WE regret to learn that Sparling's saw mill at Welbeck was destroyed by fire on Saturday night last. The loss was evidently the work of an incendiary, as there was no fire about the place. The loss, including stock, will be about $3000 and it was not insured. A mill was burned some years ago in the same locality under similar circumstances.

AFTER carrying on her business for a number of years at the Garafaxa Street bridge Miss Cochrane has moved further south this week and is now opened out in the new brick shop recently erected and occupied by Mr. John Kinnee. We welcome Miss Cochrane to the civilized end of the town which, of course, is the end the Chronicle is at.

SOMETIMES people get very gay all at once. This was the case with Ed. Shea, of Markdale who appears to have been a little too slow for Norman Walpole, our lively man here. The gentleman in question traded horses some time ago and Shea thought he got the worst of the deal and entered criminal action against Walpole, but lost the case before a Judge in Owen Sound. Not satisfied with the result he next entered a civil suit for damages and again came out at the small end of the horn. Wonder what he'll do next? We don't like law and our opinion is that it is very foolish for a man to rush into it for a trifle.

A COMMUNICATION appears in this issue relating to the Fire By-law. While we like to see precaution taken against the erection of buildings that would endanger the town, we are pleased to assist in a thorough discussion of the question, and our columns are free to all who desire to give expression to their views. It may be that the fire limits are too extensive and that a change should be made. Speed in construction, as well as a little saving in the initial expense, are reasons for advocating frame structures. With present cost of timber and lumber and the absolute necessity for painting every year or two are also considerations to be figured on. If an iron-clad building fills the requirements of the By-law, the cost in this case is very little, if any, higher than lumber.

READERS will notice in the Kress Furniture Ad. that a Go-Cart is to be given away free to the baby born nearest to twelve o'clock on the morning of the 24th of May. If the gift comes our way it will be a bigger surprise than when we got the Silver Service in the subscription contest.

IF Rev. Newton can preach as well as he can work, his congregation must sit down to a spiritual feast every Sunday. During the week he is engaged in the erection of a new residence for himself, and the cement foundation is now completed and ready for the superstructure. Mr. Newton isn't ashamed to take off his coat and work, and somehow that's the kind of man we admire.

BACK in 1886 Campbell's Varnish Stains were originated and offered to housekeepers for restaining and finishing furniture and interior woodwork. The makers claim, and rightly too, that twenty years' experience making varnish stains enables them to make a better article than can be made by those new at the business. Ask for Campbell's Varnish Stains. Mr. A. Russell sells it.

MRS. JOHN MCGOWAN received sad news the early part of last week referring to the death of her sister, Mrs. J. D. Neelan, of Portage La Prairie. The date of death is not given, but from the wording of the letter one would infer that a telegram had been previously sent but did not reach its destination. The deceased, whose maiden name was Alice Gray, daughter of Wm. W. Gray, formerly of this town, was well known to many of our readers, who will regret to learn of her death. Anemia was the trouble and death occurred some time about the 10th inst., as the letter intimates that interment took place a day or so after that of Mrs. Anderson, nee Hattie Whitmore. Further particulars will be given later.

Two weeks ago we referred to a telegram announcing the death of Mrs. Anderson, nee Hattie Whitmore. Since then her sister, Mrs. Charles McArthur, has learned the particulars. The deceased woman was not feeling very well and her husband thought it would be well to send her off on a short holiday trip. She started accordingly for Fort William but took very ill on the train and got off at Fort Francis, where medical aid was procured. An operation was decided on and performed. It was said to be successful, but a hemorrhage followed and the poor woman soon bled to death. The remains were taken home to Oakville, Manitoba, where interment took place only a few days after she left on her trip east. This is the brief story as it was related to us. We sincerely sympathize with the sorrowing friends.

Presentation.

Several gathered at the Baptist parsonage on Wednesday evening of last week to bid farewell to their pastor, Rev. John McGregor, and Miss Hazel McGregor. The ladies had provided a dainty lunch and tea, Miss McGregor very fittingly replied to an address. Rev. Mr. McGregor also gave a short address suitable to the occasion. Music was given by several members of the choir. The following is a copy of the address presented to Miss McGregor: DEAR MISS MCGREGOR,—

It is the Easter season, when nature and men join in a song of thanksgiving for the hope which has been given to the world. Everywhere are tokens of rejoicing and promises of future good, and the sun which shines warmer day by day, the hint of spring which grows ever more pronounced, the songs of the birds which have returned to us again, the surety of the summer which will soon come, are taken by us as assurance of your future success and happiness, and the sting of parting is turned into submission to the will of Him who works only for our good. Parting with friends is one of earth's saddest experiences, and it comes to all of us whether the skies be dull or bright. We are glad that our parting with you and the members of your family comes at this season when everything speaks of hope and brightness, and we trust that the brightness will lighten your path of light until the end. While you have been among us you have filled a most delicate position in a manner which has won the admiration of all. You have set an example as a daughter and you have taken your place at the head of your father's home, and as the lady in the congregation you have worked with untiring energy in the church, the choir, the Sunday School, the Young People's Society, and in every congregational undertaking, and we feel that all this must have fallen heavily on shoulders so young. But you have done it all uncomplainingly, cheerfully, bravely and successfully, and as a small token of your love and appreciation we desire you to accept this purse. May the years which come to you be full of golden opportunities for the golden deeds which your hands can do so well, and may your thoughts of the Parkhill friends you leave behind be as kindly as those which we will ever cherish of your life among us as a Baptist congregation and as a people.

Signed on behalf of the societies and congregation of the Baptist Church, Wm. Dickson, George Murch, Sr., Cornelius Schram and Milton Meggs.

OBITUARY.

MRS. WM. HERD.

Only four months ago we chronicled the death of Mr. Wm. Herd, of Bentinck, who died after a short illness from pneumonia. On Friday last he was followed by his wife who died at the age of 66 years, and was interred beside the remains of her husband in Hanover Cemetery on Sunday afternoon last. It will be remembered the deceased lady went to Dauphin last fall to be present with her daughter, Mrs. J. H. Willis, who was in the hospital suffering from typhoid. Before the daughter had fully recovered the aged lady took the disease and had to remain in the hospital for some weeks. Mr. Herd went West during her illness and both returned only a short time before his death.

The deceased lady was born in Cumberland, England, sixty-six years ago. In 1848 she came to this country at the age of 8 years. About forty-eight years ago she was married and came to Bentinck where she remained ever since. The union resulted in a family of twelve children, ten of whom still live, as follows:—George and Maggie on the homestead, Janet (Mrs. Smith) at Vernon, B. C., Mrs. Robt. Lindsay, Mrs. Archie Park and Mrs. Wm. McCulloch, Alexander and Robert, all in Bentinck, Mrs. John Willis at Dauphin, Man., and Mrs. Robert Barnes, of Cardillac, Michigan.

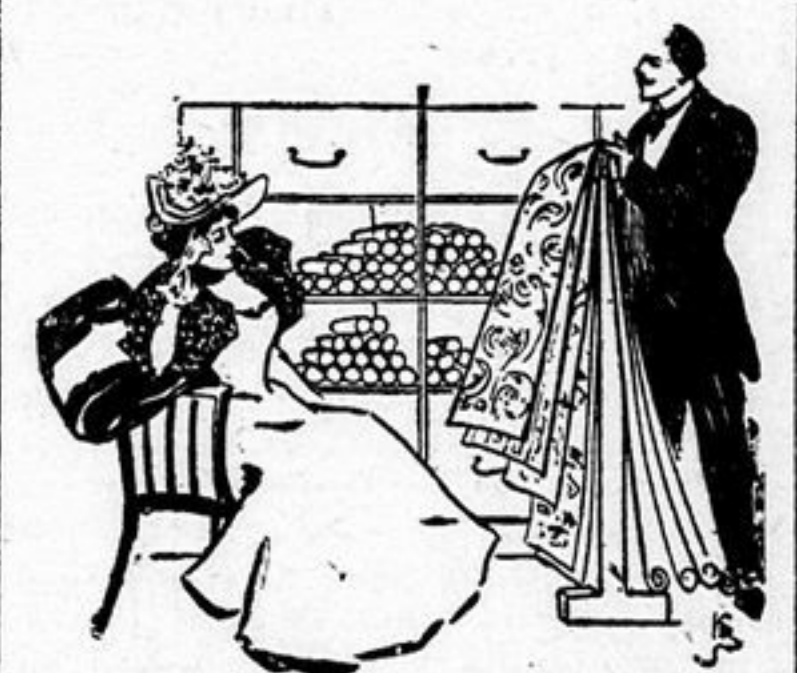

Mrs. Herd was a hardworking, industrious and honest woman, a very kind and obliging neighbor, and was highly respected in the community where she lived. It seems that she never fully recovered the attack of typhoid she was subjected to last fall, and her death was not wholly unexpected.
