THE trial of Mr. Stephenson here on Wednesday before Police Magistrate Telford for gambling on the fair grounds, Tuesday, occupied the whole afternoon. The prosecution failed to connect the defendant with the banker of the concern and as a result the case was dismissed. There should be some way to stop such practices at all public fairs and in all public places, and if the law is too technical to allow Magistrates to deal summarily with offenders, it should be amended in that direction. > "On some of the American lines of railways, passengers get a refund if they do not arrive at their destination on scheduled time. If that rule prevailed on the branch lines of the Grand Trunk a man could make good wages by going down to Palmerston and back every day." The above is from the Chesley Enterprise and sarcastically calls attention to the lateness of the trains on these Western lines of the G. T. R. It is time for a change. Why have a time-table at all if no pretence is made of keeping it. The 1:30 train on Tuesday came in at 4. There can be no excuse for such delays and it is time the great company that is asking the earth for its new G. T. P. line should exert itself to improve the existing service so as in some measure to keep faith with the public.

WESTERN Ontario seems to have been the storm centre last week. Such a miserable compound of wind, heat. ending in rain and hail, it would be hard to beat, and some of the local Fall Fairs suffered financially in consequence. The week before a severe snow blizzard extended through Manitoba, the Dacotas, Minnesota and other parts of the West causing considerable damage to standing grain and the suspension of all outside labor for some days. New York too, has had its windstorm, which wrecked many a craft in its sheltering harbor and caused consternation and loss even on land After all we have not much to complain of.
