While assisting to place a stick of square timber over the cistern in his new barn on Wednesday of last week Mr. H. D. Irwin of the suburbs met with a painful and almost fatal accident. Several ribs were broken, painful bruises about the head sustained, and it is feared internal injuries also. He is slowly improving but is yet in a critical condition.—Markdale Standard.

Daniel Churchill, a well-to-do farmer about 65 years of age, who lived on the ninth concession of South Norwich, died while sitting in church. When the meeting was dismissed the minister saw that Mr. Churchill did not leave his seat, and on going down to speak to him found him dead. Mr. Churchill was highly respected.—Dundalk Herald.

Last week was a red letter one in the history of the little village of Ayton, for it was then that the first sod was turned for the binder twine factory which is capitalized at $70,000. The building which will be constructed entirely of concrete will stand opposite the grist mill on a piece of land donated by Mr. A. Wenger. The power house is situated down the river two miles to the north. The industry is situated in a good farming territory, and the promoters are confident of starting an industry that should be a very paying concern. The officers are: President—Andrew Schenk, vice president—James Allan, treasurer—A. Wenger, secretary—W. I. Huston, Auditors—N. Wenger, and Dr. Jamieson, directors—M. B. Flynn, Geo. Calder, A. Wenger, A. Schenk and James Allan. Electricity will be the power utilized.—Hanover Post.

The Same Old Way.

Each day some man of science Proceeds to make us glad With some new scheme for putting Mosquitoes to the bad, But season after season We learn to our dismay That the "skeeter" he keep busy In the same old way

We warn the fools who fancy That "tips" they have are straight That betting on the races Is worse than bucking fate, But what care they for warnings? They go with spirits gay, And the bookie hooks their money In the same old way

We try to teach the lambkin To shun the bulls and bears; We warn him not to mingle Or mix in their affairs; But, thinking that he knows it, He goes with them to play And gets himself surrounded In the same old way.

Each day the busy doctors Announce some wondrous cure For some disease or trouble That mortals must endure; Contagion, plagues and fevers They knock out day by day, But the undertaker's busy In the same old way.
