
Any two meals at a boarding-house are together less than two square feeds.
On the same bill and on the same side of it there should not be two charges for the same thing.
If there be two boarders on the same floor, and the amount of side of the one be equal to the amount of side of the other, and the wrangle between the one boarder and the landlady be equal to the wrangle between the landlady and the other boarder, then shall the weekly bills of the two boarders be equal. For if not, let one bill be the greater than the other bill is less than it might have been, which is absurd.

The Baby Sick?

Then probably it's a cold. Babies catch cold so easily and recover so slowly. Not slowly, however, when you use Vapo-Cresolene. Then a single night is all that is necessary for a cure. You just put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and place near the crib. While baby sleeps he breathes in the healing vapor. Cold loosens, inflamed membranes heal, and all trouble ceases. It's a perfect specific for whooping-cough and croup.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 180 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.
