Common Colds are the Cause of Many Serious Diseases.

Physicians who have gained a national reputation as analysts of the cause of various diseases, claim that if catching cold could be avoided a long list of dangerous ailments would never be heard of. Every one knows that pneumonia and consumption originate from a cold, and chronic catarrh, bronchitis, and all throat and lung trouble are aggravated and rendered more serious by each fresh attack. Do not risk your life or take chances when you have a cold Chamberlain's Cough Remedy will cure it before these diseases develop. This remedy contains no opium, morphine or other harmful drug and has thirty years of reputation back of it, gained by its cures under every condition. For sale at Parker's Drug Store.

Buessan.

On Friday evening of last week the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John Grasby gathered at the home previous to their removal to Wingham and as a token of esteem presented each with a beautiful chair. The address was read by Miss Mary Binnie, Mr. Grasby making a reply. Mr. George Binnie acted as chairman. The evening was agreeably spent, short ad dresses and songs being given, for which refreshments were served by the ladies. All present expressed regret at their leaving the community and wished them success in their new home.

Miss M. Keirney of Waudby visited for a few days recently at her aunt's Mrs. Britton.

Mr. Dave Brown had a very sick horse last week.

Mr. Archie Campbell of Durham, visited the McKinnon family last week.

A very successful party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Pennock of Rob Roy. The crowd was mostly young folks and everybody enjoyed themselves until the early hours of the morning when all departed for home. Mr. Bob Lennox of the 12th. con. was seen in our burg about a week or so ago. We are not aware of what his errand was but he wore the smile that won't come off.

BRONZE MEDALLION UNVEILED. Trinity College Pays Tribute to the Memory of Archibald Lappman.

A handsome bronze medallion of the late Archibald Lappman, M. A., the poet, who was a distinguished graduate of the college, was unveiled at Trinity College at the recent annual convocation service. The ceremony was performed by Prof. Pelham Edgar, of Toronto University, who paid a tribute to the gentle spirit of the great Canadian poet who had, he said, never been clamorous for public reputation, who wrote in no spirit of rivalry, but labored ever in the sense of duty, contented only with the approval of his own severe genius and the purpose of a discerning mind.

Source of Inspiration. Spiritual truth, moral strength and natural beauty were the unfailing source of his inspiration, and it is because he never wavered under the responsibilities which these great themes imposed upon him that his fame to-day rests upon so secure a foundation. His love of nature was more than a mere cult of beauty; it had in it something of the rapture of religion, and the conviction of a reasoned philosophy.

Commercialism and materialism, like twin monsters, batten and fatten upon our age, and a young country like our own lies almost defenceless in their path. What, then, do we owe to one who, like Lappman, in a material age held aloft and ever burning the torch of the spirit?

Religion and National Life. Rev. Dr. DuLac, of Chicago, preached an instructive sermon on the relationship of religion to national life. Universities, he asserted, required no apology for their existence; while Legislatures and Parliaments enacted laws, the universities moulded the mental and moral fibre of manhood that was to express those measures in terms of personality. Touching upon the relationship of the church to the nation, the preacher impressed upon the students the duty of carrying direct to the conscience of man the old question, "Will you renounce?" Therein lay the whole point of salvation. Prof. Clark, Rev. Wm. Jones, Dean Duckworth and Provost Street-Macklem also took part in the service. The Lord Bishop of Toronto presided at the convocation service.

Navigating Hudson Bay. Every newspaper from distant points in British North America that one picks up shows the development that is going on in all parts of Canada, a development that is very largely overlooked by the people of other parts.

She reports fair weather on Labrador, and since leaving here was right through Hudson Bay to the bottom of James Bay, where she landed stores at Revillon's post, and took on thirty packages of furs, having good weather though foggy at times. Apparently she was about to sail again forthwith for Ungava Bay, but had been detained by a disagreement between the crew and some of the officers. The point is that the ship was down to the southern end of James Bay late in September, and was about to start again for the southern end of Hudson Bay in October. No wonder the Western farmers are always looking for the day when they will ship out their crops by Hudson Bay, when the locomotive whistle will waken the echoes in the Nelson River Valley and when the conductor will shout "All aboard for Churchill; change cars for Albany and Moose Factory."

A Neglected King. Some Canadian papers are coming to the view that Canadians are not giving the apple fair play, and the statistics seem to indicate that the treatment of the "King of Fruits" is not commensurate with his worth. For instance, the apple crop has in recent good years averaged 17,500,000 barrels. We export 1,500,000 barrels and eat, say, 6,000,000, or a barrel apiece per year. Then there is a hiatus as to what becomes of the other ten million barrels. We have increased our trade in cheese, butter and bacon by looking after these commodities, and there is no reason why some of these wasted apples should not be so handled as to fill the demand in Europe and swell the income of Eastern Canadian farmers.

Our Indians Get $250,000. The United States Supreme Court has refused to allow the Seneca, Onondaga, Cayuga, and Tuscarora Indians to file a bill to restrain the carrying out of the judgment of the Court of Claims that 1,400 Oneida Indians who left New York and settled in Canada some 60 years ago should participate in the distribution of $2,115,000 appropriated by Congress last winter to pay for lands ceded to the Government in 1851 by the New York Indians. Under the decision the Canadian Indians will receive some $250,000.
