DURHAM CHRONICLE

W. IRWIN, Editor and Proprietor.

DURHAM, NOVEMBER 7, 1901.

TOWN COUNCIL.

The Town Council met on Monday night in regular session, when the usual routine business such as reading the minutes, reading communications and passing accounts was disposed of, after which a general discussion resulted in regard to a number of matters that were brought before the board.

Mr. Hahn presented a bill for the keep of a young woman of Egremont to whom we referred some time ago as having been arrested by Constable Carson, and who gave birth to a child during the night. The Council repudiated the claim, and thought the account, if paid at all by the public should be paid by the Township of Egremont, to which the young woman belonged.

The dispute between the town and the Pavement Co. received some attention also. The Council regretted that an amicable settlement with Mr. Conery had failed so far, and intimated their willingness to lay the matter before a committee of experts whose decision as arbitrators the Council felt it would be their duty to accept, in regard to the quality of the walks. The Council claims the walks are not up to the standard of agreement and a number of those directly interested being of the same opinion express determination to refuse payment. The Council is, therefore, between two fires, and a satisfactory compromise, it seems to us, is the only way out of the difficulty.

With regard to the alleged violation of the Fire Limit By-law, for which action was taken recently against Mr. McKinnon, and upon whom Mayor Calder's judgment in substance was that in fifteen days the building should be removed or pulled down, or in default the town Constable should do so at Mr. McKinnon's expense. Mr. Calder explained the circumstances which led to the decision. The Council was not in favor of using severe means against Mr. McKinnon, and in answer to Mr. Whelan's opinion as to the severity of the judgment, the Mayor undertook to explain the course taken was the only course he could pursue under the circumstances and further, he repudiated the opinion said to be held in some quarters that he was actuated in the matter by any personal feelings.

About half-past ten the Council adjourned to meet again the first Monday in December.

WHO SHOT THE GOOSE?

(Written specially for the Chronicle.)

The angler has now laid his rod aside, the fishing season for 1901 having lapsed and all the big fish yarns are consigned to oblivion, only to be resurrected when the season again comes round, when the big Saugenee once more becomes the topic of discussion. But, although the fishing season is past a substitute is provided and the game season is now upon us, giving our young sports an opportunity to go out and enjoy themselves in quest of such game as yet remains in this section of the country. During the last few days the weather has been all that could be desired for those in search of outdoor recreation and amusement, old Sol coming forth in the morning as vigorous and apparently as youthful as if it were the month of June when all trees and shrubs are clad in their most gorgeous foliage and the green fields making a liberal response to the efforts of the sturdy husbandman, and does not cease casting forth his rays during the day until the approach of the shades of evening, when beneath a gorgeous sunset he sends forth his last rays from beneath the distant western horizon, to again come forth in the morning in all his brilliant splendor. During all this time the hares, rabbits, chipmunks and squirrels are enjoying themselves to the fullest extent, some of them by basking in the sunshine, others by skipping about from limb to limb and storing up the beach-nuts for a rainy day to make themselves happy, comfortable and contented when the thermometer is ranging down in the vicinity of zero. During their exposure and activity the sportsmen rejoice in their shortsightedness and when the shades of evening begin to gather wend their footsteps homeward tired and hungry, but well satisfied with the results of his efforts having bagged a fair share of the game he went in search of.

The new line of railway from Durham to Wilders Lake has recently become a great resort for our young sports, because as well as in search of information how the graders are progressing with the roadbed, they are also aware that it is being constructed through some dense swamps which they use as a base of operation, and regarding which, evidence shows they have been moderately successful when in search of game.

Samuel Ritchie and Timothy Grasy are two of the fortunate men through whose farms the roadbed has been constructed, each of them is also the owner of a very nice flock of geese. The day being nice and warm each flock desired to fraternize with the other and wended their way towards the Grasy farm where they could enjoy themselves in the luxury of the sweet shades the swamp afforded, when suddenly appeared in the swamp a number of our town sports in search of game. Bang! went one of the guns and down came Sam on the fall run to see what was the matter, when to his utter dismay and astonishment he found the lifeless body of one of his plump, well feathered geese stretched out on the green grass. Fancy the stompede and the blaming of each other for what had taken place and that the sportsman who had taken such good aim should conclude that the game had suddenly become so abundant that if the other members of the party did as well as he had done they would have to send a special messenger after Billy Caldwell to bring out one of his strongest rigs to take home the game they had succeeded in bagging, but unfortunately Sam's appearance on the scene prevented it and he returned home with his goose under his arm, and the price of it in his pocket, muttering that if they had shot the whole flock and paid the same price for each they had paid for the one he would have been perfectly well satisfied. But the best part of the goose episode has not yet been told. It takes Henry Lawrence to tell the rest which he does in the most graphic manner and snacks his lips with as much relish as if there was another goose in the oven under preparation and a portion of which he expected might be his share as he and foreman Boyd had the pleasure of taking dinner with Sam on the day when the goose found its way to the table. Henry says the first course was immense and he would not care how soon a second one would go in the same way.

Since writing the above we made diligent inquiry regarding the party who were enjoying the day's hunting on the new railway track, but so far have failed to find out. We learned however, that there were two parties on the hunt the same day, one juveniles the other adults. Where either party was no one seems to know, who the juveniles were seems to be a profound secret, but the adult party were composed of His Worship, Mayor Calder, Jake Kress and Mr. Clare, M. P. His Worship says he was very successful, Mr. Clare tramped all day and did not see anything to shoot at. We did not hear whether Jake's efforts were crowned with success or not but perhaps he can answer the question "Who shot the goose?"

CONTINUATION grants have been given to schools in South Grey; as follows:—Durham, $200; Hanover, $100; Markdale, Flesherton and Dundalk, each, $50; Priceville and Ayton, each, $25; and No. 1, Glenelg, $15. Total $515.

The Baby Sick?

Then probably it's a cold. Babies catch cold so easily and recover so slowly. Not slowly, however, when you use Vapo-Cresolene. Then a single night is all that is necessary for a cure. You just put some Cresolene in the vaporizer, light the lamp beneath, and place near the crib. While baby sleeps he breathes in the healing vapor. Cold loosens, inflamed membranes heal, and all trouble ceases. It's a perfect specific for whooping-cough and croup.

Vapo-Cresolene is sold by druggists everywhere. A Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and a Vapo-Cresolene outfit, including the Vaporizer and a bottle of Lamp, which should last a life-time, and a bottle of Cresolene, complete, $1.50; extra supplies of Cresolene, 25 cents and 50 cents. Illustrated booklet containing physicians' testimonials free upon request. Vapo-Cresolene Co., 150 Fulton St., New York, U.S.A.

A DARK CLOUD REMOVED.

About two years ago $524 disappeared from the office of the Northern Navigation Company, nobody knew how, and the clerk who signed for its receipt has ever since been under a cloud. To-day he is relieved and happy.

The tale of the discovery of the money reads like a story of middle ages in oddness, but bears also the marks of the twentieth century.

The Toronto General Trusts Company is the transfer agent for the Northern Navigation Company, and have had the stock transfer books of that company in their possession for some months. Not until a few days ago, however, did the transfer clerk, Mr. C. E. Rebin, have need to refer to the record. When he opened the book, he found within the leaves five $100 bills and a check for $24. The money obviously belonged to the Northern Navigation Company, and was returned to them forthwith. It was the long lost amount, for the loss of which one of their employees had been suspected for two years.

Needless to say, both clerk and company were glad to have the cash returned, and as a reward for his honesty in returning the money, Mr. Robin was presented with a fifty dollar bill.—Toronto Star.

Got Lame Back?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nerviline, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nerviline this power, you will think it magic however if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere, in large 25 cent bottles.

TRAVERSTON

Miss Sara Jack recently paid a visit to the Queen City and then went over to the Pan-Am. She had a most enjoyable time.

Miss Mabel Hunt, of Town, spent Sunday at the old home.

Miss Mary Hastie, of Markdale, was out in Zion on Sunday.

Hallowe'en was wholly unobserved in this vicinity. The "boys" are growing wiser.

Few persons of the County enjoyed the honor that Mr. George Peart had during the Royal visit to Toronto. George took a run down and as his cousin, Mr. Emerson Coatsworth, is high in social as well as civic circles, George had the pleasure of a hearty handshake from the Duke and Duchess. He says the Duchess has a most winning manner.

Miss Flora Stewart, of Welkeke, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. John McNally. She is a general favorite over here.

Miss Laura Reed, of Markdale, is paying her sister, Mrs. E. W. Hunt, a visit. Tom is happy over it.

The wind up of the beef ring was highly satisfactory. Everything is arranged for next season. All have words of praise for Mr. Thomas Turnbull.

Mr. Joe Firth, of Zion's Corner, who has spent a most successful season with J. Bartley thrashing, leaves for Durham on Monday to help with the Cement Works. Joe is a good all round fellow.

We noticed that Mr. Wm. Anderson's stone mansion has been brightened up with attractive painting.

Mr. Ronald Martin has been making improvements in the cosy dwelling at home. Ronald is a progressive fellow.

Intense earnestness and whole souled love and sympathy are the winning traits of Rev. Mr. and Mrs. Wray R. Smith in the special services held in Zion.

Few young ruralists have more pluck or speculative ability than has Mr. John Cook. Last week he purchased a fine 102 acre farm at Berkeley, with good brick house, fine barn and stables for $2500. We trust John and his winsome partner may have every success.

The people of this vicinity would be pleased to see a best sugar factory established in Durham. They have the soil suitable for successful beet culture and some of us believe that there is money in it.

Miss May Robson has been engaged by the trustees of No. 3 and Mr. Will Ritchie Jr., by the trustees of No. 5. Rectory between sections. Good thing! We predict success for both as they are energetic and not afraid to work.

Have you tried the new tea? Red ROSE Some people say "it's good tea"

IN MEMORY

Of Thomas B. Stinson who died Saturday, October 26th, aged 16 years, 4 months.

He has gone, yes, Tommy has gone, Away to the land of the blest; His sufferings all ended forever, In Heaven his spirit's at rest.

He has gone to dwell with the angels, Away in those mansions above, Where thousands of children are singing, And praising the God that they love.

Then weep no more thou fond mother, Let sorrow give place unto joy, And know that your Father in Heaven Is now watching over your boy.

And that life with its fanciful pleasures, Its hopes, its joys and its fears, And gay and enchanting delusions, Off brings but sorrow and tears.

And sooner or late the angel of death Will come for to bear us away, To dwell with the angels like Tommy, In that beautiful land far away.

Which God has prepared for his children, And all that are trusting in Him, And where angels are singing His praises In one grand and beautiful hymn.
