The Public Library has a branch reading room down town, in the new J. M. Hunter block. This is a move that received some consideration for the past three or four years, and we hope the new comfortable quarters will be well patronized.

The Quarterly Love-feast and Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held in the Methodist Church on Sunday next. Service at half-past ten o'clock, in the morning, conducted by the pastor, who will also preside in the evening at seven o'clock. Subject, "The Greatness of Little Things."

A CITIZEN was fined twenty-five dollars and costs for buying whiskey and giving it into possession of another citizen, to whom the sale of intoxicants is prohibited. This is simply a warning, and as it would do no good we withhold the names of all parties concerned. Mayor McIntyre and J. W. Crawford were the magistrates, before whom the case was tried.

On Monday and Tuesday nights the citizens had the privilege of listening to two comedies by the Madam Pelletier troupe, now touring the country. They are a very respectable looking company, and the play on Monday night, entitled His Better Half, was quite interesting, though the first act seemed rather tame. Some of the acting was good, and the play being free from ultra vulgarism has one great advantage over many of the comedy companies now on the road.

And it came to pass that after he had advertised his goods there came unto him great multitudes from all the regions round about and did buy of him. And when his competitors saw it they marvelled among themselves, saying, "How be it that this man is busy while we have to loaf about our doors?" And he spake unto them, saying: "Verily, verily, I say unto you, in this first age of push and hustle it is easier for a camel to enter the eye of a needle than for a business man to flourish without advertising."

On Friday evening, Feb. 6th, a number of young people from Hutton Hill invaded the homes of Mr. Jas. Milligan and Mr. George Turnbull, and presented Mr. Milligan with a handsome arm chair, and Mrs. Turnbull with a fine rocking chair. Both Mr. Milligan and Mrs. Turnbull thanked the young people warmly for their kind remembrance, and wished them long and happy lives and prosperity. After spending a very enjoyable evening the young people departed and their several homes were left with their evening's enjoyment.—Com.

If you know of any matriculant in your congregation whom you would like to nominate as one of these bursaries I should be glad to hear from you. Those wishing to see such bursary would do well to call on Mr. Farquharson at once."

County or District Auction Sales.

In many districts of Great Britain auction sales of live stock have been held annually for years. Large numbers of pure bred animals for breeding purposes have been marketed in this way, besides a great many "store" cattle and other animals. In several provinces of the Dominion, Provincial sales have been established with satisfactory results, and have created a feeling in favor of county or district sales. There are hundreds of farmers throughout Canada who raise yearly from one to four good breeding males, and perhaps a few females. Many of these men understand the principles of stock breeding, and have from time to time bred noted show yard specimens. Yet the progress and profits of these men has been greatly hampered because of their inability to sell their surplus stock properly. In some years they have been able to sell; in other years they have had to keep a number of animals longer than their means of feed warranted. On the other hand many farmers desire to obtain suitable breeding males, but do not know where to buy what they require at a reasonable price. The cost of travelling from place to place in search of suitable animals deters them from purchasing at all.

With the idea of bringing buyers and sellers into touch with each other, a number of breeders of pure bred cattle in Durham, Northumberland and adjacent counties last year formed the "Central Ontario Pure Bred Stock Association," and started a series of annual auction sales. Their initial sale was fairly satisfactory, and they are now arranging for their second sale, which is to take place at Campbellcroft, on the 18th of March next, with J. W. Martyn, of Canton, as President, and W. B. Campbell, of Campbellcroft, as Secretary, of the Association.

There are many other counties and districts which would find it beneficial to inaugurate sales of this kind, and as a guide to breeders interested in the subject, the rules governing the Central Ontario sales are given below:

1. A committee of three will be appointed to inspect entries, value same, confer with contributors, and reserve the right to either withdraw from sale or accept the bid offered.
2. All animals must be registered in their respective herd books.
3. Each animal to be in good condition and well halter broken.
4. All entries must be made with the secretary on or before Wednesday, February 18th, 1903.
5. An entrance fee of $2.00 to accompany each entry, same to be returned if animal is sold.
6. A charge of 3% on the sale price will be made to cover expenses of sale.
7. All entries to be in place not later than 11 a.m. on the day of sale, to be numbered for sale, and for inspection of intending purchasers.
8. Each animal when sold becomes the property of the purchaser.
9. Terms of sale, cash.
10. All settlements to be made with Clerk on day of sale.

He likes the Prairie Province well and from his robust appearance we imagine it agrees with him.

Royal Stock Co. Concert.

The Royal Stock Co. made their first appearance here on Friday evening of last week, and for a new company, giving their first public exhibition, they did excellent work in the Scout of the Philippines. We often listened to travelling concerns, "highly recommended by the city and country press," that didn't give half the real enjoyment of our own young people in this comedy.

The stage was nicely decorated with new scenery, the property of the company, which, by the way, was artistically painted by Bert Mockler, who certainly shows considerable ability in painting scenery.

During the intervals, Mr. Norman McIntyre cheered the audience by his nimble touch on the piano, and so well did he manipulate the machine that he put some of the travelling show specialists sadly in shade.

Bert Mockler had a heavy role in the play, but figured well throughout the whole affair.

Wes. Theobald, a hemp grower, under the title of Dietrich Dinglehannes, made a typical Dutchman, and kept the audience in good humor from his quaint speeches and peculiarly funny actions.

Lauder Buchan made a capital "nigger," and an old maid, dead in love with anything in the shape of a man, was well represented by Miss Munro. She was bound to marry somebody, and even the portly Dutchman to her was a "dear, sweet man."

To describe the plots and treasins, and thunder, and lightning, and all the thrilling incidents in connection with the play is beyond our ability. It must be seen to be appreciated, and to save us the trouble of further description we advise all to see for themselves when it's next presented.

Got Lame Back or Lumbago?

No need of that now. That sort of pain can be knocked out in short order, for Polson's Nerviline, which is five times stronger than any other, penetrates at once through the tissues, reaches the source of suffering, drives it out and thus gives relief almost instantly. Not magic, but strength that gives Polson's Nerviline this power. You will think it magic, however, if you try it, pain goes so quickly. Sold by dealers everywhere, in large 25c. bottles.
